HOUSE TAKES UP FOOD PROBLEM; EMBARGO ASKED

Eleven Measures Introduced in Congress to Reduce the Cost of Living.

BAN ON EXPORTS OPPOSED

Fitzgerald Would Forbid Shipments and Others Aim at Storage Houses.

WILSON HEARS LABOR MEN

Offers No Definite Remedy to Them, but Is Getting Reports of Government Agents.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Hardly had Congress convened today when the high cost of living loomed big as one of the paramount questions. Interest in the subject was shown by a flood of bills and resolutions in the House, all aimed to meet the situation created by the rise in the price of food. They provided for a variety of remedies ranging from Government control of food distribution to reduction of the parcel post rates on food shipments.

Meantime, President Wilson was being importuned by representatives of the American Federation of Labor to take a hand. A committee of five labor leaders, headed by Samuel Gompers, President of the federation, called at the White House and urged the President to appoint a committee to investigate the rise in food prices. They were told by the President that this method or any other method adopted by him would be futile. In his opinion, the only remedy lay in action by Congress.

Mr. Gompers and his associates were not bound to any one particular plan so long as their aim was accomplished, and they left the White House satisfied with the President's assurance that he was giving the matter of Congressional action his most earnest consideration.

Reports Made to President.

Reports being gathered by the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce are being laid before the President as fast as they are compiled, and on them he is expected to decide on any action which undoubtedly will be prefaced by a special address to Congress.

One report submitted today by Secretary Redfield, and held confidential as yet, is understood to show a wide margin between prices paid to producers and those paid by consumers. In a recent address the President virtually charged the middlemen with responsibility for the high cost of living.

The Administration has undertaken to investigate reports of combinations to control food prices with a view to prosecutions under the Federal anti-trust laws. By direction of the Attorney General the investigation has been intrusted to George W. Anderson, United States District Attorney at Boston. Beyond this, according to what the President told the labor leaders today, the Government cannot go unless Congress enacts legislation giving it greater authority than it has now.

There is no wide sentiment in Congress in favor of the embargo plan, and generally Senators and Representatives appear to have no definite ideas as to how the situation should be met. Some of them believe that conditions are due merely to prosperity, which has a tendency to increase both consumption and prices.

The various embargo bills offered were referred to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. Favorable action by this committee is doubtful. Chairman Adamson of Georgia announced he would oppose any sort of embargo.

"The only embargo law we ever passed," Mr. Adamson said, "was the most unpopular law ever enacted, save only the alien and sedition laws. That embargo law was repealed as soon as possible. It was a dead letter before it was repealed."

Eleven Measures in House.

Eleven bills and resolutions dealing with the high cost of living were introduced in the House. Four of these, by Representative John J. Fitzgerald of New York, provided:

That for one year there shall be an absolute embargo on exports of farm products or manufactured foodstuffs.

That the parcel post law shall be so amended that farm products not exceeding 150 pounds in weight may be shipped at the rate of 3 cents a pound for the first pound and 1 cent for each additional pound or fraction. These rates of postage shall apply without regard to existing zone restrictions.

That interstate shipment of foodstuffs, excepting butter, which have been stored longer than ten months shall be prohibited. All cold-stored articles of food are to be branded with full information showing how long they have been in cold storage.

That the President at any time within two years after the passage of the proposed law shall be empowered, "whenever in his opinion, because of excessive prices, the public interests shall so require, to prohibit by proclamation the exportation from the United States of all farm products, fish, game, and manufactured foodstuffs, or such of them as he shall specifically designate." The President may revoke such inhibition in his discretion; otherwise it shall continue for one year following the proclamation.

The embargo bills would provide for shipment of food to Americans abroad or to peoples made destitute by the war, pestilence or other extraordinary events.

Representative Fitzgerald contended that the high cost of foodstuffs was one of the most serious problems facing the country today and that "the people want action; they are tired of talk and investigations."

"The multiplying evidences of the widespread interest in the high cost of living makes me hopeful of success," Mr. Fitzgerald said. "The enactment of either of the embargo bills and the bills to regulate cold storage and extend the parcel post will bring immediate relief to the country."

A bill introduced by Representative Sabath of Illinois would require cold storage warehouses to file annual reports with the Department of Agricul-

$500,000 Standard Oil Cargo Destroyed by a Submarine

The Standard Oil Company at 26 Broadway received word from Montreal yesterday that the British tank steamer Palacine had been torpedoed in the English Channel, near Havre, and her crew of twenty-seven men landed in England. The Palacine left New York Nov. 17 with a cargo of lubricating oil, valued by the Standard Oil Company at $500,000. She was in command of Captain G. Patterson.

The Palacine was a vessel of 3,280 tons gross, and was built in 1904 at Dumbarton for the Imperial Oil Company. She was 355 feet in length.

$600,000 TO COLUMBIA BY NAMELESS DONOR

Money Contributed to Build a Permanent Home for the School of Business.

BIGGEST DONATION OF KIND

Anonymous Donor Believed to be a Railroad Man, but President Butler Will Not Say.

The Trustees of Columbia University announced yesterday the receipt of a gift of $600,000, the largest anonymous offering ever made to the university, from a donor who has stipulated only that his name be not disclosed, and that his money be employed to erect a suitable home for the Columbia School of Business, which began its first year last September. Statements contained in a letter from this benefactor to President Nicholas Murray Butler of the university were accepted by many yesterday as indications that the philanthropist was an engineer, and probably a railroad official, but no one connected with the university would so much as confirm the truth of these deductions.

The regular meeting of the Trustees was held yesterday and, besides announcing other gifts to the amount of $11,625, the Trustees published their plans for the new School of Business. This is to cost approximately the whole amount of the gift, and to be located on the northeast corner of Broadway and 116th Street.

It is planned to have the new school building follow the general architecture of the School of Journalism, Kent Hall, and Hamilton, the three large structures which now occupy the other 116th Street corners, and it is hoped to have it ready by the Summer session of 1918.

In a letter to President Butler on last Nov. 13, the man who has made possible the erection of a suitable building for the School of Business, amplified the reasons, previously discussed in conversations with the President, that induced his gift. He wrote that for a third of a century he had sympathized with the college graduate who found himself frequently without financial resources and sought employment only to discover that his foundation "for a knowledge that may be utilized in the future" did not equip him at once with a "knowledge or skill that is marketable, or desired by employers.

"Scores of times, during the last third of a century, have I had young engineers, fresh from college, apply to me for employment, and almost invariably they have stated that the amount of the salary was a secondary consideration—that their desire was to get employment with our company, where they would have prospects of eventually reaching the position of manager of one of our properties. I generally asked them if they had a knowledge of accounting. Almost invariably they had not. I would advise them to take a six months' course in a commercial school and then again make application for employment.

"Please do not get the impression that I underrate the value of technical knowledge; on the contrary, I do not believe that any man can be as valuable in the conduct of any business without a knowledge of chemistry (and some other branches of the sciences to a less degree) as he could be with such knowledge. Presidents of trunk line railroads without a knowledge of chemistry and civil engineering labor under great disadvantage. But without a knowledge of accounting they would never have attained to the position."

Next to this $600,000 gift, the largest ever received anonymously, was a fund of $500,000 given some years ago for the erection of Hamilton Hall, the home of Columbia College. The secret was kept until the death of the donor, when it became known that the money had been given by John Stewart Kennedy.

TO BOYCOTT PEACE MOVE.

Home Secretary Requests M. P. to Ignore Conference at Merthyr.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Home Secretary has written to B. Stanton, M. P. for Merthyr-Tydfil, asking him to urge his supporters to ignore the conference which the organization calling itself the National Counsel for Civil Liberties proposes to hold at Merthyr.

The Home Secretary says he is unwilling to suppress the meetings. "The right of free speech and free criticism of the Government of the day is of great importance even in time of war, and because I do not want the world to be misled into thinking there is a pacifist movement in this country of so formidable a nature the Government finds it necessary to suppress it."

The Home Secretary points out the possibility of the patriotic people of Merthyr taking violent action to suppress the meetings. Therefore he asks Stanton to use his influence to prevent an outbreak by inducing his supporters to ignore the conference, thus depriving it of the advertisement which disturbances alone would give. Stanton has agreed to the request.

TANZER SISTERS SAY WAX IS NOT OLIVER OSBORNE

But Government Is Sure and Will Prosecute James W. Osborne's Accusers.

PRISONER ON HIS WAY HERE

Arrest in Chicago Ends Pursuit Through 20 States—Woman Gave the Final Clue.

RAE TANZER OUT OF TOWN

Police Say Long-Sought Fugitive Had Prison Record—Duped Many Women.

"If I get ten years in prison for it, I am going into court and swear that the man known as Charles M. Wax, now under arrest in Chicago, is not the Oliver Osborne who met my sister Rae and won her affections!" shouted Rose Tanzer, a sister of Rae Tanzer, last night at her home in the Bronx when she saw a picture of the self-confessed Oliver. Her sister Dora also said that she was positive that Wax was not Oliver Osborne.

Both said that notwithstanding the arrest and the telegraphed confession of the Chicago prisoner they were positive that no mistake had been made when Rae brought her suit against James W. Osborne, former Assistant District Attorney. "And what we say goes for Rae as well," Dora added. She said that Rae Tanzer was out of town.

Will Identify the Prisoner.

United States District Attorney Marshall said that the Government would make an immediate investigation to prove the truth or falsity of every statement Wax has made. Those who will be called to identify him as Oliver Osborne will be women he is said to have duped, Rae Tanzer and her sisters; Franklin Safford, the Plainfield hotel clerk; James W. Osborne, the Slades, and others who have figured in the case.

It was announced for the first time yesterday that James W. Osborne deposited the $1,000 reward with the Department of Justice, offered for the arrest of Oliver Osborne. Mr. Osborne was delighted with the new development in the long drawn-out case.

"The prisoner must be the right man," he said. "His story shows more than a newspaper familiarity with the case. I have seen his picture, and, to my mind, there is no doubt that the officials have the right man. I can't begin to tell you how glad I am that things have turned out this way. Now I believe the full truth will come out."

Another who shared Mr. Osborne's elation was Harold Spielberg of 346 Broadway. For a time he was Rae Tanzer's lawyer, and it was he who got her to confess that in the identification of James W. Osborne as Oliver Osborne she had made an "honest mistake." Later she recanted, and at her trial for perjury Spielberg was under fire, it having been intimated that he had forced her to make the confession.

Traced in Twenty States.

The search for the missing Oliver Osborne was handicapped until a few weeks ago because the Federal authorities could find no authentic picture of him. They obtained the needed photographs through the activity of Mrs. Kayser, mother of Helen Rose Kayser, who once knew Oliver. Last Summer in a boarding house at Lackawaxen, Penn., she heard several young women singing songs that were favorites with her daughter's rejected suitor. Her suspicions were aroused and she made inquiries, becoming convinced that Oliver under a different name had spent the Summer of 1913 there. She heard also of photographs and notified the Federal authorities. These photographs were obtained and they were used in the circulars, 75,000 of which were sent out to Postmasters and to department stores throughout the United States.

From Lackawaxen Government agents traced the missing man through twenty States. They lost the trail, but it was picked up by John Niles, a Post Office Inspector at Wausau, Wis. Under different names it was found Oliver, or Wax, had gone to San Francisco, to Seattle, and then East again. The agents by this time had pretty clearly established the identity of Wax. They found he was 36 years old, and was born in Gloversville, N. Y., where his mother and a sister now reside. He was a plumber and not a physician as he had alleged. He had joined the army and had seen service in the Philippines. Seven years ago he left home and since then his relatives had not heard from him. The agents found, however, that he corresponded with a Gloversville girl. Then the trail led to Chicago, where he was arrested.

Rae Tanzer is now awaiting retrial for perjury, the jury in the first trial having disagreed. She is also under indictment for using the mails to defraud James W. Osborne. David and Maxwell Slade, her lawyers, and their detective, Albert J. McCullough, are charged with obstructing justice, and Rae's sisters, Rose and Dora, have been indicted for perjury. Franklin D. Safford, the clerk at the Kensington Hotel, at Plainfield, N. J., is also awaiting retrial for perjury in swearing that James W. Osborne passed a Sunday afternoon with Miss Tanzer at the hotel. Mr. Marshall said the charges against all of them would now be prosecuted vigorously.

START EAST WITH "OLIVER."

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Charles M. Wax, who has confessed that he is the Oliver Osborne who won the affections of Rae Tanzer, left here for New York at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon in the custody of Post Office Inspector W. G. Swain. He was taken East on a warrant under the name of C. B. Raymond, one of his aliases, and he waived extradition.

The police say that Wax has served two penitentiary sentences, one at San Quentin, Cal., and one at Salem, Ore., both for swindling women.

200 Reported Killed in Riot Over Belgian Deportations

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Two Belgians who have arrived at Sluiskill, Holland, from Ghent report that there was a revolt in Antwerp on Nov. 30, in which between two and three hundred inhabitants and many German soldiers are said to have been killed, according to a Reuter Amsterdam dispatch today, quoting a Sluiskill correspondent.

The reported revolt was due to a call upon the inhabitants for work in Germany.

VAN DYKE RESIGNS AS ENVOY AT HAGUE

American Diplomat to be Succeeded by Garrett, Ex-Minister to Argentina.

NO POLITICS IN IT, HE SAYS

United States Representatives in Colombia and Siam Also Give Up Posts.

THE HAGUE, Dec. 4, (via London.)—Dr. Henry van Dyke allowed it to become known today that he had resigned as American Minister to the Netherlands. His reasons are purely personal and because he desires to resume his literary work unhampered.

Dr. van Dyke informed The Associated Press correspondent that his resignation was presented early in September, but President Wilson expressed reluctance to accept it and asked how long the Minister would consent to remain at his post. Dr. van Dyke replied that he desired to consult the President's convenience, and that he was willing to stay until early in 1917 or until after his successor was chosen and confirmed. Dr. van Dyke added:

"I purposely kept the matter of my resignation quiet during the electoral campaign because I did not wish any political significance to be given to it. It has none.

"The main reason was my wish to return to work as a writer, with full freedom to say what I think and feel."

Dr. van Dyke leaves many personal friends here, and his departure, the date of which is still undetermined, will be generally regretted in diplomatic circles at The Hague. Mrs. van Dyke and her daughters already are at the van Dyke home in Princeton.

President Wilson appointed Dr. van Dyke Minister to the Netherlands in June of 1913. Before that time he was for years Professor of English Literature at Princeton University. During his term of service at The Hague Dr. van Dyke tooy a prominent part in relief work for Americans stranded in Europe and in connection with Red Cross work, and the late Emperor Francis Joseph conferred on him the Red Cross Medal of Merit.

Last year he appealed to the Washington Government against German interference with his duties in Luxemburg, to which country he is also the accredited American representative, and the German Government sent to Washington an expression of its regrets.

GARRETT LONG A DIPLOMAT.

First Served at The Hague and Has Been in Paris During the War.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—No explanation of the resignation of Dr. van Dyke, American Minister at The Hague, was obtainable in official circles tonight beyond the fact that personal reasons were responsible. It was said that when he was in Washington last February Dr. van Dyke had indicated a desire to resign for personal reasons.

John W. Garrett of Baltimore, former Minister to Argentina, and who has been serving the State Department in a special capacity at Paris since the outbreak of the European war, has been chosen to succeed Dr. van Dyke. Mr. Garrett is a Republican. He is a friend of President Wilson. The Dutch Government is being sounded to ascertain whether he is acceptable. Mr. Garrett has been connected with the American diplomatic service and the State Department in various important capacities for the past fifteen years. He was originally appointed Secretary of Legation at The Hague in 1901.

Two other members of the American diplomatic service have tendered their resignations to the President. They are Thaddeus Austin Thompson of Texas, Minister to Colombia, to which post he was appointed on June 10, 1913, and William Harrison Hornibrook of Oregon, Minister to Siam, to which place he was appointed Feb. 12, 1915. Neither resignation has been accepted.

Mr. Garrett, who is to become the new American Minister to the Netherlands and Luxemburg, is a brother of Robert Garrett, the Baltimore banker.

BERLIN MAKES REPLY ON ARABIA SINKING

Communication Asks for Further Information as in the Case of the Marina.

BERLIN, Dec. 4, (via London.)—Germany's interim reply to the United States Government's note concerning the sinking of the British steamer Arabia by a submarine was transmitted to the American Embassy today. The reply is similar to that concerning the sinking of the British steamer Marina, requesting further information in order to determine the character of the Arabia.

Germany's replies to other American notes, except the inquiry concerning the former American-Hawaiian Steamship Company steamer Columbia, which was sunk off Cape Ortegal in the middle of November, probably will be transmitted to Washington soon.

ASQUITH GETS TIME TO REBUILD CABINET WITH A NEW WAR COUNCIL; ALLIES ISSUE A PLEA FOR BELGIUM

RELIEF WORK MENACED

Neutrals Warned That Germans Intend to "Tear Up Every Guarantee."

SEIZURE OF FOOD SUPPLY

British Government Says It Will Be Used "to Support Germany's Failing Strength."

DENOUNCES "SLAVE RAIDS"

Charges That "Man Hunts" Follow Unemployment Which Invaders Deliberately Created.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The British Government, in conjunction with Great Britain's allies, has issued a "declaration regarding the present state of Belgium," in which protest is made to the civilized world against the "slave raids" conducted by the German authorities in Belgium, and a warning is given to the world that "the work of relief which neutrals have built up is in danger of falling."

The document, after reciting the assistance the Entente Allies have given in the past in the work of relief in Belgium, says:

"The Allies stipulated that the Germans should equally draw no advantage from the operations of the neutral commission; that they should not seize imported or native supplies, and that the distribution of relief should not be used for the purpose of coercing Belgian workmen against their consciences. These conditions, which the Germans were pledged to obey, have been frequently violated. But the infractions in the past have been disavowed by the German Government, and the Allies have been content to rely upon the neutral commission to watch and enforce the fulfillment of the conditions under which it worked.

"Now, however, the situation is changing. The Germans have abandoned all pretense of respecting personal freedom in Belgium. They have deliberately ordered the suspension of the public relief works supported by the commission and openly aimed at creating unemployment, which furnishes them an excuse for deportations. They have become themselves the organizers and co-operators in man hunts, which they pledged themselves by the Brussels Convention of 1890 to put down in Africa. The machinery of Belgian industry is now totally destroyed, and exports of Belgian foodstuffs have again begun on a large scale.

"The Allies must therefore warn the world of what is about to take place. The Central Empires, as their own situation grows more desperate, intend to tear up every guarantee on which the work of the Relief Commission rests. They intend to cast aside all their promises and use Belgian foodstuffs and Belgian labor to support their own failing strength. The work of relief which the neutrals have built up for two years is about to lose its foundation and is in danger of falling.

"The Allies do not intend to change their policy or desert the oppressed population of Belgium in this most critical moment of the war, but, as it will be impossible for the relief work to continue if its basic guarantees are destroyed, they appeal to the civilized world, not on their own behalf but on behalf of innocent civilians, who cannot protect themselves, to see that this great work of international benevolence and co-operation, which has grown up amidst the war and for which the Allies have advanced money, shall not be endangered by treachery or destroyed by violence.

"But they remind the world that the German policy, which stands revealed, is being carried out not only in Belgium but in North France, and all the occupied territories. The Allies pledge themselves not to seek in the future, any more than in the past, any advantage from the operations of this purely neutral commission.'

MERCIER TELLS BISSING EXILE MEANS RUIN

Condemns Deportation Policy as One of Cold Calculation and Destruction.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Documents received here give the text of the reply of General von Bissing, Governor General of Belgium, to Cardinal Mercier's letter of Oct. 19 and the Cardinal's rejoinder of Nov. 10.

General von Bissing's reply, dated Oct. 26, begins by denying any violation of the assurance the German commanders gave at the beginning of the war that no men would be removed from Belgium, declaring that such removals had been justified by "the clandestine emigration of large numbers of young men wishing to join the Belgian Army."

We're Not Winning War, Says Manchester Guardian, Adding, 'With Present Methods We Shall Never Win It'

LONDON, Dec. 4.—After suggesting that British voters should choose new rulers through a general election, The Manchester Guardian today, in commenting on the Cabinet crisis, sounds this note of warning:

"There are, in fact, two crises, for the crisis in the Ministry is but a reflection of the crisis in the war. The crisis in the war amounts to this: That the progress of events and succession of bitter experiences have at last brought home to the minds of most men the fact that we are not winning the war and the further conviction that, with the present methods of waging the war, we shall never win it.

ALLIES ACCUSE KING OF GREECE

Cecil Says Constantine and Cabinet Are Deeply Involved in Attack on Troops.

DRASTIC ACTION TO FOLLOW

Reports That Monarch Is Mobilizing Army to Co-operate with Germans in Macedonia.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—That energetic measures against King Constantine and his Government will be taken by the Allies at once, apart from the detention of Greek shipping in Entente ports, orders for which already are in effect, was announced today in the House of Commons by Lord Robert Cecil, War Trade Minister.

The situation in Greece, said Lord Robert, was one of extreme gravity. Despite formal and repeated assurances of the Greek King and Government that no disturbances would be permitted, a most treacherous and unprovoked attack was made on the Entente Allies' detachment landed by the French Admiral on Friday. Many casualties had resulted, but a full account had not yet been received.

The British Government, Lord Cecil said, considered the responsibility of the Greek King and Government to be deeply involved in this matter, and Great Britain was considering in conjunction with her allies immediate steps to secure a radical solution of the situation which had arisen.

Some circles have credited the Government with protecting the King because of his relation to members of the British and Russian royal houses. This suggestion was introduced into the debate by Arthur Lynch, Nationalist member for the West Division of Clare, who sarcastically asked Lord Robert: "Will the right honorable gentleman give the House assurance that no matter what occurs the dynasty will be preserved?" No answer was returned.

Special dispatches of the Athens correspondents filed on Sunday at Piraeus, where the Allies control the telegraph lines, represent that last week's fighting there was the result of "a deliberate trap, treacherously prepared by the King and the Government," 25,000 troops being disposed around the position which Vice Admiral du Fournet had previously notified the Greeek Government he would occupy. These troops then attacked the Allies, who numbered 3,000. The latter fought until their ammunition was exhausted and then yielded, except a detachment of 100, who tried to cut their way through. Only 30 of these escaped.

According to the same accounts, King Constantine is quietly mobilizing and preparing for war against the Allies, intending to co-operate with a section of Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces, which is expected at the Monastir front, by attacking General Sarrail's flank.

The following semi-official statement, however, was forwarded by Reuter's correspondent at Athens yesterday afternoon:

"Last night was perfectly quiet. No incident occurred. Today the city is resuming its normal aspect.

"By order of the commander of the garrison of Athens, all civilians and soldiers off duty are being disarmed. The departure of the French detachment from the capital is following the consent of the Hellenic Government to hand over six batteries to Vice Admiral du Fournet. A committee of Greek and French officers is investigating the reasons why Greek troops came to blows with the Allies, despite direct orders to the contrary."

The feeling against Constantine, which had been growing with the belief that he was doing everything possible to embarrass the Allies, is now running high. The Greek Minister at London and the Greek Consuls at London and Manchester have followed the example of the Greek Minister at Paris and resigned, stating that they were unable further to identify themselves with the King's policy.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—A dispatch to the Temps from Athens dated Monday says:

"The city has become calm, but armed bands of reservists are still moving about the streets. King Constantine and the members of the royal family are at the palace."

At the Greek Church in Paris yesterday the minister, while praying for the King and Queen and the royal family of Greece, was interrupted by murmurs of protest from members of the congregation. The murmurs were quieted by influential members of the Greek colony.

After the service a deputation demanded that the minister henceforth omit prayers for the King. The minister promised to refer the matter to the Greek Legation, which owns the church.

TEUTON CANNON SHELL BUCHAREST

Mackensen Reported in Supreme Command of Armies Closing on the Capital.

8,000 MEN, 35 GUNS TAKEN

Danube Army, After Temporary Check, Receives Reinforcements, Sweeps On Again.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—A Copenhagen dispatch says that, according to the Berlin correspondent of the National Tidende, German artillery, which is now emplaced only eleven miles from Bucharest, began yesterday to bombard the city.

All the Teutonic armies operating in Rumania have been incorporated under the command of Field Marshal von Mackensen, dispatches from Berlin to the Exchange Telegraph Company, forwarded by the way of Copenhagen, say. It is added that this was done to obtain unity of command.

A Berlin telegram received via Amsterdam says that Emperor William personally ordered that the church bells in Prussia and Alsace-Lorraine be rung today in celebration of the victory at the Argechu River.

Berlin Describes Battle's Progress.

BERLIN, Dec. 4, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—The War Office announced tonight that the fighting south and west of Bucharest is developing favorably to the Teutonic armies. Yesterday 8,000 man and 35 guns were captured. The text of the statement follows:

In the forest of the Carpathians yesterday Russian attacking activity was increased. At some places only were the Russians able to make feeble advances, and they were easily repulsed. Increased artillery fire seemed to mean that the Russian attacks were slackening.

Strong Russian pressure was still maintained on the Transylvania east front. In the Trotus Valley the enemy succeeded in making slight progress.

German and Austro-Hungarian troops further south recaptured their position on a height which recently they had lost.

Army Group of Field Marshal von Mackensen—Dec. 3 brought the battle at the Argechu River to a decision. The battle has been won.

The operation of the army of General of Infantry von Falkenhayn, which in the middle of November began with a victorious battle at Targu-Jiu, and those of the German-Bulgarian-Turkish forces, which gained the north bank of the Danube, were crowned with success.

The Danube army, fighting under command of General of Infantry Kosch, from Svistow, the army group of Lieut. Gen. Kuehne, advancing through Western Wallachia beyond Craiova, the group of Lieut. Gen. Krafft von Delmensingen, coming after hard engagements along the Argechu from the mountains, and the German and Austro-Hungarian forces breaking ahead under command of Lieut. Gen. von Worgen by way of Campulung have now joined hands between the Danube and the mountains.

The left wing yesterday captured Tergovistea. Troops of Lieut. Gen. Krafft von Delmensingen continued their victorious march from Piteshte and completely defeated the First Rumanian Army. They drove the remnants beyond the Titu junction of railroads from Bucharest to Campulung and Piteshte into the arms of the often-tested Forty-first Infantry Division, led by Lieut. Gen. Schmidt von Kubelsdorf.

On the west bank of the Argechu and northwest and west of Bucharest fighting continues, and we are successfully progressing.

Southwest of the fortress the Rumanians were repulsed across the River Niaslov, toward Argechu River. According to an order which had been found, they intended to defeat separately the Danube army, while the Rumanian north wing—the First Army—resisted.

South of Bucharest strong Rumanian and Russian attacks had to be repulsed. Here also a heavy defeat was inflicted on the enemy. Our cavalry succeeded in interrupting the railroad behind the Rumanian Army.

The conduct of our troops in the various engagements was beyond praise. They showed wonderful marching capacity. The rich country and the captured provision carts, which were filled, facilitated the victualling of our troops.

The Rumanian Army suffered the heaviest sanguinary losses. To the thousands of prisoners taken on preceding days more than 8,000 men were added yesterday. The booty seized, including war material of all kinds, was incalculable. The Danube army captured thirty-five cannon, and near Titu thirteen locomotives, with much rolling stock, fell into our hands. The operations continue as planned. New fighting is to be expected.

In Dobrudja there were no important engagements.

Say Russian Attacks Slacken.

VIENNA, Dec. 4, (via London.)—The official communication from Austrian Headquarters says:

Front of Field Marshal von Mackensen: The Danube has been opened. No approximately correct estimate is yet

CABINET'S POLICY TO STAND

Details of Changes Not Settled, the Premier Tells Commons.

DEBATE SET FOR THURSDAY

Asquith Balking at Proposal That He Stay Out of War Council or Be Only Titular Head.

PREMIER MAY YET RESIGN

Laborite Hits Lloyd-George, Saying if Labor Can't Strike, Statesmen Should Not.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, Dec. 5.—Reconstruction of the Government, but with no change of policy in regard to the war, is apparently to be the result of the present Cabinet crisis.

This was forecast in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Premier Asquith in a brief speech, simply announcing that King George had approved the proposal for reconstruction, and asking an adjournment. He refused to make any statement on the question of personnel until the process of reconstruction is completed, adding, parenthetically and in characteristic manner, "If it is."

The most frequent comment in the lobbies after the session was: "Asquith is not going to be rushed again." The House was willing enough to adjourn till Thursday; some members even wished to allow the Ministers till Monday next for settlement of the crisis.

In some cases this willingness was due to recollection of the delays which occurred when the Coalition Cabinet was formed. In others it was the outcome of a feeling that there had already been enough of "rushing processes," and that more haste, less speed, was a good maxim at this critical period in the national fortunes.

Among those who held the latter view it was the general impression that while Lloyd George had won the first game Asquith had scored the second, and that the odds were in favor of his winning the rubber.

War Council Make Up the Crux.

Any question of personal antagonism between the Prime Minister and the Secretary for War is ruled out of court, nor is there any disagreement as to policy in regard to the war. The point of chief difference between the views of the Premier and the Secretary for War is as to the composition of the War Council, and the extent to which it shall be responsible to the Cabinet.

The idea that Asquith himself should not be one of the War Council is repugnant to many members of the house. The case of Pitt and Newcastle, which has been cited, is regarded as an unfortunate parallel, not very far removed from an insult to Asquith, for while Lloyd George may prove to be as great a force for his country as Pitt was, there can be no comparison between Asquith and the hopelessly incapable Newcastle.

One suggested solution of this difficulty is that Asquith should be titular head of the war council and should preside over its sittings. Whenever there happened to be a difference in views on any particular point with two of the other members holding one view and the two others another view, Asquith would have the casting vote. Whenever there was a majority among the four ordinary members, Asquith's presence could be dispensed with, and in view of Lloyd George's powers of persuasion, it is held that this plan would give him that predominance in the War Council with which his supporters wish to have him invested.

In some quarters this proposal was regarded as in the nature of a compromise, and was attributed to quarters where the so-called Asquith love of compromise is held most in honor.

Rumor that Asquith Will Resign.

At a late hour last evening there were developments in the Cabinet crisis which gave rise to reports that Premier Asquith would resign today. The main difficulty is settling upon the chief place in the War Council. Lloyd George and Bonar Law jointly submitted proposals for a small War Council with executive powers, of which the Prime Minister would not be a member, but over whose decisions he would have the right of veto.

According to The Daily Chronicle, the situation last night was that the Prime Minister could not see his way to accept this proposal. He is altogether in favor of a small War Council, but holds that in virtue of his office he should be Chairman of that body. Unless he were Chairman of the War Council Mr. Asquith would be placed in a humiliating position and could not carry on the Government. Rather than consent to such a proposal, it was said, he would resign his office. It is understood that in this attitude the Prime Minister is supported by Viscount Grey and most of his principal colleagues in the Cabinet.

The Morning Post suggests that this proposal would make Mr. Asquith merely a titular Prime Minister, even hinting that it is not certain that he would have the right of entering a veto on any decision of the War Council.

Unless an agreement can be reached in regard to Mr. Asquith's powers in relation to the War Council, opinion in the House, according to the correspondents of both these papers, was that Mr. Asquith would have to go or Lloyd George and Bonar Law together would leave the Cabinet.

Other Unionist members of the Cabinet would follow Bonar Law into retirement, and the party system of Government would again come into existence.

The recent determination of the Irish Nationalist Party to oppose the Government might have to be revised in that case. Redmond's men pledge themselves to oppose coalition, but in case a Liberal Government were formed, the Nationalists would probably prefer to stand by Asquith rather than support an opposition in which Sir Edward Carson would necessarily be a leading figure.

With the recent defections from the Liberal ranks to the "ginger groups" taken into account the new Government would need all the Irish votes to maintain a majority. Its life would surely be a short one, and a general election on vaguely defined issues would be inevitable.

Despite the pessimistic rumors current late at night hopes were still cherished that the patriotism of Asquith, Lloyd George, and Bonar Law would find a means of averting a general election, which could only create disunion in the country at the gravest crisis in British history.

One tendency of the moment is to believe that the reconstruction will proceed along lines leading to the formation of a war council consisting of a strictly limited number of members, who will be acknowledged personalities and leaders in the present coalition, and will be invested with plenary powers in all matters concerning the prosecution of the war by the remaining members of the Cabinet. In this way there could be no question of the War Council decision being overruled or even debated by the general Cabinet. Another argument advanced in favor of this plan is that there would be no supersession of the Cabinet, as the war council would derive its authority directly from the Cabinet.

Lloyd George's scheme, as at present understood, is objected to as "a complete scrapping" of the system of Cabinet responsibility which has grown up since the days of Pitt.

Cabinet Assailed on Many Lines.

Dissatisfaction with the past and the need for a more vigorous prosecution of the war in the future have been advanced as the general grounds upon which Lloyd George's call for a small War Council has been founded. What are the specific and particular charges laid at the door of the Government? They are so many that it is difficult to enumerate them all.

Perhaps the first place in importance is assigned by the "ginger groups" to the question of man power. Rightly or wrongly, Lloyd George is represented by his most vehement supporters to regard this question as the first and most essential.

Then there is the Food Controller, delay in the appointment of whom is made a crime on the part of the Cabinet. Arising out of the threatened food stringency comes the submarine campaign and the failure of the Government to discover methods of combating the improved German U-boats. The Admiralty, it is charged, should have armed all merchantmen fore and aft and beam.

Apart altogether from such possible international complications as might arise with the United States by disregard of American regulations regarding the character of armament permissible for merchantmen for defensive purposes—that is, only at the stern—experts like Sir Cyprian Bridge and Arthur Pollen have pointed out that to have supplied guns and gun crews for thousands of British merchant vessels would have been an impossible task when other needs are considered.

Events in Greece and Rumania have also furnished material for attacks on the Government.

In regard to these matters, an impartial observer is fain to recognize that the experts, if not entirely partisans of the Government, are at least inclined to excuse or palliate its alleged misdoing. Take the question of man power. This is, speaking broadly, a dominating factor in the series of events that developed into the present crisis.

It is not only that more men, many more men, are demanded by the highest military authorities, that the munition works need an increased force, and that the naval requirements are not to be overlooked, but the representatives of agriculture, of shipbuilding, and of the industries that clothe and feed the army declare that they cannot be any further depleted and are asking for an even greater number of skilled men to be returned to them from military service.

Each of these conflicting claims has its fervent advocate in the inner councils of State, and the Prime Minister has for weeks been endeavoring, with the assistance of the Man Power Distribution Board, to find a way to harmonize them to national advantage.

The extreme difficulty and complexity of this task may be judged from the delay that has taken place in its being brought to a conclusion, but the delay evidently strained to the breaking point the patience of those specially responsible for the defense of the country.

In some well-informed political circles it is believed that Lloyd George's decision Friday to force a crisis was due to his dissatisfaction with the attitude the Cabinet was preparing to take during the debate on this subject which it had been arranged to take. It may be assumed that McKenna, Chancellor of the Exchequer, would have taken a diametrically opposite position to Lloyd George's.

The Manchester Guardian points out that the general effect of the attitude of the Federal Reserve Board of the United States in regard to Treasury bills on the American market must be to make borrowing by Great Britain in the United States more difficult.

The Guardian remarks:

"That means that we must increase our own production so as to be less dependent on America. Once again, therefore, we are brought face to face with the question, how can we drain the labor force of industry into the Army and yet sustain the economic burden of the war? The necessity of establishing a balance between military and industrial needs becomes more insistent daily."

Some of Asquith's adherents hold that he has thus far been his country's greatest asset because he has been able to strike a balance in not only this question but also in several others where men of greater push and go but with less comprehensive views might have gained pawns, but lost knights and castles in the game of war chess.

Denounces Attacks on Asquith.

J. H. Thomas, M. P., who has just been elected Secretary of the National Union of Railway Men by an immense majority, followed Mr. Henderson's example last night by asserting that labor wanted the press intrigue and campaign against the Prime Minister stamped out. The people of this country, he said, were not going to find any one guilty until the evidence had been laid on the table and the case clearly proved. He was certain the people of the country would never agree to a dictatorship, and he was fed up with the press campaign of calumny and slander.

"If it is wrong for a worker to go on a strike, it is wrong for a statesman to go on a strike," he said. "I am not going to agree to one law being in operation for statesmen and another law for ordinary workmen. I should like to know the kind of impression—in fact, I do know it—that is created in the minds of the working classes when they read on Saturday and yesterday that, in the midst of a world war, when women are in mourning for husbands who have been killed, when mothers are mourning the loss of sons who are no more, and children are crying for fathers whom they will never again see. What is the impression created to find in the papers only one kind of news, that the Secretary of State for War was preparing to pack up and go on a strike?"

Talk of Many Cabinet Shifts.

The Chronicle's Parliamentary correspondent, giving the latest lobby gossip, says:

"It was originally intended to make only a few changes in the Cabinet. Change breeds change, and the alterations may prove more extensive than was anticipated at the outset.

"A strong effort is being made to unsaddle McKenna whose jealous guardianship of our finances has often brought him into conflict with the forwards. He is also blamed, very unjustly, for the action of the Federal Reserve Board of America in frowning with disapproval on the projected issue in the United States of the short-term British Treasury bills. The Federal Reserve Board's action is directed indiscriminately against the locking up of funds in the securities of Great Britain, France, and other belligerents.

"Mr. Runciman, in his desire to conserve our shipping resources, has, like McKenna, been opposed to new military adventures oversea, but his mastery of the shipping problem is such that nobody, in or out of Cabinet, desires to see him quit his present office. In fact, rumor last night was that he is to add to it the heavy responsibilities of food controller—a post that has been declined by six persons in succession.

"It is generally accepted that Balfour will shortly leave the Admiralty, though possibly not during the immediate reconstruction. Sir Edward Carson is talked of in Conservative circles as a possible successor of Balfour as First Lord.

"The new Labor member of the Cabinet will probably be George Barnes, who, if he joined the Government, might take Henderson's place as Minister of Pensions, Henderson continuing to hold the office of Labor Adviser and adding to its duties membership in the War Council.

"With regard to the composition of the War Council, it is stated that the Prime Minister, while ex-officio member at every meeting of this body, will have the power of veto over its decisions. It was generally accepted last evening in political circles that the members of the War Council would consist of Lloyd George, Bonar Law, Edward Carson, and Arthur Henderson.

"In order to have a free hand, Asquith invited and received the resignation of every member of the Cabinet. The subordinate Ministers, apparently, are not affected by the reconstruction. At any rate, no request to resign had reached them at the time of writing.

"A piquant rumor current in the lobbies yesterday was that Sir Edward Carson, if he joins the Government, may before many weeks go by bring forward a project for settlement of the Irish question on lines mutually satisfactory to the Ulstermen and the Nationalists."

War in East or West.

In the course of what is described as an authoritative statement, The Star says:

"Although the crisis on the surface is concerned with the strength and functions of the War Council, its real origins go far deeper and they have not yet been made clear. The question of the War Council is only a red herring, drawn across the trail.

"The very root of the crisis is the profound difference of opinion as to the higher strategy of the war between the western school and the eastern school. The westerners are in favor of concentrating all our man-power in France and forcing the Germans to fight out the war on this front. The main German masses are in France and in Flanders, and they are our true objective. If we smash that there, we win the war on all fronts. Our lines of communication with the western front are the shortest and most secure; they devour fewer ships and any transfer of men, munitions, and supplies from France to the eastern theatre of war would place an intolerable strain upon our depleted shipping.

"The eastern school are in favor of standing on the defensive in France and taking the offensive from Saloniki. They propose to send a huge army to Saloniki, anything from 500,000 to 1,000,000 men. The western school regard this as lunacy, as it would make demands upon our shipping which could not be met, and which would expose our ships to the ravages of German submarines. The result would be a rapid rise in food prices and an absolute certainty of disaster. They say the standing power of the Allies would be jeopardized and we would be playing the German game, which is to divert our forces from the west and to dissipate them in the east.

"It is really a battle between the west-enders and the east-enders, and Lloyd George, as the morning papers state, has been demanding a big offensive from Saloniki."

NO NEW POLICY, SAYS ASQUITH

Political Circles Think the Coalition Is Saved Again.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Tuesday, Dec. 5.—A crowded House yesterday attested the profound interest of the members in the new Cabinet crisis. Lloyd George was not present, but all the other prominent figures put in an appearance and were cheered by their adherents as they entered the Chamber. Bonar Law, Secretary for the Colonies, occupied his seat next to the Premier, and the two chatted cheerfully while Mr. Asquith awaited the opportunity to make his expected announcement.

This came when a question was asked in regard to the appointment of a food dictator. Mr. Asquith said that no one had been appointed, and he then made the suggestion that such questions be postponed until the reconstruction, already approved by the King, was consummated.

The Premier then asked that the House adjourn after the day's business until Thursday. When members suggested a longer adjournment, on the ground that it was not certain the Premier would make a definite announcement on that day and that the House should have an opportunity to discuss the new situation, Mr. Asquith said:

"I desire to make it perfectly plain to the House and to the country that whatever reconstruction of the Cabinet takes place it involves no departure in any shape from the policy already announced and pursued since the beginning of the war. If any one encourages or entertains the idea that there is any question of a change of policy, I can assure them they are entirely mistaken."

The Ministers, the Premier added, would continue to perform their duties.

A previous statement, made by Sir James Henry Dalziel, that the resignations of all the Ministers had been handed to the Premier had not been denied. This was taken as an indication at the moment that details of the reconstruction had not yet been agreed upon and that further negotiations were necessary.

The motion to adjourn until Thursday was then carried, the Nationalists alone protesting. The first business of the House on that date will be the vote of credit, which will give the members an opportunity to discuss any topic they may raise. The new credit will be for $2,000,000,000, which will make the total for 1916 $8,750,000,000.

SEVEN MORE SHIPS SUNK.

One of the Vessels Carried a Big War Cargo from This Port.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Lloyd's Shipping Agency announced the sinking of the British steamer King Bleddyn, the Danish steamer Yrsa of 441 tons, and the British schooners Grace and Seeker.

The shipping agency also announced that the British steamer Eggesford, which was reported sunk by a submarine on Dec. 2, has been picked up at sea and brought to Brest by a Government tug.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Reports received from Bordeaux, Toulon, and Brest say the following vessels have been sunk by submarines: The Norwegian steamer Bossi, the British steamer Moeraki, and the French sailing ship Robinson. All the crews were saved.

The King Bleddyn, of 4,387 tons gross, sailed from New York for Havre on Nov. 16. She was under charter to the French Line and carried a cargo of automobiles, copper, steel, &c. So far as is known here, no Americans were among her crew.

DIM CANADIAN SHIP LIGHTS.

New Regulations Due to Apprehension of U-Boat Operations.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 4.—The Dominion Naval Department has ordered all vessels in Canadian waters to carry only such lights as are absolutely indispensable to safe navigation, it was announced today. The regulations apply to shipping on the Atlantic Coast and up the St. Lawrence as far as Quebec. Unofficially it was said that the precautions were due to the reported possibility of German submarine operations on the Atlantic coast. No vessel is permitted to display any lights except those required for the prevention of collisions, or for authorized signaling purposes.

The order which again placed this city in comparative darkness a few days ago stated that "a real emergency does exist."

The War Situation

BY THE MILITARY EXPERT OF THE NEW YORK TIMES.

The great battle for the control of the Argechu River still continues. Reports of the fighting are none too definite, but it seems that the upper part of the river has been crossed by the Teutonic troops, while the lower part is just beginning to be reached. Sunday's fighting on the lower Argechu indicated that the Rumanians had interposed a temporary check on the Teutons and had halted them west of the river, where energetic counterattacks had succeeded in taking a number of guns. The attacking Rumanians were, however, driven back and finally had to seek refuge on the eastern bank of the stream.

The Teutons have, therefore, reached, apparently, all the lower stretches, as is indicated by the capture of the village of Gradichtea, on the western bank of the lower Argechu, about twelve miles from Bucharest. This will bring Bucharest under the fire of the larger of the Teuton cannon. Whether these cannon have as yet been brought up is a question. It is doubtful whether they have, as the lower stretches of the Danube tributaries form difficult barriers to the passage of heavy artillery and in addition, the rate of advance has been such that it is hardly possible that the heavier artillery could keep pace. When it does arrive, however, there is no doubt that Bucharest will be well within range.

The northern half of the Argechu appears to be in Teuton hands. The Petrograd report states that the retreat from Piteshti eastward continues under unremitting pressure. This cannot but mean that the Rumanians have been forced to abandon the river line in the north and have had to seek other defensive positions. This move was made necessary by the shape of the line, to which reference was made in yesterday's review. The pressure from the north threatened not only to flank the Rumanian line, but, if successful in making a break in that line, to capture a great part of the Rumanian Army which held the stretch of territory west of Ploesci. Ploesci was along the base line of the great salient. As the Teutons pushed south all the Rumanian forces along the upper Argechu were affected by the threat.

The fall of Bucharest is, of course, unavoidable as matters are shaping. Indeed, it is doubtful if, once the city comes directly under the German guns so that a bombardment would mean its destruction, the Rumanians will defend it. The fall of a nation's capital is a most serious matter. It is less serious, however, if the nation involved is such that it forms but a subsidiary field of operations. In any event, it is often the case that the importance is more from the political viewpoint than the military. That is the case here. And here, even the political character of the fall of Bucharest would be minimized by the fact that the conflagration is so general in character. There is really no other people in Europe to be politically affected. It is therefore entirely proper to ignore political theories and confine ourselves merely to the military features involved.

The Russian offensive against the Rumanian Carpathian front is still in progress and is going forward with doubtful success. The main effort is being exerted along the Trotus valley, where the Trotus River flows through Gyimes Pass. A brief study of the railroad map in this vicinity will show why this point was selected by the Russians as the scene of their attempt to relieve the Rumanian situation. Following the Trotus valley we find a large railway, a branch of the Czernowitz-Bucharest road. This branch passes through Gyimes Pass, and on leaving the frontier and passing into Transylvania, turns to the southwest until it taps the road running north and south along the Alt valley. This latter road parallels the western Rumanian frontier at a distance of about fifteen miles from it. The immediate objective of the Russian attack is the village of Cik-Sereda, which is close to this junction.

The value of this north and south road is that it is really an extension of the Austrian line in the Galician Carpathians, and is one of the main roads which feed into Kronstadt. It is, moreover, the road on which the Teutonic forces which are defending the Eastern Transylvanian border depend for supplies. This dependence is not entire, but by far the greater part of their supplies must follow this line of distribution. If the main stem can be reached, and the Russians do not seem to be more than a few miles from it, the effect will be widespread, affecting a considerable portion of the front. If the entire line should fall into Russian hands, von Falkenhayn's army would be outflanked and in danger of a forced retirement.

It is certain that the very best the Russians have to give is being put into this movement. Their most efficient commander, Brusiloff, is in direct charge, with their best troops and all of the ammunition which can possibly be spared. The offense has been under way for several days, and but little reference has been made of the ground won. To what extent then it has really gained ground is not apparent. All that is apparent is that if the Rumanian situation is capable of salvation, this is the only thing which can save it. It can readily be seen that any movement which would open up Kronstadt to the Russians would set at nought the Teuton effort. It is not apparent, however, that the road to Kronstadt will be opened.

possible of the extraordinary rich booty captured. It increases hourly.

Front of Archduke Francis Joseph: Although the Russian attempts to create a diversion in favor of Rumania are not yet concluded, the diminishing yesterday of the Russian attacks showed that the exhausted and strongly reduced enemy urgently needed a pause in the battle.

Only on both sides of the Upper Trotus Valley did the Rusians continue their attacks with undiminished violence. At certain points they stormed as many as ten times, but, apart from unimportant fluctuations, they were everywhere repulsed.

SOFIA, Dec. 3, (via London, Dec. 4.)—The War Office today issued the following bulletin:

In the Dobrudja the Russians continue their desperate attacks on our left wing. After violent artillery, machine gun, and rifle fire lasting all day, the Russians at 6 o'clock in the evening made the seventh attack in the last two days. The enemy heavy artillery approached within 300 paces of our trenches, and the attack was most violent everywhere. South of Satiskeui the enemy advanced in close formation, and fighting was no less sanguinary on the remainder of the front, but everywhere the enemy was repulsed.

Three armored cars participated in the attack, of which two were destroyed by our artillery, and a third forced to retire. We took 132 prisoners. The Turks captured an armored car containing English soldiers, of whom two were officers.

On the Danube there was rifle firing. Artillery firing occurred at Tchernavoda and Oltina.

In Wallachia our advance continues. We took 200 prisoners.

Russia Admits Foe's Success.

PETROGRAD, Dec. 4.—The War Office announces that the Teutonic forces have occupied the village of Gradichtea, south of Bucharest. Obstinate fighting is proceeding between Alexandria and Bucharest. The text of the statement is appended:

In the wooded Carpathians battles for individual heights continue. One of our detachments after artillery preparation captured a height three versts south of Jablonitza (on the Bialy-Cheremosh River, thirty-five miles south of Kolomea.)

Rumanian Front.—North of the Trotus the enemy persistently attacked our detachments on freshly occupied heights. Two of these attacks were arrested by us. South of the Trotus obstinate fighting continues, the enemy stubbornly resisting.

In the Oituz Valley the Rumanians repulsed enemy attacks.

In the Piteshti-Tergovistea region the Rumanians under uninterrupted enemy pressure are retiring.

In the region between Alexandria and Bucharest and to the south thereof obstinate fighting is still proceeding. The enemy, who here had been forced to adopt the defensive and retire, received reinforcements and launched an attack. He succeeded in occupying the village of Gradichtea, south of Bucharest. Rumanian troops which attempted to attack the enemy in the rear were themselves attacked and compelled to retire.

On the Danube front rifle firing is proceeding.

In Dobrudja attempts of the enemy to attack were arrested by our artillery and rifle firing.

FALKENHAYN REAR MENACED.

Russians Breaking Into Transylvania Northeast of Kronstadt.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The astonishing facility with which the Danube was crossed by the German army between Sistova and Zimnitza, says the Petrograd correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, is to be explained, like most German successes since the beginning of the war, by technical superiority. He continues:

"Powerful long-range batteries were established at many points on the right bank and on several islands and these prevented Russian and Rumanian gunboats navigating the river. At the same time other long-range batteries crushed or drove back the Rumanian batteries, which, on the left bank, had tried in vain to defeat the German attacks. Then Austrian monitors, having nothing to fear from the Russian and Rumanian boats, interfered and protected that operation which in one jump brought the enemy to the vicinity of Bucharest.

"While these momentous events are occurring in the south the Russian army has not remained idle. With strenuous efforts in mountainous countries where railways are scarce and roads deluged by Autumn rains, Russia has extended her front southward about 130 miles—an operation successfully achieved now, but one which if dense fogs had not fortunately shrouded it might have proved singularly risky. The risk was the greater because it was temporarily necessary to thin some parts of the front while complements were being brought from the rear to restore the lines.

"At the present time Brusiloff's most southern armies not only cover Moldavia, but their offensive movements may threaten the left flank and rear of Falkenhayn. The place where Brusiloff's new operation draws nearer to the Wallachian front, and therefore may still have there a rescuing effect, is between the Moldavian town of Okna and the station of Cik-Sereda in the Alps, where the railway crosses and turns south to Kronstadt. There excellent work has already been done. It was the news of Russian success in that vicinity which in the near neighborhood encouraged the Rumanian right wing in the valley.

"The Russians on the great road from Okna to Cik-Sereda, attacking with resolution, drove back the Teutons, and, after sanguinary struggles reached the valley of the river Trotus just at the time when German pioneers were prepared to blow up the railway bridge. Here the brave Russian Second Lieutenant Kotinoukine, with a comparatively small number of men, rushing through a narrow pathway in the mountains, came unexpectedly in the rear of those pioneers, captured them, and prevented the explosion that would have destroyed the bridge. That Russian success threatening at Cik-Sereda the railway line which goes from north to south toward Kronstadt, was of great importance, because that railway undoubtedly is one of the main lines of communication of Falkenhayn.

"The other centre of the Russian offensive is much more northward on the line of the fortified passes of Kirlibaba, Jakobeni, Dorna-Watra, and along the Golden Bystritza River. There the Russian rush was terrible, and almost everywhere the enemy was forced to take refuge on the second line of defense. The Russians stormed the town of Kirlibaba, in which the Teutons opposed most stubborn resistance. In all that mountainous district important results have already been obtained. The Russians already occupy summits which command the railway to Maramos-Sziget in Hungary, and also several roads leading to the town of Bonistritz."

RUMANIA WASN'T READY.

Germany Forced Her Hand—Short of Artillery, but Getting Some.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 4.—The Providence Journal will say tomorrow morning:

"A prominent official of the Jugoslavic propaganda, who reached this country from Prague, Bohemia, on Thursday last, has given to The Journal a complete statement with regard to the present Rumanian situation and the causes which have led up to the victorious movement of the German forces in that country. The statement is as follows:

"'Since my arrival in the United States I have been greatly surprised at the absolute lack of knowledge concerning the facts which have led up to the present unfortunate situation in Rumania. From the first day of Rumania's decision to cast in her lot with the Allies it has been positively known to the military leaders of Russia and England that the succeeding months must be more or less disastrous to the Rumanians and that it would be impossible for a time to stem the German advance into that country and to prevent the crossing of the Danube in the south.

"'Rumania was forced into the war by Germany and Austria. At the time she entered it the intention was not to have her make any decision until March, 1917, and it was as definitely agreed, so far as the Allies were concerned, that her declaration should not come until next Spring. German diplomats, however, realizing the conditions, and understanding the arrangements which were being rapidly perfected to provide the Rumanian Army with proper and necessary equipment for the present war, advised Berlin to act at once. The German ultimatum forced Rumania to take her stand at a time when 90 per cent. of her guns were of German and Austrian manufacture and her arsenals depended upon German and Austrian shells.

"'As a matter of fact, eight days after a state of war was declared between Rumania and Germany the former was facing an ammunition famine, and it was, of course, impossible to change this condition with ammunition from the Allies, whose shells would not fit the calibre of the guns with which the Rumanian Army was equipped.

"'The moment war was declared against Rumania over 300 heavy cannon were started from France for the use of the Rumanian Army. The immense distance to be traversed in the present necessarily roundabout journey has kept these guns from reaching the Rumanians until the present time. I know positively that within the last week they have received over seventy of these cannon, and I believe that this equipment will reach their rear in time to save Bucharest from capture. One hundred thousand Russian troops are now fighting with the Rumanians, and 300,000 additional Russian troops have been moving for ten days to outflank the northern wing of the German invasion.

"'The principal cause for hope, however, for the saving of Bucharest lies in the fact that at last the Rumanian forces are beginning to receive their proper equipment.'"

GREEKS FIRED AT ADMIRAL DU FOURNET

most tragic and terrible days in Balkan history. On that day Greeks shed the blood of sons of England and France, the two great benefactors and well-wishers of Hellenism. This morning the opening of direct communication between Piraeus and London enables me to tell in full the story of events of most of which I have been an eyewitness.

To begin with, it is necessary to state how the political situation stood on the eve of the shattering events of Friday. During the last interview between the King and Admiral du Fournet the latter told the monarch explicitly what positions the Allies intended to occupy. To that statement the King made no reply, and it was eventually arranged that no measures of force should be employed on either side. The French Admiral was at great pains to make that decision on his part particularly clear. The Admiral had the assurances of the King and Government that public order would not be disturbed. Such was the position Thursday morning.

Throughout that day reservists were called up by means of a sort of unofficial mobilization. Arms and uniforms were given to them, it being announced that this measure was to place the best-known reservists under military control, and so prevent disorder, in accordance with the promise of the King and Cabinet. At the same time, however, arms were secretly distributed to other reservists, who received no uniforms, and they, with their fellows who had long been in possession of arms and ammunition, played an important part in the tragedy here.

First Treacherous Move.

The first treacherous move was played during the night of Thursday. Strong forces moved out of the city, the impression being again conveyed to the populace that this measure was taken as a precaution and that the absence of troops from the city would prevent any collisions between the several forces. As a matter of fact, however, these forces were not moved away with that aim. They were sent deliberately to occupy those positions which the Admiral had informed the King the Allies would peacefully occupy. These positions were the heights overlooking the Stadium and Zappion grounds and the Zappion building extension, in which a detachment of French marines were already quartered.

Then came the Philipapus and Observatory hills near the Acropolis, and in addition small Greek forces occupied clusters of houses on both sides of the Singros road, leading from the city to Phaleron. Finally strong detachments took possession of the Rougos Barracks, away on the other side of the Athens-Piraeus Railway. Such were the Greek military dispositions early Friday morning.

The allied forces at Piraeus were slightly over 2,000 strong. They proceeded in three sections toward the positions mentioned. A small force of several hundred British sailors reached the Zappion building unmolested. It was the second force of French marines directed toward the Rougos Barracks which first came into armed contact with the Greeks. I have the story of this part of the affair from a Greek Colonel. Two detachments approached one another, each, my informant says, having most strict orders not to fire. However, a Greek officer lost his head, and some one fired. Both parties then sought shelter, and, the fire from the Greeks being returned, the first fighting of the day began. This little battle continued, according to information I have been able with difficulty to gather, for the greater part of the day, till the French force was withdrawn at night. Here it was the fighting began, and it was also where the last shot of the day was fired, and the losses probably amounted to a dozen on each side.

The most serious struggle, however, took place at the Zappion building, a vast hall designed for exhibitions, but now used as a military storehouse. What happened here makes it difficult to believe in the existence of anything but a military plot against the allied forces. When the firing began at Rougos Barracks Admiral du Fournet was at the Zappion building and without warning fire was opened from the heights. The Admiral was standing with a group of officers and men outside the building when a machine gun opened fire, and six of the group fell wounded. The Admiral had a very narrow escape and the position of the men there soon became very serious. The rifle and Maxim fire became heavier every minute and the French and British were forced to return the fire, one of their machine guns being mounted on the roof. Then the treachery was added to. Behind the building lie the gardens of the Royal Palace, and from there, too, rifles and machine guns opened. The fire continued heavily all day, the Greeks eventually using shrapnel from the heights above the Stadium.

Statue of Byron Blindfolded.

When I arrived there from Piraeus about 1 o'clock there was a lull in the fire and I was able to visit the spot. Two dead horses were lying in front of the building, which was heavily bespattered with bullets. Blood lay on the steps, a couple of hundred yards away from which is a statue of Byron, which some one with tragic appropriateness had blindfolded. It was impossible to stay there, for as the entrances were necessarily barred, bullets were singing round my ears and spluttering among the branches of the trees.

The third scene of the fighting was on Philipapus and Observatory Hills, near the towering Acropolis rock familiar to all who have visited the classic grounds where are the ruins of the greatness and glory that was Greece of old. The advancing force of the Allies found the Greeks on both heights in strong positions, and here, perhaps, the heaviest losses occurred. I had a good view of this part of the fighting from half way up the road from Phaleron, where my cabman deposited me on the roadside, refusing to go further.

For a long time the firing both from rifles and machine guns was incessant and ear-splitting, and it was not altogether a pleasant sensation to have bullets soaring above me and falling on the road and fields all around. A heavy fire was coming from both hills, not only against the allied forces at the foot, but against a cluster of houses several hundred yards away on my right. Shortly after 1 o'clock the Greeks on Philipapus Hill charged and took, as they were in greatly superior force, a number of French marines prisoners, the number being variously estimated at from 40 to 100.

In the afternoon the firing in all parts, though less severe, continued with little lull, and darkness fell with fighting still going on.

Between 6 and 7 the allied fleet opened fire from Keratsini Bay, sending thirty shells to the hills which the Greeks occupied. Four of these shells landed in the neighborhood of the royal palace, and one damaged the royal kitchens, part of it being taken while still hot to the King, with whom the Entente Ministers were then in conference. I believe this big gun persuasion had not a little to do with the conclusion of the three days' armistice with which, about 9 o'clock, the fighting came to an end.

The total allied losses are reported today to number 134 killed and wounded. It is impossible to state the Greek casualties, but they are understood to be heavy, especially among the officers.

Night of Terror and Anarchy.

The armistice came as a relief to the terrorized people of the city, and during the night the allied detachments were withdrawn to Piraeus. The Greek military party had won its triumph quite effectively. It was determined also to reap the political fruits of it. During a night of terror and complete anarchy shots could be heard from all parts of the town, and in the morning Athens presented the vision of a conquered city. Not a shop was open and all the houses were shuttered and barred. All the streets were guarded by soldiers, ready to fire whenever a head presented itself at a window, while into the houses of known Venizelists rifle fire was poured, the houses were entered and the inmates arrested.

Almost the first act of the Royalists was to take possession of the offices of the Liberal newspapers, prominent editors being arrested and taken to jail. The offices of the French news agency were also raided and arrests were made. Among the prominent persons arrested were M. Benakis, Mayor of Athens; M. Masabakis, chief official of the Ministry of the Interior, and the Venezelist General Korakas, who was escorted to prison with his wife and daughters. When the General asked to see the warrant the reply was: "We have no warrants today, and we are going to exterminate you all!"

Late in the afternoon an attack was made on Venizelos's house. It was fired upon and the inmates, twelve Cretans, were called upon to surrender. This, however, they refused to do, though four Maxims were firing on the house. Then a mountain gun was brought along and, seeing this, the Cretans came out and surrendered. Their hands and feet were bound and they were carried off to prison, armed civilians trying to lynch them. About 6 o'clock two Maxim guns were set up in Constitution Square and the upper stories were riddled, the noise of the firing creating a great panic in the chief hotels near by. By night practically all prominent Liberals were under lock and key.

This morning Athens is reported calm and shops are reopening.

Allied Victims Buried.

Here at Piraeus this afternoon the funeral of fifty-four British and French marines and soldiers killed in Friday's fighting took place. From the Russian Hospital to St. Denis Cemetery on the other side of the town the whole population was in the streets to watch the passing of the funeral vehicles, which were covered with French and British flags. Representatives of the Entente powers were present. As the procession passed the allied warships and transports, the crews and soldiers stood at attention.

The news this afternoon from Athens can only be characterized as decidedly bad. Reports of the taking of Castoria and Monastir are being spread to encourage the warlike feeling of the people, who are greatly delighted with their victory. Diplomacy makes little progress, and the mere fact that General Dousmanis is now back at his old post at the head of the General Staff is enough to demonstrate how meagre the chances of settlement are. It might almost be said that a state of war practically exists.

At the moment of telegraphing the allied Ministers are conferring with the Admiral. Greek patrols are still in the Piraeus streets. Large numbers of people, including foreigners, are fleeing from Athens. Rumors are current here that the next Greek move will be an advance on Piraeus.

Venizelists Hunted Down.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PIRAEUS, Dec. 3, night, (Dispatch to The London Daily Chronicle.)—After their victory of Friday the Greek military forces, aided by a large number of armed reservists, gave themselves over to hunting down Venizelists. Yesterday all day long the worst sort of anarchy prevailed. The man hunt began before it was light. The military were in complete possession of the city, every street being guarded and Maxim guns placed at numerous points.

The streets indeed presented a most extraordinary sight. The shops were all shut and the houses all shuttered by order. Some streets were paraded by regular soldiers, rifles in hand, ready to shoot at any window at which any person appeared. Reservists, too, were doing the same, many of them being in civilian clothes with cartridge belts and slouch hats.

Houses of Venizelists were raided and many prominent Liberals, with their hands tied, were marched through the streets to jail. Among them was M. Benakis, Mayor of Athens. Afterward, by royal order, he was allowed to go home and remain under guard. M. Kiros, editor of the Hestia, and Airiavandos, editor of the Nea Hellas, were also arrested. The offices of all Liberal newspapers were entered and their archives carried off. None of them, indeed, appeared that morning.

Early in the forenoon two hotels in Stadium Street were riddled with bullets because, it is stated, shots were fired from windows. A great armed crowd broke into the house which M. Venizelos once occupied and shortly afterward two Maxim guns were mounted in Constitution Square and for ten minutes were turned on the upper story of the Ilion Palace Hotel, from which, it is stated, shots had been fired. The walls and windows were completely riddled. The hotel was then entered and arrests were made.

By night practically all prominent Liberals were under lock and key and the besieged, panic-stricken population had quietness, if nothing more. This morning all is reported quiet in the city.

GERMANS FEEL FOR GREECE.

Allies' Policy Degradation and Thraldom, Dr. Zimmermann Says.

BERLIN, Dec. 4, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—The German Government does not consider that the Greek Government was at fault in connection with the expulsion from Greece of the diplomatic representatives of the Central Powers, the Reichstag was informed today by the Foreign Secretary, Dr. Alfred Zimmermann. The declaration of the Secretary, as given out by the Overseas News Agency, follows:

"On Nov. 25 the Greek Minister in Berlin," Dr. Zimmermann said, "expressed the regrets of the whole of Greece that the Ministers with whom Greece was living in friendship and peace were compelled to leave. The Greek Government was unable to resist the pressure of violence, and Greece herself also is suffering in the same fashion. The Greek Minister asked that Germany consider her plight.

"Dr. Zimmermann declared that not Greece, but her enemies, were responsible for the unheard of acts at Athens, and that the fundamental principles of relations among nations had been changed. The Entente could give no arguments for the expulsion of the Ministers other than guns. The frequent declarations that the Entente was defending the independence of small nations and upholding civilization and international law did not deter them. For the purpose of obtaining further assistance the Entente for a year has been pursuing a policy of degradation and thraldom which is unparalleled in history."

United States Will Not Interfere.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The United States Government will not actively intervene in behalf of the Greek Government on the basis of the communication received on Saturday from the Greek Foreign Office reciting the reasons that impelled the Greek Government to reject the demand of the Entente Allies for surrender of Greek arms. The communication will be acknowledged and filed, but it is not understood to be the intention of this Government to take the matter up with the Entente.

MERCIER TO BISSING: 'EXILE MEANS RUIN'

He adds: "The German authorities would have been quite justified in following the example of England and France, but they have not done so."

Contending that the employment of Belgian unemployed in Germany has nothing to do with the conduct of the war, but is purely a social and economic measure, General von Bissing says:

"Great Britain's merciless economic isolation of Germany bears equally on Belgium. It deprives her of raw materials and prevents the export of manufactures, and thus deals a vital blow, leaving masses of the people unemployed and bringing a state of public calamity to Belgium."

General von Bissing then declares that the Belgian people realized the state of affairs, and that tens of thousands of them have gone to Germany voluntarily, where they could get better pay. Others would follow, he says, but are deterred by influences systematically brought to bear on them. He concludes by inviting the Cardinal to study the situation from a social and economic viewpoint.

Replying on Nov. 10, Cardinal Mercier recalls the promise made by Baron von Huehne and subsequently confirmed by Baron von der Goltz, and says:

"The undertaking was explicit and entirely without time limit, that 'young people have nothing to fear that they may be sent to Germany, either to be enrolled in the army or employed at forced labor.' This engagement has been violated every day a thousand times for fifteen days."

In answer to General von Bissing's charge that England and France have done such things, Cardinal Mercier reminds him that he should look to those countries for revenge, not toward a peaceful and disarmed population. The Cardinal then denies that the Belgian workers menaced public order, saying: "Five million Belgians and some hundred Americans are wondering witnesses of the dignity and impeccable patience of our working classes."

Cardinal Mercier then says that if, as General von Bissing declares, such labor has nothing to do with the conduct of the war properly speaking, it has something to do with the war "improperly speaking."

"For," he continues, "even if a Belgian does not take up arms he releases the hands of a German workman, who will take them up."

The Cardinal's letter concludes as follows:

"M. le Gouverneur, at the beginning of my letter I recalled the noble words of your Excellency: 'I have come to Belgium to heal the wounds of your country.' If your Excellency could, as we priests do, enter the homes of the working people and hear the lamentations of the wives and mothers to whom your decree brings mourning and poverty, you would be better able to see yourself that the wounds of the Belgian people are open and bleeding.

"Two years ago they say there was death, there was pillage, there was burning. But it was war. Today it is no longer war. It is cold calculation, desired destruction, the domination of might over right, the humiliation of man in defiance of humanity. It depends on you, your Excellency, to silence the voice, the cries of outraged conscience.

"May God, on whom we call with all the ardor of the soul of an oppressed people, inspire you with the pity of the Good Samaritan."

BELGIANS APPEAL TO AMERICA.

Laborers Secretly Protest They Are "Reduced to Slavery."

PARIS, Dec. 4.—"Fifty thousand Belgian workingmen have been reduced to slavery by the Germans," declares an appeal to American workingmen prepared by Belgian laborers at a secret meeting in Belgium and communicated through a reliable channel to The Associated Press. The statement continues:

"The Germans have reduced 500,000 workers to idleness through the seizure of raw materials and machines. They have plundered Belgium of 1,000,000,000 francs in money on the pretext of a war contribution, and of 5,000,000,000 francs in provisions through the medium of requisitions.

"Then, under the pretext of idleness which they themselves had provoked and of need which arose entirely from their raids upon Belgian resources, they declare that Belgians must either sign voluntarily an agreement to serve Germany or be deported forcibly for enforced labor at 30 pfennigs a day and their food. The food was of such quality that those who had finally become so enfeebled that it was impossible to get more work out of them and were sent back to Belgium had lost a third of their weight.

"It is thanks to the United States that the Belgians have not been starved. We hope, thanks to the United States, that Belgian workers will not be reduced to a state of slavery."

"You alone in the world can succor us efficaciously," the statement concludes. "You alone can prevent this abominable crime against the working class and prevent the entire laboring element of a civilized country from falling into slavery. From the depths of our distress we count upon you. As for us, whatever may be our tortures we do not desire peace excepting in the independence of our country and the triumph of justice."

PROMISES BROKEN, DUTCH SAY

Germans Gave Guarantees Not to Transport Belgians, It Is Stated.

LONDON, Tuesday, Dec. 5.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from The Hague says:

"The Foreign Minister, replying in the Chamber to questions concerning the transportation of Belgians to Germany, said the Dutch Government had sent a written representation to Germany, maintaining that such transportation was opposed to the principles and spirit of international law, as expressed in The Hague Convention.

"He stated that Holland was following strictly the line taken since the war, and would have refrained from special steps in this affair if facts had not placed the responsibility for her connection with those Belgians who had originally taken refuge in Holland but later had returned to Belgium, trusting in the guarantees, including an assurance that they would not be transported to Germany, which were given them by the highest German authority in Antwerp with the co-operation of the Dutch Government.

"In view of these facts, the Foreign Minister added, the Netherlands Government expressed the expectation that the deported persons who came within the meaning of the aforesaid guarantees would be repatriated."

SPANISH PLEA FOR BELGIUM.

The Liberal Urges United Protest by Madrid and Washington.

MADRID, Dec. 4, (via Paris.)—The Liberal, in an article today on the subject of deportations from Belgium, says it is the duty of Spain as the first neutral power in Europe to raise her voice in favor of the victims.

"Spain," the newspaper adds, "has nothing to fear from Germany, whose interests she is protecting. And, further, it is for her to set an example to America and lead America to join with her in the defense of right and morality."

DEPORT FEWER BELGIANS.

Germans Believed to Have Been Influenced by Neutral Protests.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 4, (via London.)—The newspaper Les Nouvelles says the Germans are beginning to reduce considerably their requirements as to the number of unemployed to be deported from Belgium, and that the greater part of the men who presented themselves at Liége last week were sent back to their homes. Only a few men were taken from the surrounding villages.

The newspaper adds that apparently the protests of neutrals have begun to produce some effect. Invalids and boys of 15 years who have returned to Ghent, Les Nouvelles says, report they were forced to work on trenches in the district of Soissons, and that their food was bad and their treatment harsh.

Urges Protest on Belgium.

A protest against the deportation of Belgian workmen has been sent to 10,000 persons by the American Rights League, of which George Haven Putnam is President. The league calls upon citizens to urge President Wilson, Congress, and the members of the Cabinet to send protests to some responsible German representative, such as the German Ambassador.

REPORT BRITISH RAIDS FAILED AT YPRES

Berlin Tells of Beating Off Patrols—Paris Says Germans Were Repulsed Near Barleux.

BERLIN, Dec. 4, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—British patrols, following up mine explosions, succeeded in entering German trenches along the front in Belgium at some points, the War Office announced today: but were unable to maintain themselves there, it is said. The bulletin reads:

> Army Group of Field Marshal Duke Albrecht of Württemberg—In the Ypres and Wytschaete bend English patrols after blastings advanced against our position. Some succeeded in entering our most advanced trench. They were either overpowered in hand-to-hand fighting or they were repulsed.
>
> On the fronts of our other armies there was nothing of importance to report.

The night statement says:

> Early in the day an English advance east of Le Sars failed. Otherwise there was nothing of importance in the Somme sector.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Outside of the repulse last night of two German raids on French posts near Barleux, the operations on the Somme front during the last twenty-four hours have been of a very ordinary character.

The bulletin issued by the French War Office tonight reads:

> There was marked activity on the part of both artilleries on the front north of the Somme and in the region of Vaux and Douaumont.
>
> Everywhere else the day was calm.

The day report of the French War Office says:

> South of the River Somme two surprise attacks undertaken by the enemy upon minor French posts in the region of Barleux were repulsed with ease.
>
> In Alsace another such attack delivered after a spirited bombardment upon one of our trenches at Hilson ridge, to the southeast of Metzeral, also resulted in failure.
>
> The night passed quietly on the remainder of the front.

The night bulletin of the British War Office reads:

> Except for the usual artillery and trench mortar fire along our front there is nothing to report.

The day bulletin of the British War Office says:

> During the night there was some hostile shelling in the Gueudecourt area and at Fonquevillers.
>

WON REGINA TRENCH BY USE OF TUMP-LINE

Canadians Kept Up Endless Chain of Supplies Making the Successful Advance Possible.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY ON THE FRONT IN FRANCE, Friday, Dec. 1, (via London, Dec. 4.)—By using the American Indian and trapper method of carrying weights upon the back by means of leather thongs across the forehead, the Canadian troops were enabled to go forward when other means of transport had failed and to capture the Regina trench, which had resisted previous efforts. They also pressed forward under the shelter of a curtain of fire until they established themselves in "Desire" trench, a highly important objective.

When the Canadians received the word to advance it was seen that the mud would soon play havoc with ordinary methods of bringing up supplies, so the commanding officer called for volunteers for the "tump-line." Hundreds of Canadians knew the trick, and in a few moments three "tump" companies were organized to bring up ammunition. Through mud, darkness, and hostile shell fire the Indian file maintained an endless chain of supplies until the faithful army mule could again get to work.

The Canadians' dash and daring did the rest, and, once they gained the trench, there was a rush of Germans to surrender. Seventeen officers were taken in one batch.

One dugout, hidden under débris, was overlooked until two stretcher bearers, searching for wounded, approached. Much to the amazement of the unarmed men, the Germans began to pour out, with their hands above their heads. Half a score had emerged, when the stretcher men thought the situation was becoming too serious. Then one pointed to the dugout door and shouted: "Get back there!"

Meekly they obeyed, and while one stretcher man kept guard the other went for help, and a haul of twoscore prisoners resulted.

BRITISH LAUD WILSON FOR LIBERTY SPEECH

Prominent Statesmen See in It Outspoken Sympathy with Allied Cause.

SOME EXPRESS SURPRISE

President Believed to be Making Amends for Previous Statements on War's Causes.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—President Wilson's speech at the Statue of Liberty celebration on Saturday is regarded by several persons of good judgment here as possibly the most outspoken indication of sympathy with the allied cause which any statesman, careful of neutrality in words as well as in act, could permit himself to make. Indeed, in some cases surprise was expressed that President Wilson, who had carried his scrupulous and meticulous avoidance of anything savoring of "taking sides" to the point of declaring in May last that America had no concern with the causes and objects of the war, should have so far departed from that attitude as he did in his speech linking peace and liberty and the Republic of France with the Republic of the United States of America.

"The President to me seems to have been taking amende honorable to his own countrymen," said a well-known Englishman after reading the full text of Saturday's speech. "When he told his countrymen they had no concern with the causes and objects of the war, about which the great majority of American people had long before made up its mind both as to the responsibility for making war and as to the principles for which it was being fought, he must have surprised them. That phrase on the war is resented here as an unnecessary and exaggerated definition of the whole duty of neutrals. Whether or not the President had any idea of erasing the impression then created from the minds of the people in Europe one can of course only guess."

The material upon which to build anything more than conjecture upon the interpretation of Mr. Wilson's liberty speech is scanty in the extreme. With the exception of The Daily Telegraph none of the London papers published a special cablegram on the subject, and while brief extracts from an agency report running from five to a dozen lines were given in a few other papers, some contained no reference to the speech whatever. Consequently, only a small number of people in England to whom the THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent has so far been able to communicate the authentic and complete text of the President's remarks are in a position to express any opinion. While I am not at liberty to mention any names, I can say that the predominant view held by this limited but select number is that Mr. Wilson's remarks are from the allied point of view highly satisfactory and encouraging.

TREVELYAN SUGGESTS WILSON ASK FOR PEACE

Writes to Neutral Conference Here That Europe Would Listen—His Appeal Indorsed.

The American Neutral Conference Committee, at its second luncheon and meeting in New York yesterday, discussed and through its leaders indorsed an appeal by Charles P. Trevelyan, a member of the House of Commons, for mediation in the war by neutral nations. Mr. Trevelyan's appeal, contained in a long letter, asked that President Wilson take the initiative by stimulating the movement to determine on what terms the combatants would be willing to lay down their arms. The meeting was at the Hotel McAlpin.

Jacob H. Schiff, a member of the Advisory and Financial Committee of the American Neutral Conference Committee, did not attend yesterday's session, nor did James Speyer. It was announced, however, that Mr. Schiff and Mr. Speyer were fully in accord with the committee's program. Hamilton Holt was Chairman. He and Oswald Garrison Villard, Amos Pinchot, and Charles L. Bernheimer issued a statement after the meeting supporting Mr. Trevelyan's plea.

"If I were asked to briefly define the attitude of the mass of my countrymen I should say that they are heartily sick of the war," Mr. Trevelyan wrote, "that they are not aware of the weariness of the Germans and the willingness of the German Government to negotiate and that, consequently, they regard peace as hopeless and therefore are not yet prepared to advocate it.

"If, however, some voice so loud that it revererated across the seas, so important that the censorship could not exclude it, spoke not to the Governments but to the peoples, a change would begin to come. Suppose that to the British people, for instance, an American President were to be able to say in quite simple and direct language that Germany was ready to give up Belgium and France if the British Government would negotiate. First would come a roar of indignation from the reactionary British press. The Government circles would shudder at the lack of diplomatic reserve. There might be no open response at once.

"But from the day of the utterance public opinion would begin to form on the irrefutable knowledge that a peace could be obtained satisfactorily on the question which was most vital to the British people. This, indeed, asks the American President to risk his possible value as a backstairs diplomat. But American Presidents are apt to believe that the common sense of common men can make better judgments on vast issues than even well-meaning rulers. Perhaps they might help our poor European world by trusting the soul of our common folk."

AIRPLANE CAPTURES DUTCH MAIL SHIP

German Aviator Stops Vessel, Then Turns it Over to U-Boat—Three Americans Aboard.

The news that the Royal Dutch Mail steamship Koningen Regentes on Nov. 11 had been captured first by a German aeroplane, and then handed over to a submarine, in the North Sea and taken to Zeebrugge was brought here yesterday by one of the passengers, Dr. Howard G. Kimbley of San Francisco, who arrived on the liner Ryndam from Rotterdam, via Falmouth

Dr. Kimbley said that he was one of three Americans on the Koningen Regentes, bound from Flushing to Tilbury, and the others were Thomas Smith, a traveler, and William Goodbody, a New York lawyer. There were seventy passengers on board, mostly Dutch, and they were not excited when a German airplane, with a big black cross on its side, began to circle around the ship about three hours after leaving Flushing.

"We were standing on the promenade deck," Dr. Kimbley continued, "and saw the aeroplane drop smoke balls ahead of the Koningen Regentes, as a signal for the vessel to stop. Captain P. Reel, who was on the bridge, did not appear to understand what was happening until one of the two aviators yelled through a megaphone for him to stop the ship, and he obeyed. Shortly afterward a German submarine came to the surface close to the Koningen Regentes, and ordered the Captain to proceed to Zeebrugge, which he did, after some demur about the rights of neutral nations. He was warned that his vessel would be torpedoed if he tried to escape."

The submarine Captain told the ship's officers that the German Government had instructed all the submarine commanders to destroy all craft belonging to the Allies This order, he said, was afterward modified.

The Captain of the Koningen Regentes had sent out a message by wireless, which was responded to by two Dutch torpedo-boat destroyers. They remained by the steamship for a few minutes, until a second submarine appeared, and then they left her for Rotterdam to make their report to the Dutch Admiral.

The British and French passengers on the steamship were sent to concentration camps in Belgium and Germany, and the three Americans were sent to Rotterdam to take passage on the Ryndam. Dr. Kimbley said he and his two companions were not bady treated at Zeebrugge, but that the food served out to them was not at all good.

FRENCH ADOPT THE PONCHO.

Samples Enthusiastically Welcomed in the Trenches—Appeal for More.

The poncho, long the raincoat of the enlisted man of the United States Army, has found equal favor among the French soldiers in the trenches, according to Charles Butler, a member of the American Relief Clearing House in Paris, who recently returned to this country after several trips to the first-line trenches. Mr. Butler introduced two sample ponchos to the soldiers of General du Cugnac's division on the Somme front and the Frenchmen were so delighted with them that the relief society has started a poncho fund in an effort to provide as many of the square rubber garments as possible. An appeal for aid in purchasing them is being made.

"On the Somme it rains for weeks at a time," Mr. Butler said yesterday. "The only garments provided for the French soldiers have been the heavy overcoats, which are not waterproof and are altogether too heavy for the climate. The Lafayette Fund, which has been sending kits abroad, recently included ponchos in some of the kits. I took them to the front and spoke to the officers about them. They called different men in and let them try the ponchos out. The result was that all of the soldiers are asking for them. The officers are going to try to have them adopted, but that will be a question of months, so the Clearing House is going to send over as many as possible. The officers of course have rubber coats"

The adaptability of the poncho to different purposes is what impressed the Frenchmen most, Mr. Butler said. They may be used for coats, blankets, for sleeping bags, for shelter tents, and for many other things.

The War Relief Clearing House at 40 Wall Street, which is the American branch of the American Relief Clearing House, will receive contributions to the poncho fund. Thomas W. Lamont is the Treasurer.

SHIP EXPLOSION HID THEFT, SAYS RUSSIA

Disaster at Archangel Traced to Robbery at a Brooklyn Pier.

JUNKMAN IS UNDER ARREST

Find Clue at Winter Garden Matinee to Binoculars Stolen from Wharf.

A charge that the steamships blown up several weeks ago in the Russian port of Archangel, with the loss of 341 lives and millions of dollars in munitions, were destroyed by bombs placed aboard one of the vessels before it left a South Brookln pier in order to conceal thefts, was made yesterday by C. J. Medjikhovsky, Commercial Attaché of the Imperial Russian Embassy.

Mr. Medjikhovsky's accusation, together with his statement that the Russian Government had lost about $100,000 by wharf robberies within the last six months, was made at Police Headquarters, in connection with the arrest of Samuel Gatter, a Brooklyn junkman, said to be a deserter from the Russian Army. Gatter was held on a Federal warrant charging that he had received part of a $12,000 consignment of binoculars stolen in transit to the Russian Government.

According to Mr. Medjikhovsky his Government has suffered since the outbreak of the war, the robberies increasing until case after case of goods arrived at Russian ports only half filled. The Russian Government about a year ago leased Pier 6 at the Bush Terminal and placed a heavy guard about the wrarf; but the robberies continued.

It was not until the Archangel disaster that the chance for direct action presented itself. The vessel upon which the explosion occurred was the Comance Bedelae, a tramp ship and part of the Russian volunteer fleet. This steamship had arrived on the day of the explosion from New York with a miscellaneous cargo, consisting in part of a shipment of binoculars from the Bausch & Lomb Optical Company of Rochester, N. Y. The glasses were destined for the Russian artillery service.

An inquiry by the Russian secret police disclosed, it was said, that bombs had been substituted for goods in some of the cases, the bombs, of the clockwork pattern, were timed to go off upon the ship's arrival and, according to the Russian police theory, destroy evidence that the cargo had been looted. Then Mr. Medjikowsky was instructed to begin an investigation from his office at 44 Whitehall Street. He reported the matter to Police Headquarters, and Captain Tunney of the Bomb Squad assigned Lieutenant George Busby and Detectives Bath, Barnetz, Connell and Lohmann to the case.

Lieutenant Busby was admittedly at a standstill until last Saturday afternoon when a friend gave him his first clue. This friend, whose name was not given out, attended the matinée performance at the Winter Garden. He noticed that a young woman seated nearby was using a pair of military binoculars. Knowing that Lieutenant Busby had a case involving such binoculars the friend telephoned to him and Busby detailed a detective to follow the young woman.

According to the detective, she proved to be Mrs. Gatter, wife of the junkman. After the show she went to her home at 5,015 Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn. Yesterday the detectives went to Gatter's shop at 275 Forty-eighth Street, Brooklyn, and there found ten of the missing binoculars. Gatter told them that he had purchased the glasses from a man, paying $11 each for them. He said that in all he had bought twenty-seven of the binoculars, later selling seventeen. When he failed to remember what the man looked like he was arrested.

SERBS WIN LONG FIGHT EAST OF MONASTIR

Drive Germans and Bulgars from Heavily Fortified Position to New Line Northward.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Serbian official communication issued today and received here from Saloniki tells of the capture of heavily fortified Bulgarian positions north of Grunishte and Budimirtsa, east of the Cerna River, in Serbia, in fighting lasting over several days, and in which the Bulgarians suffered heavy casualties and lost prisoners, guns, machine guns, and ammunition. The statement says:

> After sanguinary fighting, lasting several days without interruption, despite the bad weather, the difficulties of terrain, and the desperate resistance of the enemy, troops by a brilliant attack yesterday captured an entire series of powerfully fortified Bulgarian positions in the region north of Grunishte and Budimirtsa. The ruins of the ancient fortress above Grunishte are in our hands, and the Bulgarians are fleeing northward, leaving a large number of dead on the battlefield.
>
> By this brilliant victory we captured numerous trophies, including five field guns and five caissons, many machine guns, a quantity of ammunition and other material, and many prisoners, who have not yet been counted. The number of guns we have captured up to now total 79.

The Paris War Office issued the following bulletin of the victory:

> At a point to the east of the River Cerna on Dec. 3 Serbian forces occupied a height to the north of Grunishte. The enemy was driven back in disorder upon Stravina.
>
> There has been nothing to report from the remainder of this front.

BERLIN, Dec. 4, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—The realignment of a portion of the Germano-Bulgarian front in Macedonia, east of the Cerna River, is announced by the War Office in its official statement on operations along the Macedonian front. The change followed the capture of a height yesterday by the Serbians. The statement reads:

> Macedonian front: The loss of a height situated on the east bank of the Cerna, which was taken yesterday by the Serbians and the alteration of a part of our position there in this connection has no influence upon the strokes in Rumania which are delivered in the effort to obtain a decision.

TO PLEAD FOR WAR VICTIMS.

Council Will Ask 100,000 Churches for Christmas Gifts.

In more than 100,000 Christian churches and Sunday schools in the United States there will be read next Sunday a Christmas appeal of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, asking the Christian people of the country to contribute generously to the relief of suffering in all the warring countries of Europe. The appeal is for all sufferers, regardless of race or creed or nationality, and is signed by Dr. Shailer Mathews, President, and the Rev. Dr. Charles S. Macfarland, General Secretary, of the Federal Council. It will be mailed from the New York office of the council today.

The appeal is addressed to fathers, mothers, and children. It contrasts their happiness and comfort with the distress and grief in homes in other hands.

Many relief organizations have requested the Federal Council to co-operate and speak for them.

Total Canadian Casualties 65,680.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Dec. 4.—Canadian casualties for the six months from June to November number 45,565. The total casualties since the active participation of Canadian troops in the war are 65,680. Of this total 10,353 were killed in action, 3,825 died of wounds, 536 died of sickness, 1,072 are presumed dead, 47,187 were wounded, and 2,707 are reported missing. The Dominion has enlisted 377,205 men for overseas service, the recruits being about equal to the casualties in the last six months.

FORD STILL PEACEMAKING.

Spending from $15,000 to $20,000 a Month, and Hopeful.

Notwithstanding the apparent failure of the Ford peace expedition, Henry Ford's peace activities are going on with better prospects than ever, according to Robert S. Neely, an official of the Ford Motor Company. Mr. Neely said so in a speech last night, at the "annual writhe of the Snakes in Our Palm Garden," the latter being the name given by the Rev. Dr. Jenkin Lloyd Jones to the organization of newspaper men who accompanied the Ford peace party. The dinner was held last night at—coincidentally—Henry's Scandinavian restaurant in West Thirty-sixth Street.

"The Ford organization for mediation by the neutral powers still has offices in Stockholm, Berne, and The Hague," said Mr. Neely. "The only Americans now left with the organization are Louis P. Lochner, who was Secretary of the original peace expedition, and Mrs. Ada M. Clark. We also have a number of delegates from the neutral nations of Europe, and these are people of responsible standing in their own countries.

"We have many people who have close connections with the European Governments, on both sides, who are in close touch with our organization, and through whom we have access to the ear of the authorities of the warring countries.

"These people are not officials, but they have the closest connection with the Government, and through them Mr. Ford feels that he is actually accomplishing something. He believes that if he brings the final peace nearer by even one day he will have done a great service to humanity. We are not working in the dark.

"At present Mr. Ford is spending about $15,000 to $20,000 a month on his peace activities. But we have cut down the outside expenses, and we know that at present the affair is on a businesslike basis."

S. S. McClure asked how much interest was being displayed and to what extent prominent citizens were actually associating themselves with movements toward peace.

"There are many leading citizens in the various European countries," said Mr. Neely, "in close connection with their Governments who are deeply interested in our activities. We know, for we have been paying considerable sums of money to some of them."

Joseph Jefferson O'Neill presided at the meeting. S. S. McClure told, under seal of confidence, how he got out of the clutches of Scotland Yard; Miriam Teichner talked on resemblances between the Ford Peace Party and the Golden Special of women campaigners for Hughes, and anybody else who felt like making a speech was allowed to do so.

BETHLEHEM GIVES INCREASE

Steel Company Announces 10 Per Cent. Advance for 40,000 Workers.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Penn., Dec. 4.—A wage increase of approximately 10 per cent., affecting 40,000 men employed in the Bethlehem Steel Company's plants at South Bethlehem, Steelton, Penn., and Sparrow's Point, Md., was announced today by President Grace. The increase is effective Dec. 16, and will be given to all employes on hour, day, and turn rates. Proper adjustment will also be made in certain tonnage and piece work positions, it was announced.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Dec. 4.—The Central Iron and Steel Company announced today an increase of wages of 10 per cent. to its 1,200 employes, effective Dec. 16.

RUMFORD, Me., Dec. 4.—A 10 per cent. increase for 900 employes at its local plant, effective Dec. 15, was announced today by the International Paper Company.

WARWICK, R. I., Dec. 4.—The Elizabeth Mills, manufacturers of thread, operating plants at Hill's Grove and East Greenwich, granted a 10 per cent. increase in wages to the 500 employes, effective today.

Gerard Takes $17,000 to Germany.

When Ambassador James W. Gerard sails today on the steamship Frederik VIII. to return to his post at Berlin, he will take with him a draft for 100,000 marks, or $17,000, collected by the American Relief Committee for the benefit of German war widows and orphans. Mr. Gerard will have personal charge of the distribution of the fund.

FINDS DRUG EVIL PERVADES THE CITY

Legislative Committee Hears Addicts Now Number 200,000.

MANY IN THE UPPER WORLD

Ministers, Judges, Lawyers, and Doctors Have Vainly Tried Treatment for Relief.

The drug evil has now reached into every corner of the city with amazing rapidity, according to testimony given at the City Hall yesterday afternoon at the first hearing of the Joint Legislative Committee appointed last Sprnig to investigate the habit-forming drug traffic, with a view to remedial legislation. In spite of the Boylan law, which, it was admitted, had produced many good results, it was the belief of District Attorney Francis J. Martin of the Bronx, Assistant District Attorney Albert B. Unger of Manhattan, Howard Clark Barber, Superintendent of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, and Dr. Ernest C. Bishop, in charge of the narcotic wards of the workhouse on Blackwell's Island, that the number of drug addicts in this city had been increased to 200,000.

Senator George H. Whitney of Mechanicsville, Chairman of the joint committee, presided, and with him were Senator John J. Boylan and Assemblyman R. M. Prangen, George F. Brennan, and Maurice Block. Mr. Unger asserted that the present law regulating the sale of narcotics acted as a bulwark and protection for unscrupulous physicians and druggists. He then asked leave to submit the rest of his statement to the committee for its private consideration, lest the publication of defects in the law should inspire its breakers to greater activity.

Mr. Unger said it generally was believed that most of the habit-forming drugs that were sold in this city were exported from this country to either Canada or Mexico and then smuggled back into the United States. District Attorney Martin of the Bronx concurred in this view.

Howard Clark Barbour suggested that the committee investigate the methods and results of the treatment of drug victims in the hospitals where, he said he was reliably informed, a substantial number of addicts died under treatment either because of incompetence or ignorance.

"The number of addicts is increasing all the time," said Dr. Bishop. "I remember when victims sent to us were men, some of them aged, but now they are chiefly young men and boys. These victims are divided into addicts of the upper world, and addicts of the lower world.

"The addicts of the upper world are legion. They include judges, physicians, lawyers, and ministers. You have no idea of the tremendous number of addicts, and most of them have tried any number of treatments. Withdrawal of narcotic drugs is not a cure."

Dr. Bishop, when asked by Chairman Whitney if he believed narcotics should be prescribed for a man, for instance, 60 years old who had been using drugs for twenty-five years, answered in the affirmative.

"I believe a good deal of the increase in the underworld addicts," he added, "is a result of scared physicians. I believe it would be a measure of relief if you would open a supply of drugs from which an addict who is honest may get needed drugs his physician is afraid to prescribe for him. You will at least cut off the underworld. An honest man who has become an addict must have drugs to keep in condition to work and support his family. If his physician will not prescribe it for him he will surely get it through the underworld."

Dr. Bishop said the drug evil was in all our institutions, such as the Tombs and Workhouse. As long as there were men in agony because of the drug need they would get the drug if it was obtainable.

HELD IN INSURANCE FRAUD.

Walter and Two Others Accused of Filing Fake Accident Claim.

The Grand Jury which is investigating accident insurance frauds yesterday returned indictments against Henry Dorfner, Richard T. McKellar, and William E. Stark on a charge of filing a fraudulent accident claim with the Continental Insurance Company of 80 Maiden Lane, upon which they collected $2,300. Dorfner is said to be the head waiter at a Coney Island restaurant.

According to the confession of Frederick Strobel, President and General Manager of the Moon Auto Sales Company of Brooklyn, also under indictment on a similar charge, the three defendants set fire to a decrepid automobile which they had insured. Stark, who is under arrest on an indictment now pending against him, was committed to prison in default of $20,000 bail. The other two have not been arrested.

REPORT RATTIGAN OUT.

Auburn Believes Prison Warden Has Given Up Office.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 4.—The reported resignation of Warden Charles F. Rattigan of Auburn Prison had not reached Superintendent of Prisons Carter up to the closing hour tonight.

Special to The New York Times.

AUBURN, Dec. 4.—Warden Rattigan was not in town tonight. Recently he refused to affirm or deny reports that he had resigned. The reports are credited here.

The struggle of the local Republican machine to recover the Wardenship as a political plum has grown hot. George W. Benham, former Republican County Chairman and Warden, is said to be slated as Rattigan's successor.

PASSY WAR FAIR A SUCCESS.

Bazaar Directed by Mrs. Joseph A. Blake Raises a Large Fund.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—The charity bazaar for war sufferers held on Saturday and Sunday in the Salle des Fêtes of the Passy Mairie, under the direction of Mrs. Joseph A. Blake and other prominent residents of that section of Paris, netted greater results than any similar affair of the season. The money raised will be devoted to relief in several of the arrondissements, including that in which the bazaar was held.

Mme. Poincaré attended on the opening day, and complimented Mrs. Blake on the energy of the American colony in making the affair a success.

PROTEST HOME ARMY BILL.

Germans Did Not Realize It Affected Women, It Is Alleged.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The passage of the Home Army bill caused a panic throughout Berlin last week when it was realized that women would be forced into the factories, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

The dispatch says that there was a demonstration of women, mostly servants and wives of soldiers, outside of Charlottenburg Town Hall, who protested against the provisions of the measure and demanded bread and two days' leave for all soldiers. The women also demanded peace, the dispatch says.

Unite for State Liquor Law.

Representatives of the Prohibition Party and the Anti-Saloon League met at Syracuse on Friday and signed an agreement for a joint legislative program during the coming session of the Legislature. This program calls for the introduction by the same Senator and Assemblyman of a State-wide Prohibition bill to be submitted to the voters on a referendum, and an Optional Prohibition bill to apply to lesser political units.

RAZING OF SING SING MAY BE BEGUN SOON

Prison Site Board Named by the Governor Favors Destroying Cell House Now.

HAS LEGAL POWER TO DO IT

Commission Members Say There is No Reason to Wait on Purchase of Land for New Prison.

The demolition of Sing Sing Prison, long agitated, may be begun immediately, even before another prison site has been chosen. This probability was disclosed yesterday at the meeting of the board appointed by Governor Whitman to consider prison sites. The board has the power to order the razing of the present cell house, and Charles Buckley Hubbell, Chairman, and others, expressed themselves emphatically in favor of using that power.

"Sing Sing should be razed," Mr. Hubbell said, "as a response to the great public sentiment which wants to see a beginning of the end of Sing Sing immediately. We should not wait until we have chosen the new site before beginning the destruction of the old prison. There are facilities for housing the prisoners in other buildings in the Sing Sing Prison yard."

Several others interested in prison reform, who attended the hearing yesterday, which was held at the offices of E. H. Gary, spoke in favor of immediately putting an end to Sing Sing. Among them was Judge William H. Wadhams of the Court of General Sessions. The judge characterized the prison as "unfit for human habitation," adding that it has been condemned for seventy-two years. This year, incidentally, is the prison's one hundredth anniversary.

The relative merits of the two sites—Beekman and Wingdale—were considered at length, but no decision was reached. Judge Wadhams and E. Stagg Whitin spoke in favor of the Beekman site, and Henry C. Henderson of White Plains, who said he had no interest in the matter except as a citizen, spoke in favor of Wingdale. He said he did not believe either site was ideal.

James M. Carter, Superintendent of Prisons, said a proper development of the industrial side of the prison system in this State was not possible under present laws. He did not go into details as to the changes needed in the law.

"We want to build the finest prison either in this State or any other," Mr. Gary said. "It seems to me that the two main considerations are the water supply and sewage facilities at the two sites proposed."

Mr. Hubbell declared that the present condition of the land was not against either site. The more developing it needed, he said, the greater the number of men who could be employed in the work.

Mr. Hubbell, Mr. Gary, Supt. Carter, Lewis F. Pilcher, State Architect, and General W. W. Wotherspoon, who are members of the commission, were all present, as was Senator James E. Towner, who introduced a bill favoring the Wingdale site.

HOPE FOR ARCHBOLD.

Passes Restful Night on Eve of Critical Day of Illness.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, Dec. 4.—The condition of John D. Archbold, who was recently operated upon for appendicitis, was reported tonight to be unchanged, but his physicians were more hopeful for his recovery. Last night it was said that if Mr. Archbold's condition did not grow worse today the critical period of his illness might be reasonably considered past.

After a restful night Mr. Archbold awoke early and, though during the forenoon there were times when his vitality seemed below normal, he displayed a brighter spirit.

Here's the whole story of The Dictaphone—both ends of it
Your end of it. You start dictating the minute you are ready—no waiting for anybody. You keep at it steadily or off and on, as you feel like. Full speed or as slow as you want. Correct yourself or repeat as often as you care to. In the meantime your typist is typewriting or doing other important work—no part of her time is required for note-taking. If you have much dictation at a time, she has a lot of letters already written before you are through dictating.
Your typist's end of it. She hears your words. She gets what you say; no deciphering shorthand notes of what you said. She does not have to stop and wait every time you stop and think. She controls the dictation—she can make you repeat forty times without embarrassment to herself or annoyance to you. She dodges the nerve strain of taking shorthand notes and the eye strain of "making them out." She gets through her work quicker, easier; writes better letters and more of them—and has time for other work. She writes your letters once, on the typewriter.
The money side of it. You save at least a third on the cost of every letter. Certainly that isn't the least important feature of dictating to The Dictaphone.

FUNSTON REMOVES COLONEL JOHNSTON

Quick Acceptance of Resignation of Twelfth's Leader Checks Protests.

OTHER OFFICERS UNDECIDED

Squadron A and Maryland Troopers Ordered to Return Home from Camps at Border.

Special to The New York Times.

McALLEN, Texas, Dec. 4.—Major Gen. Funston, commanding the Department of the South, today made quick disposal of the wholesale resignations of officers in the Twelfth New York Infantry by ordering Colonel Gordon Johnston to relinquish command of the regiment and to report to Brig. Gen. James Parker, commander of the Brownsville district. He also informed the officers of the regiment that no more resignations would be consideed now, and appointed Colonel H. H. Bandholtz Divisional Chief of Staff and Lieut. Col. George H. White of the Seventy-fourth New York Infantry in temporary command of the regiment. Both of these officers have been detailed to the New York Militia from the regular army.

Colonel Johnston had forwarded to General Funston a request that an Inspector be sent to make an investigation of the facts leading to the command for the repetition of the regimental review on Wednesday. At the time orders for the changes in command were sent out tonight a letter from General Funston was transmitted to the Colonel saying the circumstances did not seem to require an investigation. The letter said that, pending action upon the resignation, Colonel Johnston would be assigned to duty in the Brownsville district. When his officers resigned in a body Colonel Johnston decided to ask for an investigation so that it would be established that there was no concerted action inspired by the regimental commander. In reply to the information that Colonel Johnston held the resignations of his officers General Funston replied that no requests for withdrawal from the regiment would be considered now.

The decision reached by the department commander was so unexpected and quick that the officers of the Twelfth had not yet decided late tonight what steps, if any, they should take. It is pointed out that any general action by the officers in pushing the allegations that any affront had been given them might be considered a conspiracy prejudicial to discipline. A letter was sent to General O'Ryan tonight by Colonel Johnston reviewing some of the facts. This stated that, although the Colonel stood at the General's elbow when the regiment passed in review the first time, no comment was made on the marching of the men or on the fact that the flag was furled. In fact, it was said that the Colonel had received compliments from other quarters upon the appearance of his regiment.

Although further action may be taken here, it is the disposition at divisional headquarters to regard the incident as closed. Whether Colonel Johnston will seek vindication when he leaves this military jurisdiction has not been given out.

Squadron A received orders tonight to prepare to entrain for New York, and the usual jubilation prevails in the camp. The squadron is to entrain when the First Alabama Cavalry reaches the border. Major William R. Wright and his staff are expected to return from San Antonio tonight.

Major Cornelius Vanderbilt, Divisional Inspector, has been commissioned Colonel of the Twenty-second Engineers by Governor Whitman. Major Vanderbilt has been absent from headquarters for almost two months, and he will not return to McAllen, but will take command of the regiment in New York, it is thought. Lieut. Col. William H. Conrow, now in command of the engineers, will proceed to New York at once. Colonel Vanderbilt will also be a member of the staff as engineer officer. Major Frederick Humphreys remains in command of the Second Battalion of Engineers in the border camp.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Squadron A of the New York National Guard was tonight ordered by the War Department to return from its station on the Mexican border to be mustered out of the Federal service. Similar orders were given to Troop A of the Maryland National Guard. Both are cavalry organizations, and their places will be taken by the First Alabama Cavalry.

FOREIGNERS REPORTED KILLED IN CHIHUAHUA

Two Americans and German Vice Consul Said to be Slain—Trevino Denies Story.

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 4.—Reports were telegraphed by Government agents to Washington today that foreigners had been killed in Chihuahua City when Villa bandits occupied the town. Later a statement was made by General Jacinto Trevino, commanding forces who reoccupied the capital, that "only a few Chinese were killed during the time Villa occupied the city." General Trevino's statement was telegraphed in response to an inquiry by Andres Garcia, Inspector General of Carranza Consulates.

The information telegraphed Washington was said to have been obtained in Juarez. It stated that Carlos Ketelsen, German Vice Consul at Chihuahua City; Charles Elmendorf, and another American whose name was not given had been killed by Villa, and that Elmendorf's brother Frank is a business man of El Paso. Another brother, Henry, was once Mayor of San Antonio, Texas, the family home. The report also said that Charles Elmendorf's young daughter had been carried off to the mountains.

VILLA OUTWITTED TREVINO.

Took Chihuahua After Feint at a Retreat Northward.

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 4.—Villa's bandits were retreating north toward the border the night before Chihuahua City was evacuated by Carranza troops, it became known here today from a reliable source.

For four days the forces of General Trevino had beaten the Villa troops and at 11 o'clock Sunday night, Nov. 26, the bandits were retiring northward with the reported intention of attacking Juarez. General Trevino is said to have sent a message to General Francisco Gonzales, warning him to mass all of his forces from western Chihuahua at Juarez.

Villa was expected to move north on Monday, Nov. 27. Instead, he swung around to the northwest and slipped into the suburbs of Chihuahua City early Monday morning and started a general attack, which routed the Carranza forces and the panic resulted. The two batteries captured on Santa Rose Hill by Villa were not taken until after a large part of Trevino's command had left the city for the south.

SHIPPED ARMS TO MEXICANS.

Exporters Arrested, Accused of Using False Manifests.

On complaint of Charles J. Gass, Acting Deputy Collector of Customs, Louis Gotting and Wencesloa Mont, partners in the importing and exporting concern of the Adic Company, 132 Nassau Street, were arrested yesterday and held in $10,000 each for examination today on the charge of having shipped small arms and ammunition to Mexico in violation of the embargo and under false manifests. The first news of the shipments came from Washington. The authorities here failed to discover what faction in Mexico was to receive the arms. All they learned was that the goods were sent to Vera Cruz.

According to the manifest filed by the prisoners, the cases containing the arms held plumbers' supplies, candy-working machinery and paper cutting knives. But the complaint against the prisoners alleges that they and a third defendant, José La Paz, employed by them, but who has not yet been arrested, had planned the shipments of large amounts of small arms and ammunition, by placing them as ordinary articles of commerce on board vessels bound for Vera Cruz.

The specific shipment complained of occurred on Nov. 14, 1916, when 206 packages of arms and ammunition were placed on board the Cuba Mail steamship Esperanza. Assistant United States District Attorney Roger B. Wood asked that heavy bail be fixed because of the unusual nature of the situation. It was argued that the arms were undoubtedly for the use of one of the warring factions in Mexico, notwithstanding that American troops are still on the border. Therefore, they held, the offense was of the most serious character.

It was said that the first news that arms were arriving in Mexico from this country came from Vera Cruz, and that the special shipment described in the complaint was only one of many, the others having evidently reached those for which they were intended.

POPE NAMES TEN CARDINALS

Three Are French and Seven Italian—No Germans in the List.

ROME, Dec. 4.—For the first time since the war Pope Benedict today held a secret Consistory without a German or Austrian Cardinal being present. Cardinal Fruewirth, Apostolic Delegate to Munich, who received the red hat in a public Consistory last Thursday, could not participate in the one held today.

About thirty members of the Sacred College gathered around the Pontiff, all of them belonging to nations of the Entente Allies. The most prominent of them were Cardinal Amette, Archbishop of Paris; Cardinal Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster, and Cardinal Gasquet, the famous Benedictine historian.

Pope Benedict appeared stronger and more energetic than ever as he delivered in Latin his allocution, in which special emphasis was laid on the passages concerning the war, the deportation of Belgians and the bombardment of undefended towns. Afterwards he created ten new Cardinals, all of them belonging to Entente allied countries.

The new Cardinals are:

Mgr. La Fontaine, Patriarch of Venice; Mgr. Donato Sbarretti, former Apostolic Delegate to Canada, later Bishop of Havana, and recently Assessor of the Holy See; Mgr. Dubourg, Archbishop of Rennes; Mgr. Dubois, Archbishop of Rouen; Mgr. Vittorio Amedeo Ranuzzi de' Bianchi, Major-Domo of the Vatican; Mgr. Boggiani, Secretary of the Holy Office and former Apostolic Delegate to Mexico; Mgr. Ascalosi, Archbishop of Benevento; Mgr. Maurin, Archbishop of Lyons; Mgr. Marini, Secretary of the Holy Signature, and Mgr. Giergi, Secretary of the council.

NEW YORK LAWYER WINS CASE

Supreme Court Dismisses Indictments Against H. H. Oppenheimer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Dismissal of the Federal indictments of 1914 against Hermann H. Oppenheimer, a New York attorney, for alleged conspiracy to conceal assets of the bankrupt firm of Joseph Samuels & Co., was affirmed today by the Supreme Court.

At various times seven indictments were found against Mr. Oppenheimer on charges of conspiring to conceal the assets of the bankrupt firm of Joseph Samuels & Co. Some of the indictments were dismissed by the court and others were vacated. United States District Attorney Marshall carried the case to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Oppenheimer was one of the witnesses against Mr. Marshall when the latter was under investigation by the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives. He had complained that he was a sufferer from the oppressive methods practiced by Mr. Marshall.

The law firm of Slade & Slade, who were counsel for Rae Tanzer when she sued James W. Osborne for breach of promise, represented Mr. Oppenheimer.

Gov. Hunt Defeated by 32 Votes.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 4.—Thomas Campbell, Republican, was elected Governor of Arizona at the recent election by a plurality of 32 votes over Governor Hunt, according to official figures announced today. The law providing for total prohibition was adopted by a majority of 12,000, and capital punishment was abolished by a majority of 152 votes.

DEMAND AN INQUIRY INTO COST OF PAPER

Board of Education Is Put to It to Get Pads Needed for School Children.

EVEN CARDBOARD PUT UP

Box Manufacturer Shows Mills Charge $60 a Ton When Materials Cost Them $5 a Ton.

More business men who use large quantities of wrapping and other paper expressed approval yesterday of the suggestion that the business houses affected by the soaring price of these papers should unite to promote a "paper economy campaign," first in this city and then throughout the country.

One of the persons who thought that an investigation should be made to determine whether there was a conspiracy to increase the cost of paper was Patrick Jones, Superintendent of Supplies of the Board of Education. He is responsible for the provision of pads, drawing, and "scratch" paper, and a variety of other forms of paper for the city's 800,000 school children. The need of this paper for the children's education makes the Board of Education one of the largest paper consumers in the city. It takes several thousand tons of paper a year to meet its requirements.

The Board of Education has been so short of paper this year that Superintendent Jones recommended the use of slates by the school children. Instead, circulars urging the utmost economy in the use of paper were sent to all of the teachers.

"Although we had made contracts for our full supply, and although we had carried considerable paper over from last Spring, we have been very short in our supply this Fall," Superintendent Jones said yesterday afternoon. "We have been unable to get the paper for which we have contracted. Our contracts were made before the sudden rise in prices, and although they were comparatively high the same paper has since gone up from 100 to 200 per cent. over our contract prices. The manufacturers are getting these exorbitant prices for the same paper when they sell it on the open market."

Superintendent Jones said that the city schools have to spend about $360,000 a year for paper, and that all of the paper needed for 1917 had been contracted for. He said that besides insisting on a Government investigation into the sudden rise in prices, the business interests using large amounts of paper should cooperate in reducing their consumption to eliminate waste and bring down prices. A "paper economy campaign," he said, "would be very beneficial" to the entire country, and, besides aiding the paper users and the public directly, would educate the public into saving old paper for resale to the mills, instead of burning it or throwing it away.

The rise in paper prices has been accompanied by a similar rise in the prices of cardboard, another product of paper mills.

This rise has hit the paper box manufacturers, and, as in the rise in wrapping and tissue papers, the department stores and mail order houses are the immediate sufferers, with the public again playing the part of the ultimate victim. Millions of fancy cardboard boxes will be used between now and Christmas for gifts to be sent through the mails, an authority on the subject said yesterday, and each of them will cost two or three times what it cost last year.

"There is absolutely no justification for the rise in cardboard prices, regardless of whether there is justification for the rise of paper prices," a large box manufacturer said yesterday.

"Chip board, which is made of clippings from cardboard boxes, waste paper and general débris from box factories and other industries, has gone up to $60 a ton. A year ago it was selling at $19 and $20 a ton. We, like all other box manufacturers, sell the mills the débris which constitutes the source of supply for this cardboard. When the price of the finished chip board was $19 a ton the mills were paying $4 a ton for the material from which it was made. Now that they have raised the price to $60 a ton to take advantage of the flood of other high paper prices, they are paying just $5 a ton for the material used to make their chip board. I would like to know what explanation of this disproportionate price can be offered by the mills."

PAPER MILLS COMBINE.

Bryant and Oxford Companies Buy a Big Plant in New Brunswick.

Special to The New York Times.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Dec. 4.—One of the largest deals ever made in Canadian pulp plants was completed today, when the Bryant Paper Company of Kalamazoo and the Oxford Paper Company of Rumford Falls, Me., purchased the Edward Hartington Pulp and Paper Company of St. John, N. B. The consideration was $3,000,000. The negotiations have been pending for more than three months. A total of 372,000 acres of land was involved.

The new company was organized today as the Nashwaak Pulp and Paper Company, and offices will be maintained in New York City. Improvements on the mill property to the extent of $250,000 will be made immediately, insuring a capacity of 120 tons daily of sulphite.

Officers are P. J. Chisholm, President; L. M. Bickford, Vice President; F. E. Tufts, Treasurer, and L. H. Drummond, Secretary, all of New Brunswick.

October Exports Increase.

Exports from New York in October exceeded the same month in 1915 by $62,266,921, England, as in past months of the war, being the heaviest purchaser of war munitions and supplies and foodstuffs. France comes next. The outward movement reached $235,976,859 in October, compared with $173,709,938 in the corresponding period of 1915.

A Christmas gift from "The Greatest Sporting Goods Store in the World" has a whole-souled sturdiness about it which no other gift can possibly possess. It has much of the suggestion of those early Christmases when logs blazed within and the snow drifted without—when men and women traveled over hills and down the dales to the music of sleighbells, bound for a cheery Christmas hearthstone far removed from city scenes.

That wonderful outdoor Christmas spirit still survives—and it is appealed to with emphasis by the sporting gift articles from this store.

To give your friend that which he will most like to receive—study his hobbies. The gift which appeals to his favorite sport brings the glow to his heart and his cheek.

For the woman and the boy and the girl who love outdoor life and indoor games, this store contains a wealth of suggestions

Always the most interesting shop in America, as Christmas approaches its attractiveness is multiplied.

PLAN RESERVOIRS IN ADIRONDACKS

Application for Sacandaga and Schroon Valley Projects Opposed Before Commission.

WOULD REGULATE HUDSON

And Increase Water Power, but Obliterate Three Lakes and Wipe Out Many Villages.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 4.—Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt, Attorney General Egburt E. Woodbury, and State Engineer Frank M. Williams, sitting today for the first time as the Commission on River Regulation, heard the application of the Chamber of Commerce of Glens Falls for the formation of the Upper Hudson River Regulating District, with the object of constructing two great storage reservoirs in the Adirondacks and thereby regulating the flow of the Hudson River. Their cost would be more than $6,500,000, which must be paid for by the localities and municipalities benefited.

Under the application, it is proposed to construct a dam at Conklingville on the Sacandaga River that would form a lake forty-two square miles in area, flooding 30,000 acres of land and parts of twelve villages and requiring the relocation of forty miles of highway and eight miles of railroad. This reservoir would contain 29,000,000,000 cubic feet of water.

The second reservoir project is for a dam on the Schroon River at Tumblehead Falls, which would back up the water on the river and on Schroon, Brandt, and Paradox Lakes at a height varying from twenty to thirty feet, burying parts of the towns of Chestertown, Horicon, South Horicon, and Pottersville and flooding thirty-nine miles of highways. The lake that would be formed would be twenty-four and one-half square miles in area and would contain about 16,000,000,000 cubic feet of water.

The Sacandaga project, although the most expensive, its estimated cost being $4,661,000, is considered the most feasible. The water regulation it would afford in the Hudson River would increase the available horse power at developed sites from 29,490 in the dry seasons to 131,697.

There were fifty persons present at the hearing, all, with the exception of half a dozen, being favorable to the project. The opposition was mostly because of the scenery that would be destroyed. After hearing preliminary arguments the commission adjourned the hearing to Jan. 30.

In presenting the project Elmer J. West, President of the Glens Falls Chamber of Commerce, said there were two main reasons why storage reservoirs should be built on the Sacandaga and Schroon Rivers—the increase of power and the reduction of Spring floods. The project is more than a local one, said Mr. West, and affects every manufacturing industry along the Hudson River from Corinth to tidewater.

D. F. Emery of Glens Falls said the water power had decreased for years at that point on account of the destruction of the forests on the upper Hudson watershed and of the drain upon the river by the Glens Falls feeder, which takes water to the Champlain Barge Canal. To counteract these two influences, said Mr. Emery, storage reservoirs are necessary, not as an altruistic endeavor, but in the material interest of the people of Glens Falls and of those below.

Others who favored the proposal were W. S. Bascom of the Commercial Association of Fort Edward, J. W. Omstead of Northville, David S. Fisk, President of the Village of Hudson Falls; C. J. Philo, President of the Village of South Glens Falls; S. N. Hutchinson, President of the Chamber of Commerce of Green Island, and Homer Eckerson, Mayor of Mechanicsville.

A. E. Roach, representing the City of Troy, pointed out that the annual damage by floods at that point was from $250,000 to $300,000, while every five or six years it exceeded $500,000. The river regulating project, said Mr. Roach, was expected to materially decrease this damage and also to increase the amount of power generated at the Federal dam in Troy.

George Welwood Murray, representing the Schroon Lake Association, entered a strong protest against the creation of a storage reservoir in the valley of the Schroon River. The contemplated dam at Tumblehead Falls, he said, would entirely envelop not only Schroon, Paradox, and Brandt Lakes and wipe out the villages of Chestertown, Horicon, South Horicon, and Pottersville, as stated in the petition, but would also submerge the Village of Adirondack, a large part of the Village of Schroon Lake, and all of Severance and Paradox villages. The entire Schroon Valley, said Mr. Murray, would be completely ruined as a vacation and health resort on account of the drawing down of the water during the dry seasons. He questioned the right of the power owners on the Hudson River to disturb the property rights of the people of the Schroon Valley for the purpose of power production.

Other objectors to the proposal were the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad Company and members of the Schroon Lake Board of Trade.

Police Band Concerts This Week.

The first of the two annual public concerts by the Police Band will be given tomorrow evening at the Harlem River Casino. The second will follow on Thursday night at Prospect Hall, Brooklyn. The funds derived will be applied to the maintenance of the band, the only financial support of which comes from the public, as the rules of the department prohibit playing for any compensation. The 100 or more members of the band, patrolmen and officers, pay their own expenses and give their spare time to the band in addition to performing regular police work. Victor Herbert has composed a special number, which will be rendered at both concerts.

RUSSIAN BAZAAR OPENED.

Archbishop Evdokim Blessed Undertaking for Relief of War Victims.

The Russian Bazaar, organized under the auspices of the Russian American Relief Association, of which Mme. Bakhmeteff, wife of the Russian Ambassador, is the President, and of the American Ambulance in Russia Committee and the American Friends of Russian Prisoners of War, was opened yesterday afternoon in the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. It will close on Saturday. The bazaar is Russian through and through, from the replicas of the Tower of Riga and the Castle of Kieff to the gay colored skirts and elaborate head pieces of the scores of girls who throng the armory and offer to sell you little Russian and American flags and other souvenirs.

The bazaar was officially opened by Archbishop Evdokim of the Russian Cathedral, who in the splendid robes of his office blessed the undertaking and offered a prayer for its success. Assisting in this ceremony was the entire choir from the Cathedral.

The patronesses are Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Arthur Iselin, Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Mrs. Francis Pendleton, Mrs. Willard Straight, Mrs. Orme Wilson, Mrs. William Woodward, Mrs. William P. Thompson, Mrs. F. Grey Griswold, Mrs. Richard Irvin, Mrs. H. Blaine Beale, Mrs. Edward B. McLean, and Mrs. Curtis Guild.

The General Bazaar Committee has as its members Mrs. Robert Bacon, Mrs. Frederic R. Coudert, Mrs. C. C. Cuyler, Mrs. Charles H. Ditson, Mrs. Harry Duryea, Mrs. Ernesto Fabri, Mrs. S. M. Friede, Mrs. Howard Greenley, Miss Bell Gurnee, Mrs. Montgomery Hare, Mrs. Hayden Harris, Mrs. Frank Hoppin, Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, Mrs. Archer Huntington, Mrs. Samuel McRoberts, Mrs. S. S. Norton, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, Mrs. Max Strauss, Mrs. Charles P. Warren, Mrs. Campbell Steward, Mrs. Lorne McGibbon, Mrs. Henry Munroe, Miss May Moulton, and Mrs. E. Reynolds.

Denies Buenos Aires Report.

William S. Kies, Vice President of the American International Corporation, denied yesterday a dispatch from Buenos Aires indicating that the corporation, through Dr. Richard P. Strong, was entering on certain important development enterprises in Argentina. The dispatch stated that Dr. Strong had offered financial assistance to Minister of Public Works Torello for the resumption of work on public enterprises, and that the offer had been accepted.

You Will Save Many Dollars

By Buying Your Christmas Piano at the

"PEASE"

Sale of Used Pianos

The Only Sale of Its Kind Held During the Year, and Absolutely the Biggest Values Ever Offered for Reliable Pianos.

This is not a sale of old pianos gathered together for the occasion in a dull season, but is our Annual Clearance Sale of our own and other good makes held right at the holiday season when the greatest number of pianos are purchased.

For seventy-two years the "Pease" name has stood for piano reliability, and we guarantee each and every piano, and will allow the full purchase price within one year from date toward the purchase of any new Pease Piano desired.

The Reason for This Sale

The Pease Piano Co. do the largest rental business of any firm in this city, and as we do not rent to public places, but mostly to the home and to musicians, we must keep our rental stock like new; therefore we hold a clearance sale of our entire rental stock once a year, and offer them at prices that should sell every one within forty-eight hours.

It will be seen that the majority of these pianos are of our own make, and are NOT EXCHANGED pianos which have been given up because unsatisfactory, which is the only basis for many sales of used pianos, but which are in reality sales of abused pianos.

We hold only one sale of pianos each year, and the quick way in which these many fine bargains are bought by the public shows their appreciation of the WONDERFUL VALUES, the LOW PRICES and the VERY EASY PAYMENTS.

Please note that this is the only sale of this magnitude that is held in the city each year by a piano manufacturer, and also note that they are mostly our own pianos. A partial list of the pianos follows:

The Spirit of Christmas

THE spirit of Christmas is the spirit of service! The faithful carrier of parcels in Charles Dickens' "The Cricket on the Hearth" was an embodiment of this spirit.

John Peerybingle typified personal service in transportation for his day and age. He never dreamed—Charles Dickens never dreamed—of the magnitude of Wells Fargo Service, nor of its thousands of devoted expressmen, upon whose efficient work the convenience, comfort, and pleasure of so many depend.

Steadily the express has builded its reputation for both fidelity and dispatch in the handling of its business; yet it is in the flood-tide of Christmas shipments that its service is put to the greatest test.

It is at this time that Wells Fargo needs most the co-operation of its patrons in order that it may handle without delay its millions of Christmas packages. Therefore we make an earnest request that you ship early this Christmas. To help you do this we furnish attractive labels requesting the recipient of your packages not to open them until Christmas day.

CHEERS AND TEARS FOR BERNHARDT

Admiration and Sentiment Express Themselves in a Mighty Ovation.

THE VOICE WORN BY A COLD

This Only Deepens the Impressiveness of a Gallant Performance by the Dauntless Sarah.

Undiscouraged by the ordeal through which she had passed since last she played in this city and undismayed by the recent cold which had weakened her and torn to shreds a voice that has charmed the world, Sarah Bernhardt returned to the New York stage last evening. She embodied the major rôles in three of the four short French plays that made up the program at the Empire—the Empire packed from orchestra to gallery with sentiment, good will, and, in increasing measure as the evening sped, with admiration, unbounded admiration.

It was such a gallant performance—in one sense the most wonderful performance, probably, that Mme. Bernhardt had ever given in a theatre in New York. It was inspiriting. Though you be in the Slough of Despond, you forget your bundles and trudge on your way—a little better for having seen her. It may not be the Divine Sarah at the Empire now. Certainly it is the Dauntless Sarah.

The performance last evening—the first of a busy three weeks' engagement—was less like a first night and more like a last night. The Empire was filled to overflowing. They were standing downstairs and in the balconies. The spirit of the gathering first manifested itself when the red curtains rose and disclosed her reclining on the couch of Cleopatra. The applause was deafening—it redoubled when she rose and held wide her arms.

There were cheers then as those on the other side of the footlights rose also. Then when that play was done there were the ushers staggering down the aisles under great baskets of flowers, there were the bouquets hurtling through the air from the boxes, and there was Rose Coghlan standing on the stage welcoming her in behalf of the American players. Mme. Bernhardt stood throughout this demonstration, and when Miss Coghlan bowed over the outstretched hand, Bernhardt bent forward and kissed her on the cheek.

It was in the stage trappings and unearthly light of "La Mort de Cléopâtre" that Bernhardt looked a beautiful and curiously ageless being from some other planet. It was in the trashy and preposterous "L'Holocauste" that her age, the weariness of the flesh, and the torturing cold were most in evidence. It was in "Du Théâtre au Champ d'Honneur," the death scene of the wounded color bearer, that the spirit triumphed and the audience was most richly rewarded.

The scene was a war-torn forest somewhere in France. You saw the dying standard-bearer groping deliriously for his colors, chanting fragments of half-remembered verse, and at the end, transported in a vision of victory. Out of the text—in respect for our neutrality—had come the war song with its refrain, "Ne leur pardonnez pas, ils savent ce qu'ils font," and in its place was Victor Hugo's "Patria," superbly spoken. This was the great moment of the evening.

A little French comedy, "La Paix Chez Soi," served as an interlude between the second and third appearances of Mme. Bernhardt. Before each of her plays Margaret Mower played the part of chorus, and glowered curiously in the process. There was a large and unimpressive retinue of players—with efficient support given by Jean Angelo, son of the actor who played with her on her first tour to this country. But after all, the evening was all Bernhardt, the otherwise valueless playlets eminently forgettable save as they were useful for her present purposes. And it was by no means a mere succès de curiosité.

Admiration and wonder at her gallantry filled all the evening, an emotion deepened as now and again a phrase took on a special significance. Cleopatra would die a queen—"encore et toujours Reine." And the dying actor on the field of honor caught his colors to his breast and sighed: "C'est mon dernier rôle!" And, richer in meaning than ever before, the Bernhardt motto in letters of gold on the velvet curtain. "S. B.—Quand Même."

MAUD ALLAN AS SALOME.

Her Dance Interpretation Interests Audience at the Palace.

Maud Allan began her second week at the Palace yesterday with a new program that included her famous "Salome" dance, and Anitra's dance from Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite." Miss Allan has given her dance interpretation of Salome's feelings after the Prophet's head was given her on several occasions before in New York, but this was the first time an American vaudeville audience had had an opportunity of seeing it. Yesterday afternoon's audience watched it quietly and closely, which, in a vaudeville audience, indicates interest.

William Rock and Frances White are also retained from last week. A movie burlesque acted to the accompaniment of flickering lights is an amusing bit of their program. Jack Wilson, Milo, and Emmet Devoy are among the other favorites on the bill.

COLUMBIA CLUB MAY MOVE.

Members to Vote on Favored Uptown Site Thursday.

A meeting of the Columbia University Club has been called for Thursday night when the members will vote on the proposal to move from 18 Gramercy Park to an uptown site. A plan will be presented from the Board of Governors, recommending that the club purchase the leasehold of the Hotel Renaissance, at 10 West Forty-third Street, and alter that building for the new clubhouse. The hotel is 125 feet west of Fifth Avenue. It is seven stories in height, covering a frontage of 125 feet, and at an expense of about $50,000 could be adapted for club use.

Last year the members were polled on a plan to move as soon as a suitable site could be obtained, and more than 75 per cent. of the replies favored the change.

"The Golden Doom" and a Japanese Play at the Portmanteau.

An agreeable afternoon is provided by the pleasing, but far less substantial, program with which Stuart Walker inaugurated yesterday the second week of his Portmanteau season on the stage of the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre. As before, there are three pieces, and, as before, one of these is by Lord Dunsany. This is "The Golden Doom," an ironic comedy previously presented in London, in several Russian cities, and by at least one group of amateur players in New York, but never given to the public here until yesterday afternoon.

In a distant and ancient city, a little boy's scrawl on the King's great door, is misread as an ominous warning from the stars. Advised by all the prophets, the King offers up his crown as sacrificial propitiation, and all are so intent upon the unconcerned heavens that they do not see this same little boy make off with the crown under the pleasant delusion that the gods have sent him the new toy for which he had prayed. Thus does it seem that the sacrifice has been accepted and the stars appeased. And the King and all his people rejoice. This Dunsany play is a slighter and less dramatic thing than "The Gods of the Mountain," and it suffers less, though not inconsiderably, from the physical limitations of the Portmanteau.

"The Legend of the Weeping Willow Tree" is Mr. Walker's own reworking of an old Japanese legend, wherein an evil spirit, the Gaki of Kokoru, sows love in human hearts that he may feed on love's sorrows, but finds that love's happiness and faith are armors stronger than he can penetrate. This is prettily and tastefully staged and well played, notably by Florence Wollersen, whose voice is singularly beautiful and sympathetic.

This time Gregory Kelly gives us a charming boyishness where a commanding romantic fervor is called for, but he is in his element in the saucy interlude. His is the title rôle in "The Very Naked Boy," a little before-the-curtain fragment, which is most entertaining. Dorothea Carothers, who looks like Ruth Shepley, is altogether charming in this comedy of a proposal interrupted by the discovery of a half-clad younger brother in refuge behind the portières. Mr. Walker's interludes are as slight as the Dolly Dialogues and not unlike them. In that old book by Anthony Hope, come to think of it, a wealth of material lies waiting for the Portmanteau.

CLAUDIA MUZIO'S DEBUT.

Italian Soprano Warmly Greeted as Tosca—Caruso as Cavaradossi.

Puccini's "Tosca" was sung for the first time this season at the Metropolitan Opera House last night with unusual features attending the performance. It marked the début of Claudia Muzio, a young Italian soprano who had been called in to fill the vacancy left by the departure of Lucrezia Bori, and was the first Italian to sing the rôle at the Metropolitan, and the first appearance of Caruso in the rôle of Cavaradossi for several seasons.

In many ways the new soprano justified the interest taken in her appearance. She is young and beautiful. It is possible to feel enthusiasm over her acting, which is composed, animated, intelligent, and tasteful. She has dramatic feeling, and an individuality governs her work. Of her voice, judgment will be more accurate if it is reserved for later occasions, when she is more at ease and more familiar with the acoustics of the house.

It was to be noticed last night that she was always willing to sacrifice vocal display to the need of coloring a phrase to suit the dramatic intention of the moment. Melodramatic "Tosca" is scarcely the opera in which a conscientious singer of the title rôle can give a comprehensive idea of her vocal equipment, but Miss Muzio established the fact that her voice is of fresh and agreeable quality and that she governs it artistically. She was enthusiastically received by the audience, which seemed to accept her as a very interesting artist, which she undoubtedly is.

Caruso delighted his audience, and his consideration for the new singer was a pleasant feature of his singing.

AUTOGRAPHS BRING $1,278.

George D. Smith Pays $150 for Manuscript of Abraham Lincoln.

American and foreign autographs were sold at the Anderson Galleries yesterday. The total was $1,278.75. George D. Smith paid the highest price, $150, for Catalogue No. 197, an autograph manuscript of Abraham Lincoln, dated 1846. It is the answer of Andrew Elliott in an action brought by John Berry. It contains Lincoln's name twice, once as "A. Lincoln," and once as "Lamborn and Lincoln."

Mr. Smith also gave $120 for No. 44, the original log of the United States frigate Chesapeake, covering the period of her capture by the British frigate Leopard, June 22, 1807. Lieutenant William H. Allen kept the log of the Chesapeake, and, after the surrender, drew up a letter of protest for the officers, urging the trial of Commodore James Barron, who was in command of the vessel. In 1813 Allen was killed in a fight with the British brig Pelican. Allen Street, New York, was named for him. The log is entirely in his hand. It begins on June 6, 1807, and ends on July 8, 1807. It gives a full report of the surrender in detail; the descriptions cover five pages quarto. Barron was tried by court-martial and suspended for five years. He never had another active command. He blamed Commodore Decatur for this, and killed him in a duel.

A letter of Charles Dickens, No. 132, written shortly before his death, to Harper & Brothers, regarding sending them advance sheets of "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," went to Mr. Smith for $50. Dickens explains that he had forgotten a contract which he had made with Fields, Osgood & Co. A. Stern obtained for $35 No. 198, a document dated 1862, signed by Lincoln and Gideon Welles. Patrick F. Madigan gave $110 for No. 286, a set of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, lacking eight names. The set consists chiefly of documents and signatures.

$57,400 FOR CHARITIES UNION

Volunteer Effort for Jewish Federation on "Sisterhood Day."

A total of $57,400 was raised on "Sisterhood Day," which opened yesterday the "Federation Week Drive," organized to raise $500,000 needed to make up the minimum of $2,000,000 which it is estimated will make possible the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies of New York City. More than 450 volunteers reported at the Hotel Biltmore headquarters for work during the day. The twenty-two sisterhoods of the city were represented by volunteers.

More than 300 women appeared before noon and got lists of ten persons each whom they are to see during the week. The committee has prepared a list of all persons who contributed to Jewish charities last year and who have not made any contributions so far this year. There are more than 3,000 names on the list.

The volunteers were addressed by Mrs. Samuel Elkeles, President of the Federation of Sisterhoods of New York; Mrs. William Einstein, and Mrs. Sidney Borg. Mrs. Felix Warburg, together with the Presidents of the twenty-two sisterhoods represented, acted as hostesses.

This is young men and young women's day, under the supervision of Mrs. Amiel Baerwald. The committee today includes Mrs. Emil Baerwald, Mrs. Stephen Wise, Mrs. A. Bijur, Mrs. Meyer Hecht, Mrs. Sidney Sternbach, Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, Mrs. Alexander Kohut, Mrs. Julius Beer, Mrs. M. H. Moses, Miss Carrie Wise, and Mrs. Leon Kamaiky.

Evelyn Starr's Violin Recital.

Miss Evelyn Starr, a violinist from Canada, who has already given several recitals in New York, reappeared yesterday afternoon in the Comedy Theatre. The most important numbers of her program were Beethoven's sonata for pianoforte and violin in C minor and Nardini's concerto in E minor, of course accompanied by the pianoforte. She played also two groups of smaller pieces. Good tone, correct intonation, finish of technique, nice taste, and a proper understanding of what she undertook made her playing agreeable and enjoyable, if not often stirring. Richard Epstein contributed to the enjoyment by his accompaniments.

The other recital of the afternoon was given by Maude De Voe, soprano, who made her first appearance here at Aeolian Hall in a recital of songs in German, French, and English, with the assistance of William Lester at the piano. She did not prove to be a singer of unusual gifts.

CALL MONEY RATES REACH 15 PER CENT.

Highest Quotation for Demand Loans on Stock Exchange Collateral Since November, 1912.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER DOWN

Common Stock Drops from 67⅞ to 64—Preferred Closes at 104⅜, a Loss of 1 Point for the Day.

Wall Street was treated yesterday to the senation of a sudden advance in call money rates to 15 per cent. This is the highest rate quoted for demand loans made on Stock Exchange collateral since the last week in November, 1912, when 20 per cent. was paid.

At the opening loans were made at 6, but it was not long before rates advanced to 8, 9, and 11 per cent., with very little money offered. Late in the afternoon rates ascended to 12 and 15 per cent. Most of the loans, it was said, were made at 6, and the closing quotation was 7 per cent. The out-of-town banks were the chief lenders until J. P. Morgan & Co. came into the market and freely supplied the demand, with the result that the abnormally high rates soon disappeared. Many of the large Wall Street banks, which were large lenders on Friday of last week, when rates went up to 6½ per cent., called loans yesterday.

The flurry in money rates had an effect upon the stock market, many of the issues showing net losses for the day. International Paper, common, sold down from 67⅞ to 64, a loss of 3 points, and the preferred touched 104, closing at 104⅜, a loss of 1 point for the day. Ohio Cities Gas suffered a loss of 3½, Gulf States Steel 3, and Texas Company, 3¼.

It was generally agreed in influential banking circles that the high rates were only temporary, and that the condition of the money market would be much improved, especially in view of the fact that gold to the value of $50,000,000 would be received here during the current week.

Various explanations were offered by bankers for the sudden rise in money rates. The chief reason was the reduction of surplus reserves of the city banks, Saturday's Clearing House statement indicating an excess reserve of about $41,000,000 on deposits aggregating more than $3,300,000,000. This is the lowest surplus reserve since the establishment of the Federal Reserve system on Nov. 16, 1914, when the law reducing the legal reserve requirements from 25 to 18 per cent. went into effect. The condition of the banks as reflected in figures was still more aggravated yesterday when the day's clearings showed that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York was a creditor at the Clearing House to amount in excess of $14,000,000. This meant that members of the Clearing House had to pay out that much money in settling their exchanges.

At the New York Reserve Bank, it was said that the banks had not availed themselves of the rediscounting facilities of the institution. Only a few applications for discounts were received during the course of the day, and these were for small amounts and from small banks. No bank, it was said, applied for a fifteen-day loan, which the recent amendment to the Reserve act has made possible.

There are two reasons why the member banks have not made use of the Reserve Bank to a larger extent. First, it is because the institution is new and many of the smaller banks are disposed to make arrangements with their New York correspondents rather than apply to the Reserve Bank for accommodation; and secondly, because the Reserve Bank can only indirectly aid in supply of cash required for Stock Exchange transactions. A bank desiring to avail itself of the facilities of the Reserve Bank would have to rediscount its commercial loans and use the proceeds for accommodating its Stock Exchange customers. This is something that the banks are not disposed to do; the general practice followed by most institutions is to limit the funds loaned out on Stock Exchange collateral and not to disturb the loans made to commercial houses.

INTER-MET INVESTORS SUE.

Preferred Holders Ask Receiver and Voiding of Merger.

A suit by preferred stockholders of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company for the appointment of a receiver for the company as it was constituted on June 1, 1915, because of dissatisfaction with provisions made for their interests through the merger of the company with the Interborough-Consolidated Corporation, was filed in the Supreme Court yesterday by Henry V. Rice, in behalf of himself and other shareholders. The complaint names as defendants the directors of the Interborough-Metropolitan, the Interborough-Consolidated Corporation, and the Finance and Holding Corporation, in addition to the corporations themselves.

The plaintiff charges that as a result of the consolidation the preferred shareholders of Interborough-Metropolitan, who are entitled to 5 per cent. interest yearly, have been "defrauded" out of 5 per cent in accumulated and unpaid dividends, for the benefit of the common stockholders, including the individual directors of the corporations named. The par value of the Interborough-Metropolitan preferred stock in question is $45,740,000.

It is further alleged that in order to destroy the stock's value and to compel the stockholders to forego the accumulated dividends and accept less valuable stock of the Interborough-Consolidated, the defendants caused the stock to be stricken from the Stock Exchange list. They accordingly ask that the consolidation be declared void and that the individual directors render an accounting.

French Revive "Arsene Lupin."

"Arsene Lupin," the melodrama by de Croisset and Le Blanc, presented by Lucien Bonheur's company of French players several times last season at the Berkeley Lyceum, was revived by that company last night at the Garrick. The drama affords Edgar Becman, one of the company's most finished actors, an excellent rôle, and his performance was largely responsible for the play's frequent repetition. Mr. Becman was in the cast again last night. The rôle of Sonia, last played by Yvonne Garrick, was taken by Mitsie Marsa, one of the new members of the organization.

Aborn Company Sings "Butterfly."

The Aborn Opera Company began a week's performances to be distributed between "Madame Butterfly" and "Il Trovatore," with a hearing of the former opera at the Park Theatre last night. Edith Helena and Salvatore Giordano had the principal rôles and Ignaccio del Castillo conducted.

REBUKED BY MR. STRAUS.

Utilities Chairman Objects to Reference to His Private Affairs.

Representatives of the factions in Brooklyn and Queens who are interested in the third tracking of the Fulton Street elevated railroad in Brooklyn had a chance to give their views yesterday to the Public Service Commission. A third track has been installed on the line as far west as Cumberland Street, and some persons want it continued to the end of the route, and others want it diverted into side streets either as an elevated or as a subway.

Thomas M. Farley, representing the Downtown Taxpayers' Association, drew a rebuke from Chairman Oscar S. Straus of the commission when he said: "Mr. Straus, I am acquainted with the Straus family and have been all my life. If you don't put that third track in Fulton Street good-bye to the business of Abraham & Straus."

"You have no right to make such an appeal to me in regard to any interests that you suppose I have, but which I have not," retorted Mr. Straus. "And if I did have any private interest of any kind, direct or contingent, that would be influenced by any decision that this commission would make in the matter, I would not sit here."

Briefs will be filed within the week on the Fulton Street situation.

RUSSIAN BYZANTIUM.

The Russian Premier's announcement in the Duma of an agreement made by Great Britain, France, and Russia, in 1915, consented to by Italy afterward, establishing "in the most definite manner the right of Russia" to the Dardanelles and Constantinople, confirms officially what has long been rumored and believed. The promise of such a realization of the secular hope and necessity of Russia must be a powerful impulse to the national patriotism. The enthusiasm of that vast awakened people is stirred not merely by the passion, freshly seen again in the fall of STUERMER, to overthrow German dominance and influence, but by the opportunity to fulfill a strong and lasting aspiration. Economically Russia gains, on paper, to be sure, as yet, the long-sought outlet of the Black Sea and access to the Mediterranean. But there is much more than that in the Russian popular feeling. Byzantium is a holy city to the Russians, who have crusaded against the Ottoman infidels. A religious emotion supplements the economic motive, and to the Slav temperament is even more appealing.

It was a long blunder of British foreign policy, the support of Turkey against Russia, a blunder apparently founded on the myth that it has been the permanent aim of Russia to deprive Great Britain of India and achieve world power. A spurious "Testament of PETER the Great," which made its first appearance in 1811 and has been attributed to NAPOLEON, may have been the origin of the myth. NAPOLEON coquetted with ALEXANDER I. about Constantinople, which he pretended to offer him. His talk of assailing India by land with Russian assistance helped the growth of English suspicion of Russia. CASTLEREAGH was so afraid of her designs that at the Congress of Vienna he objected to the cession of Poland to her. More than once in the nineteenth century it seemed that Turkey's hour to decamp from Europe had come. Great Britain postponed it. NICHOLAS I. naturally objected to the possession of the Dardanelles and Constantinople by a Power of the first rank like England. Such a Power established there could control the Black Sea and assail Russia in her weakest spot. To their occupation by a small Power or to their internationalization he would not object.

In 1853, before the Crimean war, as in 1829, when the Russians got as far as Adrianople, his policy was fair. He was willing to let England have Egypt if Russia's position in the Black Sea was not endangered. England would not listen. She was possessed by Russophobia. The Crimean war, many slaughters of Christians, the Russo-Turkish war, are in no small measure at her door. After the war of 1877 she helped rob Russia of the fruits of her victory. Russia consoled herself by bothering her enemy in the East. On the Indian border, in Afghanistan, in Beluchistan, everywhere, Russian intrigue and Russian force were felt or suspected. So DISRAELI worked steadily into the hands of BISMARCK. So for years England pretty steadily played the game of her enemies. "The more absurd an effort to attack India would "be, the more it will scare the Eng"lish," NAPOLEON chuckled. Since the Entente of 1907, more especially since the war, the Russian bugaboo has faded. Doubtless there are lingering dupes of it in England still. Doubtless, too, the agreement mentioned by Premier TREPOFF contains provision for naval bases or other privileges for the other contracting Powers. And the hare is still a long way from catching.

A saying of NAPOLEON'S, or attributed to him, that Constantinople is "the key of the world," may have helped the growth of the British legend of the woes that would follow the creation of a Muscovite Constantinople. BISMARCK once said in the Reichstag that if the Dardanelles are the key to world dominion the Sultan must have dominated the world since 1453. Dr. PAUL ROHRBACH, of "German Thought" fame, now views with alarm "The Russian Danger." He is convinced that "either Constantinople "will mean world power for Germany "by stifling Russia, or will give it to "Russia by stifling Germany's future." Weltmacht again! BISMARCK, the old-fashioned statesman who was content with a Germany "satiate" with power, had the Machiavellian thought that it would be "a good thing for "Germany if the Russians were to "establish themselves at Constanti"nople and had to defend it." It is, in fact, a hard position to defend.

It must be from 190 to 200 miles from the Dardanelles entrance to the Bosporus egress. Is Russia to have the inland region up to the famous "Enos-Midia line," 120 miles long, from Enos, over against Samothrace, to Midia on the Black Sea? Gallipoli peninsula, the coast of the Gulf of Saros, the Dardanelles passage, must be defended. And unless Russia is to occupy the Asiatic shore and hinterland, assault from that quarter must be guarded against. "The freedom of navigation for the Rumanian flag," spoken of by Mr. TREPOFF, reminds us that Russia cannot reach Constantinople by land save through Rumania and Bulgaria. Northern Asia Minor would give her a land route from the Caucasus to the Straits.

Is Russia's long quest of an ice-free port to be ended at last? Mr. TREPOFF'S announcement is evidently meant to show, among other things, the entire harmony of the Allies. To the Berlin-to-Bagdad dreamers in Germany a Russian Constantinople is the end of the world.

SAFETY FOR THE BIRDS.

Approval of the treaty for the protection of migratory birds recently ratified by the Governments of the United States and Canada has now been given by Great Britain. As the treaty was signed by President WILSON some time ago, nothing remains to put it into effect save the formal exchange of ratified copies by the two countries involved. Therefore it may be said that the final step has been taken in what is probably the most important movement for the protection of birds ever instituted in this country or the Dominion. The treaty will be in force for fifteen years, and will automatically renew itself from year to year after that period, unless one of the contracting parties gives twelve months' notice of a desire to terminate it. It is not probable that such a contingency will ever arise.

The most vital provisions of this treaty, which was brought to the point of signature largely through the untiring efforts of the American Game Protective Association, are:

> That no bird important to agriculture because it is an insect destroyer shall be shot at any time.
>
> That no open season on any species of game birds shall extend for a longer period than three and one-half months.
>
> That both the United States and Canada shall so restrict open seasons on game birds as to prevent their being taken during the breeding season.
>
> That there shall be no shipment from one country to the other of birds which are taken contrary to law.

Under a treaty such as this it is apparent that not only will the many valuable species of game birds which journey annually across the border in their migratory flights be adequately protected, but also that the even more important insectivorous birds may go and come in entire safety. By the consequent service to the farmer this treaty may easily have a favorable influence on the cost of living in both countries.

PENROSE THE CRUSADER.

It may be assumed that Senator PENROSE'S proposed bill for Federal supervision of elections will not pass at this session, but that is only part of the story. It will not pass at the next session, or the next, for the Democrats will be in control of the Senate in the Sixty-fifth Congress. If the Republicans should capture a majority of the Senate and House in the next election, it could perhaps pass the first session of the Sixty-sixth Congress—that is, at some time in the year 1920—but only to meet with the President's veto. Mr. PENROSE, therefore, does not propose this measure with any idea of its becoming law at any time before the Spring of 1922. It is not Mr. PENROSE'S habit to concern himself with things so far in the distance; he is no rapt idealist like, say, PERCY BYSSHE SHELLEY, embarking with enthusiasm on agitations to bring about a new heaven and earth, and counting a generation as a mere moment in progress toward the ideal.

In fact, we may assume that legislation is the least of Mr. PENROSE'S concerns in this project. His is that form of wisdom which said, thirty years ago, "There is one more Presidency in the bloody shirt." His bill is only a bill in form; in effect it is the debating society formula, "Re"solved, That the poet is greater than "the statesman"; or, in the present case, "Resolved, That the 145 elec"toral votes of the South give the "Democratic Party an unfair advan"tage." The Republican Party is bankrupt in issues. It does not stand for anything whatever. During the late campaign it could not give a single reason why it should be returned to power. It is about in the position of the Democratic Party in 1880. Here is an issue.

It is an issue which, from the Penrose point of view, might heal the Republican breach. There is no use in trying to bring about a compromise between the Republicans and the Progressives. The Progressives have now defeated two Republican Presidential candidates in succession, and probably can defeat another. The only compromise they will hear of is complete surrender and abdication, which has no soothing sound in the ears of a Penrose. Since compromise is impossible, the only way is to drop the whole subject, take up something new, and get everybody talking about it. The only kind of subject that will do the trick is something on which men's passions can be inflamed, on which they can hate. So Mr. SEWARD proposed to end the civil war by declaring war on England, counting on the South to forget its hatred of the North in the chance to whack the traditional enemy. Now, there is no subject on which men can so surely be trusted to lose their reason, get red in the eyes, and forget not only their differences but everything else, as a sectional controversy, provided it is kept up long enough and argued acridly enough. And this controversy can be kept up for the next four years without danger of a decision, while anger mounts steadily higher and the voice of reason is heard less and less.

It is not a very patriotic program, not a very high-minded one; indeed, it is rather a contemptible and wicked one. The South most certainly does possess an unfair advantage in having its nonvoters counted as voters, so that a handful of Southerners are more potent than a great number of Northerners. It is one of the many inequalities in our patchwork system with which we have put up for the sake of peace and the interests of the nation as a whole. To undertake a crusade now against this inequality, one which if successful can only endanger the peace and welfare of the Union, for the benefit of a bankrupt party, to draw a red herring across the trail to divert the attention of the Progressive recalcitrants, is a deed which might well move one to harsh words—perhaps even to such a very harsh saying as that it is just what might be expected from PENROSE.

UNSELFISH INTERVENTION.

Those here and abroad who are familiar with the record of events in the West Indies during the last decade must admit that our Government, in what it has done in Santo Domingo since 1906, has been moved almost exclusively by a desire to give the benefits of peace to people tormented by repeated revolutions. And the work has been carried on at considerable cost in money and lives. It is true that chronic disorder might in normal times tend to cause interference from Europe which we should not be willing to permit, but during the last two years there has been no danger of such interference, and European creditors probably are satisfied with the recent payment of about half of the republic's foreign debt, as a direct result of our Government's action.

Santo Domingo has now been placed by the forces of the United States under military rule, for the restoration of order and to insure fair voting at the approaching election. The situation imperatively demanded such intervention, which is permitted by the terms of a treaty nine years old. Customs dues have been collected and controlled by American officers, in order that payments on the foreign debt might be made to fiscal agents in New York. It is intended that after the election a new treaty shall be negotiated, like the one with Haiti, authorizing American supervision of all Dominican finances and providing for a native constabulary or police force under the command of American officers. All this is to be done in the interest of peace and to enable the Dominican people to develop their industries. The new Military Governor, Captain KNAPP, says that our course is approved by 90 per cent. of the republic's business men. There is to be no interference with the native courts or local civil authorities.

Revolutions in Santo Domingo and Haiti can be prevented by firm and complete American supervision of customs receipts and all other public funds, for, as a rule, the leaders of uprisings seek control of the public money. There will be such supervision in both Santo Domingo and Haiti. The United States could easily conquer and annex them. But our Government does not seek to acquire territory, nor does it ask for preferential advantages, commercial or otherwise. The people of the island should realize that it is their best friend.

THE MILITIA SITUATION.

Major General O'RYAN'S praise of the National Guard, in an article contributed to The Seventh Regiment Gazette, is creditable to both his heart and his head. He makes light of the complaints of the guardsmen about their enforced service on the frontier and declares that "the mobil"ization in New York worked with a "rapidity and freedom from friction "which surpassed expectation." The defects in the transportation system were, of course, not due to the National Guard. There is no disposition to blame the organized militia for the deficiencies of the departments at Washington. But the people of this country are not disposed to lend a serious ear to any praise of the militia at the expense of the regular army. They know very well that the militia, especially in a few of the larger States, has improved greatly in military knowledge and discipline lately. They know that some of the units have made splendid records for efficiency on the border.

The Twelfth Infantry of this State, now involved in a disturbing controversy, is one of these. Officered since June largely by regular army men, this regiment has won unusual distinction. Yet the men who compose it know perfectly well that they have not yet reached the efficiency of regular troops. All the National Guardsmen of the rank and file are willing enough to admit that, even after six months of arduous service on the border, they lack the discipline and military ability of regular army men who have had continuous intensive training for two years or more under the best conditions.

There is not a particle of ill-feeling throughout the country against the rank and file of the National Guard. On the contrary, their prompt response to the call and their heroic work have gained for them the heartiest admiration. The experiment on the border, regarded from every point of view, however, is accepted as clear proof that the attempted federalization of the militia under the Hay law has failed, that the militia sections of the bill should be repealed and steps taken for the formation of a citizen soldiery under exclusive Federal control, free from all political influences. The State troops will not suffer from this change in the law and they will always constitute a reserve to be called upon in case of war. It is clearly seen that the Hay plan to increase the National Guard to more than 400,000 within five years can never be carried out.

It is reported from Washington that the Militia Division of the General Staff has reported to the Secretary of War that the attempt to federalize the guard has failed. This report has not been made public. But, if it exists, it cannot be long withheld. Of the quality of the men in the guard there is not a word to be said in dispraise, but the system under which civilian officers, without sufficient training, may outrank regular army officers of long experience is wholly defective. Senator BORAH announced yesterday that he would introduce immediately a bill for the repeal of the Federalization act. "It will be useless," said the Senator, "to "attempt universal military training "while the militia law remains on the "statute books." To a reasonable plan of universal military training we are coming rapidly. The people throughout the country are awake to the absolute need of that system in a republic.

THE OLD FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Wall Street has had for so long a period the reputation of insistent devotion to materialism that it is interesting to look backward through the medium of the bicentennial celebration that began Sunday morning of the Old First Presbyterian Church to the time when Wall Street was known for other things than stocks, bonds, and banking houses. The Old First, as it has been popularly known since its erection in 1846 in lower Fifth Avenue, was for more than a century the Wall Street Church. Erected in 1719 on the site now occupied by the Bankers Trust Company, it shared with Trinity, then as now, looking down that great thoroughfare of human energy, in the contribution to the spiritual welfare not only of the street but of the entire city.

The First Presbyterian Church is coeval with the organization of Presbyterianism in New York. That was in 1716, and it is pleasant to recall, as an evidence of the liberality of the city fathers, that they permitted the little band of dissenters to worship in the old City Hall, at the head of Broad Street, while their church home near by was building. Not until 1844 did the Wall Street congregation consent to leave the old site for what was then a jump into the uptown residential centre, just beginning around Washington Square and Fifth Avenue below Fourteenth Street. Yet even then it had established a name for beneficial influence upon the civic and religious life of the city, for from its membership were founded three of the largest churches of that denomination, the Scotch, the Brick, and the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian churches.

Among its early ministers were Dr. JOHN RODGERS, the patriot pastor, who was Chaplain during the Revolution to the New York State Conventions, in the years when the British used the Wall Street edifice as a barracks, and the Rev. Dr. SAMUEL MILLER, both of whom were celebrated for their learning, common-sense piety, and interest in municipal affairs. The present pastor, Dr. HOWARD DUFFIELD, who, by an interesting coincidence, has just completed his twenty-fifth year in the Old First Presbyterian Church, is a worthy successor of the early leaders of the Church, whatever denominational name it may bear, who have made their personality felt for good in the growth of the city. When confronted a few years ago with the serious problem of a downtown church with its declining membership, Dr. DUFFIELD set to work to preserve the Old First with all of its charming atmosphere, in the lower Fifth Avenue district, and an endowment fund of over $300,000 was raised. It is hoped that the amount will be generously supplemented during the double century celebration this week, for, like Trinity and St. Paul's in the downtown centre, the Old First has grown to be a landmark in its present situation, whose permanency New Yorkers would not like to see disturbed.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Compromise Highly Unsatisfactory.

After delays and appeals so numerous as to constitute a most serious arraignment of our system of legal procedure, the people who interested themselves in the Stielow case have secured at last a commutation of the condemned man's sentence to life imprisonment. Now they will set to work again to get for him a full pardon. The excellence of their motives need not be impugned, but there is room for question if their asserted, and perhaps sincere, belief in STIELOW'S innocence of the murder which he once confessed is not in large measure a permutation of their antagonism to capital punishment for anybody.

That antagonism is legitimate, and, whether wise or not, has a right to expression; but certainly it is not proper that men regularly convicted of murder under the law should escape the penalty of the law through exaggeration of a possibility too small and remote for the representatives of the law to see. Governor WHITMAN, who has heard again and again all that STIELOW'S friends could say in his behalf, remains convinced of the man's guilt; but the very possibility of innocence—which persists after practically every conviction of murder—has been so impressed upon his mind, as in like circumstances it would have been on the mind of any one official called upon to make the final decision as to life or death, that he has saved STIELOW from the electric chair.

That fact, in itself, none will regret, for it is almost as terrible to think of what goes on behind "the little green door" as it would be to see it. But the law has not been vindicated and our courts have not been upheld. With good reason our Governors can demand relief from bearing alone a responsibility so heavy and so obnoxious. The determination of such problems should be by a Board of Pardons, whose recommendations to the Governor should be final in all except rare and peculiar instances.

Better to Borrow Than Beg.

That the authorities of Columbia University should encourage and assist students of small financial resources to earn enough to pay in part or whole the cost of higher education is commendable, as are the young women and young men who have utilized the opportunities for making money which a large city supplies in so much greater number than do small towns or villages. Certainly collegiate facilities should not be restricted to the rich, or even to the well-to-do; and it is not without reason that the boy who "works his way through college," like the girl who does the same thing, deserves the praise that has always been given to both.

Those who know, however, the cost of such diversions and divisions of energy and attention from college pursuits, properly so called, cannot fail to regret their necessity, and they advise ambitious young men and women, in preference to attempting self-support during the years of study, to borrow the needed money from friends or relatives, if it can possibly be done. The other course only too often involves a lasting impairment of health, and almost invariably those who adopt it get from their stay in college appreciably less of value than do they who are not thus hampered.

Self-dependence at this time does, indeed, have its usual formative influences, and these in a measure make up for the losses incurred; but dependence is the natural status of youth, and it exerts then none of the demoralizing influences produced by it in later life. On the other hand, some of the occupations to which poor college students feel themselves forced to resort have influences distinctively injurious.

No young woman or man, for instance, can fail to be harmed by work that involves the seeking and taking of tips. Success in that wretched business is failure, and acquiescence in the humiliations it brings can hardly fail to leave permanent marks on character as well as repute. In other days teaching was the chief, almost the only, standby of the poor student—it is so still in some parts of the country—but the steadily growing demand that teachers should be trained for their task, even in rural schools, is fast putting this resource out of easy reach.

And it is not true that all work is honorable. Work the wage of which takes the form of tips ranks next to begging, which is also work of a sort, and ranks little, if any, above it.

A Common Street Experience.

When President WILSON, while on the way to church Sunday in his automobile, so narrowly escaped being run down by another car that came rapidly and suddenly from a cross street, his peril was exactly that encountered, and not always avoided, by every user of both city and country highways. It is a danger against which complete precautions are hardly practicable, even by the most careful drivers of automobiles, and it menaces people on foot as well, for, except by coming to a full stop before every crossing, it is next to impossible to be sure of safety from careless motor folk.

Even when the latter are not going at great speed, they make or threaten trouble by their unexpected emergence into traffic moving at right angles with their own direction. The need to do this cautiously seems to be the last lesson learned by many automobilists, and some of them never learn it. Almost everywhere the law aims at the elimination of this evil, but either the laws are badly devised or they are ill enforced.

The War in Our Waters.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read in THE TIMES that, although incoming vessels belonging to the Allies might be torpedoed by U-boats, our naval officers forbade wireless warnings to be sent them, and I have been wondering how we would feel if the Lusitania had been nearing our shores instead of the English coast and, while we knew her danger, we had refused to warn her because of our neutrality.

JOHN C. MATHER.

New York, Dec. 1, 1916.

TO A HILLTOP.

Sing me a song of a hilltop fair,
Where pines and the white birch grow,
Where the sky looks down with a radiant smile
And jewels the lakes below.

Sing of the woods all green and cool,
With the sunlight filtering through,
Of hidden pools and tumbling brooks
And tall ferns wet with dew.

Make me a hymn to the mountains far,
Gold-crowned by the setting sun,
While the night wind whispers with soft, warm breath
That one more day is done.

The fields grow white beneath the moon,
The dark pines croon and nod,
And high on the hill, with the world below,
The soul is at home with God.

MILDRED SEITZ.

WANT $752,123,457 FOR DEFENSE PLANS

Army and Navy Estimates of Appropriations Desired Are Received by Congress.

INCREASE IS $136,502,523

Total for 1917 and 1918 Exceeds $1,367,000,000 — More Than $20,000,000 for Aviation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The total appropriations asked from the present Congress session by the Government for military preparedness in fulfillment of the national defense plans, as adopted by Congress last August, is $752,123,457.63. The amount appropriated for military and naval preparedness for the current fiscal year of 1917 is $615,616,934.50. For the fiscal years of 1917 and 1918, therefore, the total planned to be spent for national military and naval establishments—including plans for increasing both the army and the navy—amounts to $1,367,740,392.

For the army the plans call for the enlargement of the regular establishment until it includes 280,663 officers and men at war strength, and the federalization of the National Guard as well as the formation of a trained reserve corps, and collection of vast reserve stocks of war munitions.

For the navy the plans call for the expenditure of more than $500,000,000 on 157 new war vessels of various types. The army increase is spread over five years; the naval increase over three years. The new units for the navy to be begun within three years, including those authorized to be begun at once, are 10 battleships, 6 battle cruisers, 10 scout cruisers, 50 destroyers, 9 fleet submarines, 58 coast defense submarines, 1 special type submarine, 3 fuel ships, 1 repair ship, 1 transport, 1 hospital ship, 2 destroyer tenders, 1 fleet submarine tender, 2 ammunition ships, and 2 gunboats. Sixty-six of these were authorized by the naval act of 1916.

Details of the Estimates.

The estimates submitted today show these totals:

For the military establishment, including support of the regular army, National Guard, civilian military training, reserve corps, Military Academy, fortifications, arsenals, military posts, and miscellaneous	$372,971,755.96
For the naval establishment	379,151,701.67
Total for both	$752,123,457.63
Total for both in 1917	615,616,934.50
Total for 1917 and 1918	1,367,740,392.13
1918 increase over 1917	136,502,523.13

The total appropriated for the military establishment for the current fiscal year 1917 is $302,916,378.66. This means that the estimates for the military establishment for the fiscal year 1918 are $70,055,377.30 greater than the appropriations for the military establishment for the current year. It shows how the cost of the army is advancing as new regiments are formed and equipped and its supplies gathered.

The total appropriated for the naval establishment for the current fiscal year 1917 is $312,700,555.84. This means that the estimates submitted today for the naval establishment are $66,451,146.23 greater than the naval appropriations for the current fiscal year.

For the continuation of work on war vessels that have been heretofore authorized, including the sixty-six units authorized on August 29, 1916, the naval estimates call for an appropriation of $118,946,155. In addition, the naval estimates call for an appropriation of $96,962,200 for the proposed building program of 1918, which embraces forty-two units. These units are three dreadnought battleships, one battle cruiser, three scout cruisers, fifteen destroyers, four fleet submarines, fourteen coast submarines, one destroyer tender, one fleet submarine tender. These vessels are all in addition to those authorized on Aug. 29 to be begun within six months and represent the second annual increment in the three-year program. The sum of $118,946,155 asked for continuation of work on vessels already authorized, and of $96,962,200 for the first year of work on the proposed naval building program of 1918, means that the total amount asked for the increase of the navy in the estimates submitted today is $215,908,355 out of a grand total of $379,151,701 for the naval establishment.

The 1918 Naval Program.

For the 1918 naval building program Congress is asked to make the following appropriations:

Construction and machinery, (three battleships, one battle cruiser, three scout cruisers, fifteen destroyers, one submarine tender, and one destroyer tender)	$51,100,000
Hulls and outfits of four fleet submarines and fourteen coast submarines	15,800,000
Armor and armament of above vessels	21,650,000
Ammunition for above vessels	8,412,200
Total	$96,962,200

For the continuation of work on vessels already authorized, some of which are under construction and the rest of which are just about to be begun, Congress is also asked to appropriate during this session these amounts:

Construction and machinery	$73,639,902
Submarines	16,816,110
Armor and armament	25,000,000
Ammunition	3,490,143
Total	$118,946,155

More than $20,000,000 is asked for aviation for the army and navy in the estimates just submitted. The sum of $16,000,000 is asked for the Signal Service of the army, of which $15,600,000 is to be used for the aviation branch of the Signal Service, out of which latter sum $3,000,000 is to be spent on the establishment of aviation schools. During the fiscal year 1916 the army spent only $800,000 on aviation. The appropriation of $15,600,000 for army aviation is proposed to be spent as follows:

Lighter-than-air equipment	$1,000,000
Aeroplanes and hydro-aeroplanes	6,200,000
Spare parts and accessories	1,625,000
Extra engines and spare parts	2,500,000
Hangars, buildings, and sites	1,200,000
Motor vehicles	480,000
Maintenance and operation of schools and squadrons	1,700,000
Development and experimental work	470,000

More than $60,000,000 is proposed to be spent on the development and strengthening of the National Guard, which, under the plans for its federalization, is to serve as the second arm of the army in National defense. For the pay of 10,307 officers of the National Guard the estimates ask for an appropriation of $3,396,940. For more than 200,000 members of the National Guard other than line officers the sum of $13,085,217 is asked.

The army has broad plans for civilian instruction. The estimates ask for $20,000 for rifle ranges for civilian instruction, $500,000 to encourage civilian rifle practice, $8,281,000 for civilian military training and Plattsburg camps, and $310,000 additional for arms for civilians attending Plattsburg camp.

OFFERS OWNERSHIP BILL.

Colorado Congressman Proposes Reprisal for Adamson Law Attacks.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Government ownership and operation of all interstate railroads, a reprisal for the attacks made upon the Adamson eight-hour law by the common carriers, was proposed in a drastic and peculiarly worded bill introduced in the House today by Representative Benjamin C. Hilliard, a Colorado Democrat.

Mr. Hilliard's measure provides that, unless the railroads withdraw their suits attacking the Adamson law before Dec. 20, the Government shall proceed forthwith to take over and operate all interstate carriers. He would also commit Congress to the policy of considering no railroad legislation as long as the railroad suits are pending.

NEAR-COAST CITIES LOSE.

Not Entitled to Tariffs of Pacific Ports, Supreme Court Rules.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Inland cities of the Pacific slope lost their fight in the Supreme Court today against an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission granting lower transcontinental railroad freight rates to San Francisco, Oakland, Portland, Seattle, and other coast cities.

Associate Justice Brandeis announced the unanimous decision of the court dissolving an injunction against enforcement of the order secured in the California Federal Court by the inland cities, which contended that they were entitled to classification as coast terminals and that water transportation through the Panama Canal, the basis of the lower rates to the coast, had ceased. The cities and towns affected number 182, including Sacramento, Stockton, San José, and Santa Clara.

The decision sustained the contentions of the Government, the commission, and the railroads in an appeal from the action of the lower court. Resort to the courts to nullify the commission's order was commented on in Justice Brandeis's opinion as follows: "To permit communities or shippers to seek redress for such grievances in the courts would invade and often nullify the administrative authority vested in the commission."

Upon the claim that Panama Canal steamship competition had been eliminated, Justice Brandeis said: "It was the increased effectiveness of water competition due to the opening of the Panama Canal—a notable change in conditions—which compelled the rate readjustment of which the inland cities complain."

Regarding the complaint of the inland cities that they were denied a hearing when the rate adjustments were under consideration, the Court said: "While it is proper and customary for communities or shippers interested to participate in hearings, there is no provision for notice to them."

To the assertion that the commission exceeded its authority in granting the lower rates to the coast cities, in alleged absence of application by the railroads for such action, this comment was made: "Such a construction would defeat the purpose of the amendment, (empowering the commission to authorize lower rates for long hauls than for short). It is at variance with the broad discretion vested in the commission. It is inconsistent with the intermountain rate cases, where the order sustained granted relief very different from that applied for."

SAY FORCE BILL WILL FAIL.

Better to Reduce Southern Representation, Congressmen Hold.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The statement of Senator Penrose last night that he intended to introduce measures for supervising Federal elections in the South caused considerable comment among Senators and Representatives today. Senator Penrose had little to add to his statement, except that he contemplated introducing two bills, one for Federal supervision of elections and the other to impose penalties for attempts to frustrate the terms of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Senators and Representatives are very generally of the opinion that it will be useless to try to obtain the enactment of a Federal supervision law. That form of legislation to meet the situation in the South died with the defeat of the so-called Force bill of 1890, they said. It was suggested by Republican Congressmen, however, that the condition of which Mr. Penrose complained could be met by reducing Southern representation in Congress through a law or by the action of the House in refusing to admit members who were elected from districts where a free ballot was not permitted. But it was pointed out that any such proposal would be certain to fail while the Democratic Party was in control of Congress.

HEAR PRESIDENT TODAY.

Big Demand for Tickets to Galleries —Session Opens Calmly.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The second session of the Sixty-fourth Congress opened today, but there was little in the day's program to distinguish it from the ordinary routine of the middle of a session. In the House alone, where an incipient demonstration in honor of Speaker Champ Clark was checked by the Speaker himself, were there any symptoms of a spirit of celebration, or, indeed, any unusual features whatever. The galleries, while comfortably filled, were not jammed as usual on big occasions in Congress.

The real opening day, so far as sentiment is concerned, will come tomorrow, when the Senate and House meet in joint session to hear the President's address. There has been a tremendous demand for tickets for the House galleries.

The sessions of both Houses today were brief. Seventy-nine Senators were present when Vice President Marshall called the Senate to order. A recess was taken until 3 o'clock, when the Senate adjourned out of respect for the memory of Senator Clarke of Arkansas. The administering of the oath of office to the three new Senators, Fernald of Maine, Kirby of Arkansas, and Watson of Indiana, was postponed until tomorrow.

Estimates of Appropriations.

Estimates of the expense of all branches of the Government for the fiscal year 1918, for which the session of Congress which assembled today must appropriate funds, total $1,268,715,834. This sum is exclusive of $325,355,820 to be appropriated for the postal service, which is expected to be returned to the Treasury by postal revenue, and a sinking fund appropriation of $60,748,000 toward the public debt.

The total appropriations for the fiscal year 1917 ending next June, exclusive of these two items, were $1,184,157,517. The increase of some $84,000,000 represents the general trend of the constantly increased cost of government, as well as the increased cost of living.

The estimates laid before Congress today by the Treasury Department follow:

Legislative	$13,524,479
Executive	688,379
State Department	6,315,847
Treasury Department	165,681,233
Independent offices	8,130,724
District of Columbia	17,885,026
War Department	421,352,447
Panama Canal	25,145,562
Navy Department	382,497,537
Interior Department	210,161,412
Post Office Department	1,765,760
Department of Agriculture	43,831,907
Department of Commerce	16,737,158
Department of Labor	4,690,677
Department of Justice	11,555,696

Speed-Up Policy Indorsed.

Hasty conferences of House leaders today convinced a majority that a speed-up program advocated by Speaker Clark will be adopted with only slight changes at the most. Majority Leader Kitchin joined with the Speaker in asserting that the usual long Christmas holiday should be dispensed with and an earlier meeting hour than noon, probably 10 o'clock, be set.

Speaker Clark asserted today that the next House, on the basis of the last election, would show at least 216 Democrats without Scully of New Jersey or Beakes of Michigan. He conceded 213 to the Republicans. These figures do not include the independent group of four, which, with the two in doubt, make a total of 435.

"We have the control of the House without any doubt," the Speaker said.

New Jersey Auto Road Tax Upheld.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—New Jersey's automobile license laws, which raise revenue for road maintenance by taxing motor cars, were sustained as constitutional today by the Supreme Court. They were attacked by Frank J. Kane of New York, who appealed from his conviction of violation.

FEDERALIZED GUARD CALLED A FAILURE

That Part of Hay Defense Act Likely to be Annulled at Present Session.

BORAH HAS REPEAL BILL

But Wants to Hear from Public What Shall Be Done to Fill the Gap—Universal Training.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—At the outset of the new Congressional session it is apparent that a strong opinion exists among Senators and Representatives that the Federalized National Guard has failed to attain its purpose. This opinion, it is expected, will soon crystalize in proposals to rescind the National Guard provisions of the National Defense act. Congressmen make obeisance to Lindley M. Garrison, ex-Secretary of War, and acknowledge that he was right in his contention that State troops were not suitable for the first line of national defense.

Congress, or a considerable part of it, has come back to its work imbued with the idea that some change should be made in the existing scheme, and the present session is very likely to see a reorganization of the volunteer army system. There are many differences of opinion as to the course of action called for, but Democrats and Republicans alike are dissatisfied with the provision of the Hay law which seeks to create a national military force by administering the Federal oath to the State militia.

Two inter-related factors have contributed most strongly to bring the National Guard question very pointedly to the attention of Congress and have helped in some measure to direct sentiment away from the Federalization feature. One, applying chiefly to the Democratic side, is the emphasis laid by the opposition during the recent campaign on the detention of the National Guard at the Mexican border. The other, affecting both parties alike, is the overwhelming mass of letters which have poured in on Senators and Representatives from the parents of boys on the border, seeking their release from the service.

These two factors have emphasized so clearly the dissatisfaction with the federalization plan that even strong supporters of the National Guard system, men who still maintain its utility and want it continued in the separate States, are ready to admit in private the failure of the Federalization provision. Many, probably the majority of them, have not made up their minds exactly what they want to see done with the system finally, but there is certain to be a great deal of warm support, particularly in the Senate, for a repeal of the federalization feature subjecting the guardsman to an oath requiring him to give the nation indefinite service.

Borah to Take the Initiative.

Senator Borah of Idaho has prepared a bill providing for the repeal of that section of the Hay measure. He expects to introduce it tomorrow. The reasons for his action, which he outlined today, seem common among most of the opponents of the federalization provision.

"I believe the federalization of the National Guard has been a complete and abject failure," Senator Borah said. "With no reflection on the individual members of the guard, the scheme has failed to give us a really efficient national force. Mexico has demonstrated it conclusively. In the first place, a large number of guardsmen refused at the beginning to take the Federal oath, and I know of any number of those who took it the first time who declare they will never renew it. Recruiting has fallen down, with no prospect of our being able to re-establish it on a successful basis.

"Many of the members of the guard now on the border firmly believe that they are carrying more of the burdens of defense than they should, and that the whole community ought to be assisting instead of placing it all on the shoulders of men picked out with no particular consistency and according to no well-regulated system. A good percentage of them have duties to which they ought to be giving their attention, and it can hardly be regarded as fair that they should have to neglect their business while the great mass of the manhood of the nation is let go scot free from the disagreeable duty. I have been showered particularly with letters from the fathers and mothers of boys who should be in school or in offices, asking that measures be taken to secure their sons' release. Such a demand on members of Congress alone establishes an almost impossible situation."

Senator Borah has not made up his mind just what form his further suggestions for legislation on the army question will take. He is introducing the present bill with the hope that, as it is brought before the public, it will induce general discussion of the problem, and may prove helpful in working out a solution. He thinks the measure will receive large support. While Mr. Borah is hardly willing to say that he advocates universal military service, he does believe that some more general form of military training is necessary, both for efficiency and for democracy in administration.

Approved by Chamberlain.

Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, said that he sympathized thoroughly with Mr. Borah's position, as far as it related to the breakdown of the federalized militia. He said, however, that he could not commit himself outright to the support of Mr. Borah's bill until he learned what substitute suggestion would be offered. He, himself, is a hearty advocate of universal military training, and introduced in the last session of Congress a bill providing for such a system.

Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania was equally emphatic in indorsing Mr. Borah's views on the federalization provision.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that the militia plan has failed on the Mexican border. As a substitute scheme I would like to see a plan providing for an enlargement of the regular army and a system of reservists who would enlist voluntarily in yearly training classes. I think if we gave them the proper inducements we could get 500,000 young men every year to take up training, especially if we arranged it so they could have a chance to travel to places like the Panama Canal and see something of service as it actually would be under war conditions. After the year in which they trained they could be given inducements to give say a few hours a week in keeping in condition. In this way we would rapidly secure a big reserve force. I do not believe that universal military service is either practicable or necessary."

JUDGES' POWERS CURTAILED

Cannot Indefinitely Suspend Sentences, Supreme Court Holds.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Federal Judges, the Supreme Court held today, do not possess inherent power, exercised for a century but without specific Congressional authority, to indefinitely suspend execution of criminal sentences imposed in their respective courts. Suspension by District Judge Killits of Ohio of sentence upon James J. Henahan of Toledo, convicted of bank embezzlement, was revoked. Chief Justice White gave the court's opinion.

"Of course there is a discretion lodged in every court," he said, "but that's a judicial discretion, a discretion to enforce the law—not to refuse to enforce it."

W. BARTON FRENCH WEDS MISS EMMET

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Emmet a Bride in St. Bartholomew's Chapel

AMIDST ROSES AND LILIES

Bride's Sister Is Her Only Attendant—Honeymoon to be Spent at Barton Lodge, Hot Springs, Va.

The wedding of William Barton French, the only son of Mrs. Seth Barton French and the late Mr. French, and Miss Jeannie Emmet, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coster Emmet, was celebrated at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's Church, Madison Avenue and Forty-fourth Street. Pots of growing pink roses and trails of roses and foliage with great clusters of pink Japanese lilies fastened in sheaves to the walls transformed the chapel into a garden. The Rev. Dr. Leighton S. Parks performed the ceremony.

Miss Emmet, who walked with her father, wore a white satin gown with plain satin train almost concealed by the voluminous veil of wonderful old point lace that was draped like a mantilla, and the edges formed a wide frill around her coiffure. The corsage was draped with point lace and the skirt was almost hidden by the three deep point lace flounces slanting up from the one side to the other. The elbow sleeves were large puffs of tulle. She wore a string of pearls and a diamond brooch and carried orchids and valley lilies.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Marie Louise Emmet, in a simple straight frock of pale pink satin, with a short separate train. The square-necked bodice was trimmed with crystal embroidered lace and her white lace hat was banded with brown fur and blue ribbons. Her flowers were pink roses. Mr. French had his nephew, Seth Barton French, as his best man, and the ushers were Henry C. Emmet, Jr., Watson Emmet, Maurice Roche, and Gardner Brown. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Emmet residence, 39 East Seventy-second Street.

Mr. French, who recently reached his twenty-first birthday, has bought from his mother Barton Lodge, her handsome villa, and the accompanying estate at the Virginia Hot Springs, where a large part of the honeymoon will be spent.

PAUL ROCKWELL MARRIED.

Mlle. Leygues, French Heiress, Becomes His Bride in Paris.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Paul Ayres Rockwell, brother of Kiffen Rockwell, the American airman recently killed in a fight with a German over Alsace, was married today to Mlle. Jeanne Leygues, daughter of Georges Leygues, former Minister and Member of the Chamber, and who is one of the wealthiest heiresses in France. The ceremony took place at St. Clothilde Cathedral.

Paul Deschanel, President of the Chamber of Deputies, and General Dufont were witnesses for the bride, Sergeant Wages MacConnell of the Flying Corps and the Vicomte de Peloux for the bridegroom. Mlle. Marguerite Laffont was bridesmaid, and Vicomte Georges de Fontenailles was best man. Besides the bride's family, the only other persons present were Mme. Waldeck-Rousseau, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prince and Lady Anglesey, who is a friend of Mr. Rockwell's mother.

The couple have gone to St. Raphael for the honeymoon.

Miss Treadwell Weds Tomorrow.

The marriage of Miss Jane Treadwell, the daughter of Harry Hayden Treadwell, the Secretary and Assistant Treasurer of Tiffany & Co., and Albert Kuntz, a son of I. J. Kuntz of Syracuse, will take place tomorrow evening at the residence of the bride's parents, 132 West 183d Street. The Rev. Father William Stewart of St. Elizabeth's will officiate. Miss Treadwell will be attended by Miss Marjorie Bangs as maid of honor, and Edward Kuntz will be his brother's best man. Mr. Kuntz recently returned from China, where he spent three years for the Standard Oil Company.

PARTIES FOR DEBUTANTES.

Misses Remsen and Hillhouse Introduced—Mrs. Bloodgood Hostess.

There were several entertainments for débutantes yesterday.

Mrs. Charles Remsen gave a reception and tea at her residence, 800 Madison Avenue, to introduce her daughter, Miss Elisabeth Remsen, a granddaughter of the late William Remsen. Mrs. Remsen and Miss Remsen received informally. Mrs. John R. Suydam, Mrs. William Appleton Burnham, and Mrs. Walton Oakley were at the table. Mrs. Remsen will give a dinner dance Thursday evening at her home for the débutante.

Mrs. Francis Hillhouse introduced her daughter, Miss Mary Fitch Hillhouse, at a tea dance in the ballroom of the Gotham. The room was banked with flowers, and there were several hundred guests. After the reception and dance Mrs. Hillhouse gave a dinner for those receiving and others, forty in all. Receiving with Miss Hillhouse were the Misses Rosalie Bloodgood, Evelyn Payne, Elizabeth Chase, and Florence Williams.

Mrs. Wilber A. Bloodgood gave a luncheon of thirty-eight covers at Sherry's for débutantes and a few older girls. They were seated at two large tables decorated with yellow roses, and the guests, besides Miss Rosalie Bloodgood, who came out last Winter, were the Misses Katharine, Madeleine, and Ulrica Dahlgren, Margaret Trevor, Audrey Hoffman, Viola Proctor, Ethel Proctor, Adelaide and Aileen Sedgwick, Noemi Gibert Townsend, Cornelia Van A. Chapin, Marion and Theodora Tiffany, Augusta de Forest, Martha Keep, Adelaide Wilmerding, Caroline L. and Elizabeth Jarvis Wyeth, Mary L. Post, Charlotte Delafield, Mildred Dennis, Edith Sloan, Mercer French, and Adelaide Flint.

SLINGSBY HEARING BEGINS.

Long-Fought Legitimacy Case Now Before the House of Lords.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Slingsby legitimacy case, involving the question whether an infant born in San Francisco and declared to be the lawful son of Charles R. Slingsby and his wife, Dorothy, is the rightful heir to the Slingsby estate in England, was opened today before the House of Lords. Counsel for the baby, Teddy Slingsby, argued that the evidence put forward in the original petition fully justified a verdict that the appellant was the lawful son of Mr. and Mrs. Slingsby. The Slingsby estates, in Yorkshire, are valued at about $500,000.

Miss Law Guest of Twilight Club.

Miss Ruth Law, who recently established the American long-distance record for continuous flight when she covered 590 miles on her trip from Chicago to New York, was a guest last night at the dinner of the Twilight Club at the Hotel McAlpin. Mrs. N. Archibald Shaw was toastmaster, and called upon Miss Law to tell "What's the Matter with the Sky?"

"From my own experience," Miss Law said, in part, "I believe there is nothing the matter with the sky. All we want is a little more confidence and a great many more aeroplanes.

LIVELY TIME EXPECTED IN NATIONAL LEAGUE OVER DRAFT QUESTION

DRAFT OF PLAYERS FAVORED BY FULTZ

He Holds That Men on Minor League Teams Oppose Abolition of System.

QUESTION UP NEXT WEEK

Will Form Part of Important Business to Come Before National League Meeting.

Baseball officials of two leagues—the National and the International—will assemble here early next week to grapple with numerous problems which will have a great bearing on next year's baseball season. The International League will meet on Monday and the National League will get together on Tuesday. The relations between the minor leagues and the majors are not as harmonious as they might be, and the latest suggestion of the minors to eliminate the draft from the Class AA leagues will undoubtedly cause trouble when it is taken up by the National League club owners.

The Class AA leagues, the International, the American Association, and the Pacific Coast League have petitioned the National Commission to drop the draft, and it is believed that the National League club owners will instruct their representative on the commission, President John K. Tener, to oppose the measure.

President David L. Fultz of the Players' Fraternity stated yesterday that he believed that the minor league players were opposed to the removal of the draft. If the draft is eliminated, he believes that it will tend to kill the ambition of young players who work hard in the minors to make their way up to the major leagues.

Fultz Explains Objections.

"I do not think that the removal of the draft will be a good thing for the minor leagues," said Mr. Fultz yesterday. "It would, in the first place, work as a damper for the players when they realized that there would be no way to be promoted to the majors except by purchase. By the drafting plan many minor league players go to the majors each year and make good. If an ambitious young player became too good for the minors and were fast enough for the big leagues, and the draft rule were not in force, the minor league club owner could keep him in the minors as long as he pleased and stop the youngster's chances for promotion.

"The club owners could also hold up the major league clubs for high purchase prices and control the services of the player unless they were paid. Again, if the majors are deprived of the draft, it will mean that there will not be as much new talent in the majors every season for the improvement of the game. This new suggestion of the minors would tend to stagnate the playing talent. I think that the major leagues will strongly oppose the removal of the draft rule."

The International League had an unsuccessful season last year, and next week's meeting may result in the readjustment of the circuit. Sam Lichtenhein, owner of the Montreal Club, is said to be ready to retire from the game. The conditions in Canada, owing to the war, have had a bad effect on baseball in both Montreal and Toronto. If Montreal drops out, the club probably will go to one of the cities now in the New York State League. One plan is to divide the franchise between Albany and Troy, and it is not improbable that Syracuse promoters may become interested in the club. It is also stated that Joseph J. Lannin, formerly owner of the Boston Red Sox, wants to dispose of the Buffalo Club. Newark was a loser last season, but President James Price intends to reorganize the club.

May Take Up McGraw Case.

The National League has many knotty questions to settle. The Board of Directors will meet on Tuesday at noon. At that time the McGraw case will be considered, if it is considered at all. It has been stated that Manager McGraw explained the incident to the satisfaction of the New York Club and President Tener of the National League, but some of the club owners intend to present the matter for discussion at the meeting of the Directors.

The player limit may be changed because several of the club owners are in favor of extending the limit from 21 to 22 players. The limit was cut down from 25 during the Federal League days. The second division clubs want the limit to remain at 21, but the first division clubs favor an increase. Manager McGraw is anxious to see the limit at 25 again. He declares that the American League has a decided advantage over the National League, inasmuch as it is able to carry 25 players and develop more new talent during the playing season. Rumors of another baseball strike have come up to disturb the peace of mind of the promoters, but one prominent club owner stated yesterday that he believed the new contract which provides for full pay for injured athletes and which also omits the ten-day clause will go a great way to satisfy disgruntled players.

It is not likely that there will be as many trades this season as in past years. It is nearly certain that the New York Giants will remain as at present. The Western clubs were all weak last year, and will have to undertake some measure of strength in their line-ups. In Chicago the Cubs are in danger of losing much of their popularity unless something is done to put them into the pennant fight. It is understood that in Cincinnati Manager Christy Mathewson will have free rein to get stronger playing talent. There will probably be a general shapeup in St. Louis under the supervision of the new club President, Mrs. Helen H. Britton.

President Barney Dreyfuss of Pittsburgh will probably cause a commotion at the meeting, as it is said that he will oppose August Herrmann as Chairman of the National Commission. Dreyfuss seems to be the only club owner who is anxious to have Chairman Herrmann unseated; it appears certain he will be overruled if he brings the matter up. The Chairman is elected by the other two members, Presidents Tener and Ban Johnson, and, as both are in favor of Mr. Herrmann, it is not likely that the objection of Dreyfuss will be sustained.

Another serious matter which confronts the National League people is the marked superiority of the American League in the last two world's series. To regain its popularity in the baseball world, the National League pennant winner next season must beat the American League in the big classic. The owners realize that their circuit must provide better ball, and it is certain that measures will be taken to win back their lost prestige.

MORDECAI BROWN RELEASED

Noted Three-Fingered Pitcher Was in Major Leagues 13 Years.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—After playing thirteen years in the major leagues, Mordecai Brown, the famous three-fingered pitcher of the Chicago National League Club, was given his unconditional release by Charles H. Weeghman, President of the club, tonight. Mr. Weeghman offered to aid Brown in obtaining a berth as a manager of a minor league club. Brown is 38 years old. He came to Chicago from the St. Louis Nationals in 1904.

Will Release Cubs from Contract.

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 4.—Secretary Reagan of the Tampa Baseball Training Association wired President Weeghman of the Chicago National League Club today that the association preferred that the Cubs fulfill the contract to train at Tampa, but would release them on payment of $2,500, the amount it has spent on the grounds and stands. An offer from another major league club in the place of the Chicago team probably would be accepted, it was understood.

GOULD WINS AT SQUASH.

Former Court Tennis Champion Plays on Columbia Club Team.

Jay Gould, who only recently renounced the world's open court tennis championship, has now turned his attention to squash tennis, and, as a member of the Columbia Club team, won his first tournament competition yesterday, when he aided in bringing defeat to the Yale Club seven, in the first of the Class A team matches, by a score of 5 to 2. The skill with a racquet which made Gould the most formidable court tennis player in the world stands him in good stead in squash tennis. His opponent yesterday was S. H. Johnson of the Yale Club, and Gould won the match in straight games. Gould's driving was accurate and powerful, the ball being sent close to the telltale, and he was capable in executing puzzling angle shots. The score in his favor was 15—9, 15—6.

As a result of actual play, the Yale Club won only one match. In this A. J. Cordier, the Yale Club champion, scored a victory over the Columbia Club leader, F. S. Keeler, with the score 15—10, 15—8. The other Yale victory came through the default of H. D. Bulkley to J. H. Williams.

The summary:

A. J. Cordier, Yale, defeated F. S. Keeler, Columbia, 15—10, 15—8; J. H. Williams, Yale, won from H. D. Bulkley, Columbia, by default; Jay Gould, Columbia, defeated S. H. Johnson, Yale, 15—9, 15—6; M. L. Cornell, Columbia, defeated J. Walker, 3d, Yale, 15—2, 15—8; F. Kidde, Columbia, defeated Dr. Mackay, 2d, Yale, 15—6, 15—8; E. W. Putnam, Columbia, defeated A. Corey, Yale, 9—15, 15—8, 15—11; L. E. Mahan, Columbia, defeated J. Johnson, Yale, 15—10, 15—2.

SWIMMING INVASION OFF.

Lack of Funds Prevents Australian Women Coming Here.

After months of dickering and negotiating, the proposed tour of the United States and Canada by the great Australian women swimmers, Miss Fannie Durack and Miss Mina Wylie, has been abandoned. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday from Amateur Athletic Union headquarters, but no reason for the failure of the negotiations was forthcoming from William Unmack of San Francisco, who had been in communication with the Australian women.

The main reason the trip had to be abandoned, as advanced by Secretary-Treasurer Rubien of the A. A. U., was the lack of funds. The trip, as proposed, would have taken the women across the continent and to several cities of Canada, and a considerable sum would have been necessary to put the proposition through. It was believed this money could be raised by charging admission to the meets in which the women competed, but this was found not to be feasible, so far as Eastern clubs were concerned.

Western clubs with swimming pools were very anxious to have the Australian women come here to begin their tour on Feb. 22 in San Francisco, but they were not willing to guarantee the payment of their expenses.

Mrs. Hugh McIntosh, wife of the widely-known sport promoter of Australia, made preliminary arrangements for the Misses Durack and Wylie, while on a visit here several months ago.

POULTRY INVADES PALACE.

Birds and Cats Arrive for Empire Association Show Today.

All day long yesterday crates of crowing chickens, quacking ducks, hissing geese, and mewing cats were being carted to the big exhibition hall in the Grand Central Palace preparatory to the opening of the tenth annual show of the Empire Poultry Association, which begins this morning and continues until Saturday. In conjunction with this Long Island organization's exhibition there will be the shows of the Westchester and Empire Cat Clubs, and incidentally exhibits of rabbits, cavies, and song birds.

What started as a sort of neighborhood poultry club has grown into a national affair to which exhibitors from all over the Union and even from Canada come to begin their campaign for the blue ribbons of poultrydom. It is particularly interesting to breeders as being a sort of try-out show for Rhode Island Reds, Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks, Campines, Orpingtons, Buttercups, Minorcas, and other breeds whose owners think they come near enough to the standard of perfection to be prize winners. These will let the judges decide whether the fowls are worth sending out over the chain of shows extending from one Portland—that in Maine—to the other—that in Oregon—with stops at Boston, Madison Square Garden, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, and other poultry show centres en route.

Something like two thousand birds of the barnyard varieties are in competition for the ribbons and cash, with half that number of pigeons in the almost endless varieties of these birds, and a couple of hundred cats and furred pets occupying the spaces on the mezzanine floor, as the main floor is given over to the poultry and aquatic fowl.

Judges of national reputation as sharps on feather and form are to pass on the merits of the birds, an operation which is no sinecure, as on their decisions will rest the wisdom or unwisdom of investments of very many thousands of dollars and much time and energy to produce fowls fit to take their places among the elect of hendom.

POST SEASON FOR MINORS.

American Association Head Favors Games with International.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Thomas M. Chivington, President of the American Association, is in favor of a post season series of games between the International League and American Association clubs next season.

President Chivington announced today that he would recommend the adoption of a shorter schedule for the 1917 season at the annual meeting of the association in Indianapolis next Friday, and the appointment of a committee to arrange a post season series of probably forty-eight games with the International League clubs, all of the clubs of the two leading leagues participating.

Playing a post season series, Mr. Chivington said, would create a new interest in the two leagues. He said he was not opposed to having the headquarters of the American Association moved from Chicago, as has been suggested. He said it was considered likely that the club owners, at their meeting Friday, would decide upon a change. Milwaukee, Indianapolis, and Louisville are understood to be in the race for the headquarters.

MINORS NAME COMMITTEE.

Body of Three Will Discuss New Commission with Majors.

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—The committee which will represent the minor leagues of the country in requesting the National and American Leagues for support in the establishment of a new baseball commission was named today by Timothy H. Murnane, Vice President of the National Association of Professional Leagues, as follows: J. Carl Ewing of San Francisco, Thomas Chivington, President of the American Association, and Edward Barrow, President of the International League.

The members of the committee will meet the National Club owners at their annual meeting in New York, and then go to Chicago for a conference with the American League representatives.

The commission which they will propose was indorsed at the recent convention at New Orleans. It would be composed of two members from the major leagues, two from the minor leagues, and a Chairman chosen by them, and would act as a further Court of Appeal in cases affecting the minor leagues. The two minor league Presidents also, it is understood, will present requests that the International League and American Association be exempt from draft by major league clubs.

Fish and Game League to Meet.

The annual convention of the State Fish, Game and Forest League will begin at Buffalo tomorrow night. Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt will be the principal speaker at the session on Thursday night.

CRITICISM OF RUSH ROUSES DEFENDERS

Rumors That Princeton Football Coach May Be Replaced Evoke Storm of Protests.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 4.—The poor showing made by Princeton this year against Yale and Harvard has not shaken the faith of Princeton undergraduates and alumni in their support of John "Speedy" Rush, coach of the Tiger football squad despite the criticism of his work by many sons of Old Nassau. Rumors that Rush was to be replaced as chief mentor of the Tigertown forces have provoked a storm of protests and Rush's policies have been championed by practically all the student publications.

The Princetonian, the official organ of the university, in an article claims that, as Rush has been at the helm only two years, the veteran members of the eleven have had faults which they had acquired before they came under Rush's eye. These shortcomings, it is claimed, bobbed up in almost every game, and, although they were corrected many times in practice, it seemed that no amount of instruction could eradicate them.

Prominent alumni who are active in college athletic matters will have much to say in the final judgment of the Rush system. Parke Davis is quoted in The Princetonian: "The season of 1916 will bequeath one of the soundest systems of technical organization that Old Nassau ever has known, the handiwork of John Rush and his staff. Not only did Mr. Rush and his associates devise, perfect, and establish an effective football system, but as practical field coaches they molded the players in that system and produced one of the most successful squads of players that ever stood in cleat shoes at Princeton."

CARLSON NEW PITT LEADER.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., Dec. 4.—H. Clifford ("Red") Carlson, the brilliant left end of the University of Pittsburgh football team, was tonight elected Captain for 1917 at the annual banquet of the students and alumni at the Hotel Schenley. The choice was a surprise to the students, as another player was expected to receive the honor. It was announced after the election, which was held by the team in secret meeting, that Jimmy De Hart, the half back, could have had the office, but he preferred to take his chances in getting the Captaincy of next season's baseball team. Carlson is 22 years old, and a student in the Medical Department of the university. He was graduated from Fayette City High School, after which he went through Bellefonte Academy, where his football prowess was first demonstrated.

Coach Glenn Warner, after a great reception from the student body, spoke in eulogy of the whole team. Among others who spoke were State Senator Joe Thompson, ex-Captain and coach of Pitt for several seasons; Chancellor McCormick of the university, Bob Peck, the retiring Captain; Captain Carlson, and several of the alumni. Several hundred graduates of the school were present, and when Glenn Warner said his material for next year was as good as that of the last two seasons, he was cheered for ten minutes.

BERRY NOT TO GO WEST.

Penn Full Back Says Studies Will Prevent Trip to Play Oregon.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Dec. 4.—Howard Berry, Penn's full back, declared today that he would be unable to accompany the Red and Blue football team to Pasadena, Cal., where it will play the University of Oregon eleven on New Year's Day. Berry stated his reason as follows:

"I was kept on the Mexican border so long that I fell back in my work, and I will have to pass up that great trip to the coast. I am going to get right down to my books and catch up with my studies, in fact get ahead, for I will have a busy Spring. I intend to try to win the pentathlon title for the first time, and then I will have to spend a lot of time with the ball club."

Coach Folwell said this morning that the Penn squad would be composed of twenty-four players, three coaches, and Manager Lovett.

TROTTING CONGRESS TODAY.

Uniform Racing Rules to Come Up After Board of Review Meeting.

The Board of Review of the National Trotting Association will open its regular half-yearly meeting today at the Murray Hill Hotel. There is an unusually heavy docket of cases to be tried which have accumulated during the racing season last Summer.

After this meeting there will be a special congress composed of delegates representing the various tracks which have membership in the association. The object of this congress is to appoint a committee of six to confer with a similar body appointed from the American Trotting Association with an idea of having a uniform set of rules which will govern the sport throughout the country.

The necessity for such action has been urged for some years, and President John C. Welty of the national body, who arrived in New York from Canton, Ohio, last week, is strongly in favor of having uniform rules. Other officers who arrived last night and who are members of the Board of Review were: Edward Morelton, Worcester, Mass.; James P. Winchester, Wilmington, Del.; A. P. Sandles, Ottowa, Ohio; John Early, Nashville, Tenn.; Carlos M. de Garmendia, Tuscarora, Md., and Secretary W. H. Gocher, Hartford, Conn.

Dumoe Syracuse Football Captain.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 4.—Joseph Dumoe of Duluth, Minn., tonight was elected Captain of the Syracuse University football team for 1917. Dumoe played an end during the last season. He is an exceptional punter and forward pass thrower.

Refuses to Act in Football Dispute.

The protest of De Witt Clinton High School as a result of the football game between Clinton and Morris on Nov. 16, which was referred to the P. S. A. L. and then to the Football Rules Committee, has been cast out as far as the latter body is concerned. If any action is now taken to overrule the umpire it will have to be by the P. S. A. L. It was thought probable yesterday that the matter would be dropped.

Moore Noses Out Blumenthal.

George Moore defeated William Blumenthal, 50 to 49, in a three-cushion practice match, played last night at Thum's Billiard Academy. The high runs were: Moore, 6; Blumenthal, 5. The game went to sixty-eight innings.

OVERTON IN SENIOR RACE.

Kolehmainen Also Entered for the Title Cross-Country Event.

One of the best cross-country duels of the season was assured yesterday when Johnny Overton of Yale, winner of the recent intercollegiate title, and Hannes Kolehmainen, still an unattached athlete, former national champion, entered in the national senior championship of the Amateur Athletic Union to be held over the six-mile trial at Van Cortlandt Park next Saturday. Willie Kyronen of the Millrose A. A., senior metropolitan champion, is also among the entrants, and upon his showing in the titular metropolitan event should furnish interesting competition for Overton and Kolehmainen.

The team entry for the senior championship will be light. Not until today, and probably tomorrow, will it be known whether the Dorchester Club, which last week won the junior national title, will come down to compete again. The New England ten-mile championship is scheduled for next Saturday, and efforts are being made to have the race postponed. If these efforts fail the Dorchester men very probably will remain at home to compete in their distance event.

TRIBUTE TO U. S. ATHLETES.

Chairman of Swedish Committee Praises Members of Team.

A high tribute to the sportsmanship of the American team of athletes, composed of Jo Loomis, Ted Meredith, Fred Murray, Bob Simpson, and Andy Ward, which recently toured the Scandinavian countries, is contained in a letter received yesterday by Secretary Frederick W. Rubien of the A. A. U. from Erick Bergvall, Chairman of the Swedish Citizens' Committee which had charge of the competition in which the Americans took part.

The letter also contains the expression of hope that Sweden's representatives may repay the visit of the Americans. After asserting the high regards of Sweden for the American athletes, Mr. Bergvall wrote:

"On behalf of the committee formed in connection with the visit of your five representatives, I hereby wish to thank you personally for all your troubles and kindness as well as your association for what you have done to make the recent visit of the American track athletes the great success it actually turned out to be.

"We rejoice together with our colleagues and many interested sportsmen that the visit has been realized and trust and feel confident that our American friends return home satisfied with their long oversea's tour.

"It is our hope that in the future many similar visits will be undertaken and successfully accomplished.

"We have learned to admire your young men and also to regard them as our friends.

"In conclusion I beg you to accept our cordial greetings and to assure you and your association that the memory of this visit will ever be dear to us."

CORNELL TO HOLD MEET.

Intercollegiate Wrestling Matches Will Take Place at Ithaca.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 4.—Cornell will play host for the members of the Intercollegiate Wrestling Association next March, according to word received here today by Manager B. F. Willcox of the 'Varsity wrestling team. Ithaca has been selected over New York and Columbia University for the annual intercollegiate meet, in which teams from Pennsylvania, Lehigh, Princeton, Columbia, and Cornell, present champions, will be seen. Either March 30 and 31 or April 7 and 8 will be the dates for the two-day meeting, the first day for preliminaries and the second day for the semi-final and final matches. The change from Columbia to Cornell as host was a surprise, but the league officials gave lack of interest in the mat game in the metropolis as the reason for the shift.

De Witt Clinton Swimmers Win.

Practically doubling the scores of their rivals, the swimmers of De Witt Clinton High School triumphed yesterday over the representatives of New Utrecht High in a P. S. A. L. championship dual meet at the West Sixtieth Street Municipal Pool. The score was 40 to 26. Rosengreen of Clinton again proved the star for his team, going the length of the tank and winning easily with his 60-foot journey underwater. Tom McKee of New Utrecht displayed fine form in handily capturing the dive for form.

RICE CALLS CREWS FOR EARLY START

Columbia 'Varsity and Freshman Candidates to Begin Indoor Work on Jan. 2.

Indoor rowing practice at Columbia University will get the earliest start in years, according to an announcement made by Coach James C. Rice and Captain R. R. O'Loughlin. Rice will summon 'Varsity and freshman candidates to the gymnasium on Tuesday, Jan. 2.

Last year the work indoors did not begin until the middle of February, and this delay is one of the causes attributed for Columbia's poor showing in the Poughkeepsie regatta. The Hudson River is seldom free from ice until about April 1, so that outdoor rowing is always later than at the other training waters of rival crews in the annual regatta. Even when the Hudson is clear of dangerous ice, there is always heavy currents from the Spring freshets that prohibit too early attempts at rowing, and last year Columbia was further handicapped by continued squalls almost every afternoon in April, with the result that practice drilling was slow and the Columbia eight was the least advanced of the entries in the first event of the year, the Childs Cup Regatta on the Schuylkill River, Philadelphia.

As usual, three "boats" of eight machines each will be installed this month on the gallery of the Columbia gymnasium. Under the new rowing system, whereby crew affairs are included in the Athletic Association, together with other Columbia sports, many alterations are being made on the crew house at Edgewater, N. J. A boiler to provide hot water baths is being installed and will come as a welcome addition to the quarters which heretofore have boasted only of cold showers. A needed drying room is also to be a part of the new equipment, and both inside and outside of the house will be painted.

Columbia oarsmen have been handicapped for some years because of the inconveniences of the Edgewater plant. Although the Gould boathouse on the Riverside Park bank at the foot of 115th Street was intended for crew work, the tides and currents of the east side of the river were soon found too strong to permit practice, and Columbia boats had to row over to the west bank daily, where they could get the benefit of the slack water under the Palisades. The Edgewater boathouse was made necessary, and for the last few years a converted ferry barge has served the purpose of boat shack, dressing quarters, and workshop of the boatmen.

Moha Will Box Brown Tonight.

Bob Moha, the Milwaukee light-heavyweight, will be seen in action again tonight at the Broadway Sporting Club of Brooklyn, where he is scheduled to box ten rounds with Knockout Brown, the Chicago heavyweight. Considerable interest is attached to this contest, as Brown is looked upon as a boxer of ability, and will be making his first appearance in a Brooklyn ring. He is one of the few American boxers, visiting in Australia, who succeeded in making any sort of an appreciable showing against the wonderful Les Darcy, whom he boxed for twenty rounds on two occasions.

The City Athletic Club will stage the preliminary contests in its first amateur boxing tournament this evening. Competition will be held in five classes, 108, 115, 125, 135, and 145 pounds, and two prizes will be awarded in each class. A trophy will also be given to the club that has the greatest number of competitors. The finals will be decided on Thursday night.

CUE TITLE PLAY IN BOSTON.

Strong Entries Expected for Tourney Under B. A. A. Auspices.

The next tournament to decide the national Class A amateur billiard championship will be held in Boston, probably early in March, though the time has not as yet been set. The Boston Athletic Association is the successful bidder for the event, and that its application received the approval of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players is not unexpected. For some time it has been certain that the tournament would not be held in New York and that the most likely place for it was Boston.

The national Class C tournament will be held at Maurice Daly's academy in this city. As yet there has been no determination as to where the Class B billiard tournament and the national pocket billiard championship will be held. Both, however, are practically assured to this city.

The Hub is looked upon as one of the most promising billiard centres, and the transfer of the Class A event to that city, it is believed, will do much to stimulate interest in the game. It is not thought that the fact of a longer trip being necessary for the Western players, such as Heddon, will deter them from coming on for the tournament.

The present holder of the title is Edward W. Gardner, and it is anticipated that he will defend this Winter. The fact of the tournament being in Boston will add one more player to the list of contestants. Nathan Hill of that city is rated as the strongest amateur billiardist in New England, and those who have played with him say that he can grand average well over 10, sometimes, in fact, as high as 20.

Among the New Yorkers who will undoubtedly compete, in addition to Gardner, are Morris Brown, one-time holder of the national championship; J. Ferdinand Poggenburg, another who has held the title, and the two Appleby brothers, Edgar T. and Francis S., who were formidable factors in the tournament last Winter. Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, Mich., who was another of the contestants a year ago, will undoubtedly compete again, and the same is true of Jacob Klinger, the Austrian Class B champion.

There is a possibility that three Chicago players may enter—Edward Rein, Wilson Henderson, and Robert Lord. Another strong player who may compete is Percy Trump of Pittsburgh, and J. C. Milburn of Memphis, a contestant several years ago, may again test his skill in the championship.

In order that there may be a representative entry the National Association is inviting information as to eligible Class A players in every section of the country, and it is expected that one of the strongest fields that ever started in the event will compete.

CYCLE RACE TEAMS PICKED.

Grenda and Goullet Paired for Six-Day Contest at Garden.

It was announced yesterday that Grenda and Goullet had been paired for the annual six-day cycle race which begins at Madison Square Garden on Dec. 17 and will continue there until Dec. 23. This team won the race in 1914 and finished first this year at Boston. In 1914 Grenda and Goullet broke more records than any individual team and carried off the greater part of the prize money. Freddie Hill of Boston and Peter Drobach of Poland were also coupled yesterday and are expected to be strong contenders in the race. The other teams, together with the rules and finish of the race, will be announced shortly.

Hudson County K. C. to Have Show.

The second annual show of the Hudson County Kennel Club will be held tomorrow at Froemchen's Hall, Union Hill, N. J. A very large entry has been received for the exhibit, and competition for the various prizes offered by the organization promises to be keen.

HOWISON LEADS WITH CUE.

Canadian Makes Uphill Fight in Match with Mayer.

The narrow margin of one point gave Leonard Howison a victory over Joseph Mayer last night at Daly's Academy in the first block of 300 points of a 1,500-point 18.2 balk-line billiard match. This made the score in favor of the former Canadian champion 300 to 299, but it is not at all indicative of the wonderful uphill struggle made by Howison. Neither contestant was able to get started quickly, but even at that the advantage lay with Mayer, who gradually assumed a commanding lead which it seemed that Howison would be unable to cut down materially. At one stage of the contest Mayer had a score of 238, while the string that Howison had gathered totaled only 105.

It was just at this point that Howison began to show his best billiards, and with a perfect stroke he reeled off point after point. In his last three innings he made runs of 63, 86, and 46, the last run snatching the lead from Mayer, when he was within a point of finishing his string. Mayer has only himself to thank for the defeat, for, after running 42, he missed a simple four-inch carrom.

When this happened Howison had his opportunity, and he ran out his string with a cluster of 46, which exemplified the same high type of billiards as he displayed in the two previous innings. His long runs were mostly the product of close nurse play, one run showing a fine manipulation of the difficult line nurse for a number of points, which were clicked off rapidly. In several instances Howison solved difficult lineups by confidently executed masses, and one of these was fully eighteen inches to the object balls, which were close together and in almost perfect alignment with the cue ivory.

Mapes Re-elected as Steward.

Charles Halsted Mapes has been elected Chairman of the Board of Stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, the organization in charge of the annual Poughkeepsie regatta, by a mail vote taken last week. Mr. Mapes is the Columbia representative on the board, and succeeded Morton G. Bogue, who resigned several weeks ago. The two other stewards are C. E. Treman of Cornell and R. H. Eisenbrey, representing Pennsylvania.

Gray Goods Open Slowly.

There was not a great deal more snap to buying of gray goods in this market yesterday than there was on Saturday. Further limited selling of the most-wanted constructions — notably 38½-inch 64-60s—by second hands, for this month's delivery, was reported at prices a shade under the market. The same goods sold in a more or less limited way from first hands for nearby and contract shipments, at the full price. Thirty-nine-inch 68-72s and 38½-inch 60-52s and 60-48s also moved at full prices, but the aggregate yardage disposed of was not great. There was also business of sorts done in wide sheetings and in drills. Closing print-cloth prices were:

39-inch, 80-80s	10⅝c	38½-inch, 64-60s	*8⅛c
39-inch, 72-76s	9⅝c	38½-inch, 64-56s	7⅝c
39-inch, 68-72s	*9⅛c	38½-inch, 60-52s	7⅛c
39-inch, 56-44s	7c	38½-inch, 60-48s	7⅛c
38½-inch, 64-64s	8⅝c	27-inch, 64-60s	5⅝c

Something New in Umbrellas.

Something new in the way of a "sling" handle for umbrellas is being offered here. Instead of a braided leather loop extending from the top of a short wooden handle, as in some of those shown heretofore, the wooden part of the new handle is of fair length, ending in a plain ivory or silver tip. About a third of the way down from the top of the handle there is a narrow braided leather band running around it, with a similar band at the bottom, both of which hold in position a narrow strap that forms a loop not unlike the handle of a cup in appearance. This strap is long enough easily to permit the umbrella being slung from the wrist or forearm.

Active Demand for Sport Silks.

The sport clothes fad in the women's wear trade has developed quite a nice business for the silk manufacturers who have facilities for turning out novelty cloths. A heavy business has been placed on shantungs, and, if the cost of the raw material going into this construction does not jump too high, the fabric will be featured extensively in sport clothes for the coming Spring and Summer. The demand is by no means confined to the garment manufacturers. The clothiers who make up the higher-priced Summer clothing are also using shantungs and silk and cotton cloths in their product.

BUSINESS RECORDS

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

In Town.

ALBERT F. WAGNER.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Albert F. Wagner, dealer in auto supplies, 1,902 Broadway and President of the Wagner-Hoyt Electric Company, by Gerald A. Lough, a creditor for $900 on a judgment for $1,200 on which the Sheriff has returned an execution unsatisfied.

JOHN BOTHWELL.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against John Bothwell, manufacturer of ice, 11 to 15 East 134th Street, by the Riverside Coal Mining Company, a creditor for $3,035 for coal sold to him between Aug. 21 and Sept. 9. It was alleged that on Aug. 25 he transferred all his assets valued at $5,000 to the Washington Heights Ice Company, Inc., which he formed.

JULIUS HESSEN.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Julius Hessen, trading as the Broadway Tailors, 492 Lenox Avenue and also on Lenox Avenue, between 135th and 136th Streets, by Goldschlager & Schweitzer, $235; Samuel Goldschlager, $250, and D. Schultz & Son, $161.

JOSEPH HESSEN.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Joseph Hessen, tailor, 81 West 135th Street, by Goldschlager & Schweitzer, $105; Samuel Goldschlager, $150, and D. Schultz & Son, $365.

BARNETT & KROHM.—Barnet Barnett and Samuel Krohm, composing the firm of Barnett & Krohm, manufacturers of women's suits, 15 West Fifty-sixth Street, have filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $8,355 and assets $2,302.

SOLOMON LITTER, mechanical dentist in a dental laboratory business as Sheinman & Son, 290 Lenox Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $2,224 and assets $1,139.

SAM YOUNG.—Judge Learned Hand has appointed Herbert A. Whiting and Abner L. Braley of Boston ancillary receivers for the assets in this city of Sam Young, exporter and jobber at 70 West Houston Street, who had a branch at 77 Summer Street, Boston, with a bond of $500, in bankruptcy proceedings begun in Boston on Nov. 16, when the same men were appointed receivers in that city. The application yesterday was made by Hyman Benowitz, a creditor, who wanted all the facts thoroughly investigated.

SALESKE & KLETSKE.—Judge Mayer has confirmed a composition of Saleske & Kletske, who traded as the Kaness Dress and Costume Company, 115 West Twenty-ninth Street, with creditors at 40 cents on the dollar, payable 25 cents cash and 15 cents in three notes at three, six, and nine months.

TALKING TOYS CORPORATION.—Judge Mayer has consolidated the petitions against the Talking Toys Corporation and the Talking Doll and Novelty Company, 243 West Seventeenth Street, as the Talking Toys Corporation. Schedules filed yesterday showed liabilities $58,166 and assets $2,350. Among the creditors are the American Steel and Wire Company, $7,637; National Acme Manufacturing Company, $5,665; Machinery Merchants Company, $2,875, and New York City, $432, personal tax.

BANKLER & ROGOFF.—Joseph Bankler and Alfred Rogoff, trading as the Hygrade Flower and Feather Company, 7 Great Jones Street, have made an assignment to Simon S. Hamburger of 302 Broadway.

DAVID J. GORDON, retail clothing dealer as the Gordon Clothes Shop, 309 Broadway, has made an assignment to Murray M. Hirnowich. Gordon began business in September last.

Discharges in Bankruptcy.

Judge Mayer, in the United States District Court, has granted discharges to these bankrupts:

LOUIS W. GARTNER, 233 West Seventieth Street, formerly of Gartner Sons & Co., ribbons; liabilities $34,642.

SAMUEL MAYPER, formerly of the Liberty Garter Works and M. Mayper & Sons, 413 Broadway; liabilities $15,736.

SIDNEY H. SMITH, theatrical manager, Forty-second Street and Broadway; liabilities $7,883.

JOHN H. BLOOD, real estae broker, 204 West Seventy-ninth Street, formerly an officer of the Cleveland (O.) Real Estate Board; liabilities $7,663.

DR. HENRY W. SCHLESINGER, 14 West 117th Street; liabilities $4,942; second time.

ABRAHAM REICH, as Trilby Waist Company, 143 West Twentieth Street; liabilities $7,791.

RAINBOW & MANGEL, as La Belle Waist Shop, 865 Longwood Avenue.

MARTIN M. MARCUS, formerly women's apparel, 1,581 Broadway.

EDWARD P. BRUNS, carpenter and builder, 156 East Third Street; liabilities $10,106.

ANDREW CHRISTIE, stair builder, 828 East Twenty-sixth Street.

W. H. KETTLER, clerk, 110 East Twenty-third Street, formerly of Baltimore.

CHARLES E. SLEVIN, 124 East Eighty-sixth Street.

GEORGE L. BROWN, 167 West Forty-ninth Street.

SAM PASAHOW, 309 East 120th Street.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Call Money at 15 Per Cent. in the Midst of Money Plenty—Effect on Stock Market.

Events in the money market yesterday brought clearly to the attention of the financial community the fact that the existence of the Federal Reserve system does not guarantee the stock market against call money rates which would have been considered very high even under the old order of banking in this country. The advance yesterday to 15 per cent., though only a relatively small amount of money was loaned above 6 per cent., indicated temporary scarcity of unusual degree, but its wider significance is to be found in the notice which it served upon speculators that plentiful as money still is it is not always at the disposal of Stock Exchange operations at rates low enough to stimulate speculation.

Before the establishment of the Federal Reserve Bank system such a rate as Wall Street experienced yesterday for call loans would have been regarded throughout the country as an indication that money for all purposes had grown scarce or was in immediate likelihood of doing so. No such significance, fortunately, attaches to the high rates which certain borrowers on stocks had to pay yesterday. The reason is that the Federal Reserve Bank system was established primarily to serve the interests of trade, and money for commercial purposes is still plentiful.

One of the chief reasons why call money was very firm last week and why yesterday it reached the highest rate in four years was that the banks of this city, as indeed the banks elsewhere, are not disposed to divert money from commercial use to Stock Exchange use. Had the banks here been inclined to do that they could have rediscounted commercial paper with the Reserve Bank, whose rediscounting facilities have remained practically unused, and by lending the proceeds of these rediscounts on the Stock Exchange could easily have kept money there at 6 per cent., or less. Nothing of that sort happened, and one reason why it did not happen is that many banks which once looked on call loans on the Stock Exchange as the best secondary reserve which they could have now consider commercial paper available for rediscount at the Reserve Bank a very much better secondary reserve, so much better, in fact, that they are unwilling to transfer funds from employment in commercial loans to use in Stock Exchange loans. That is altogether salutary. It is far more important that the trade of the country should ever have at its command a full supply of funds at as low rates as are consistent with sound banking than it is that speculative operations on the Stock Exchange should have the benefit of cheap money. Surely speculators, after the very long period of easy money which they have enjoyed, cannot complain if now they have for a time, and it is probably only for a relatively brief time, to pay rates which are a reminder of the less well protected days of the past.

It is hardly necessary to go into detail concerning the reasons for yesterday's high rates—some of them are set forth elsewhere in our columns—but it is important to emphasize the much clearer distinction which now exists between commercial loans and loans for Stock Exchange operations. The latter were purposely excluded from any direct access to the resources of the Federal Reserve Banks whose facilities are freely available for the financing of commercial transactions. In adopting a course which stands in the way of indirectly employing the resources of the Federal Reserve system on a large scale for speculative operations in the stock market the banks are doing what is wise from their own point of view and what is wholesome for the situation at large.

Prices on the Stock Exchange were materially affected by the rise in money, but affected to a much less extent than ordinarily was the experience in the past when money rose as much as it did yesterday. Nearly all traders seemingly were of the opinion that the stringency in call money could not be long-lived. In the afternoon, when rates receded sharply from the high point of the day, many stocks were bid up again, some of them to such good purpose that they showed net gains for the day. In none of the active issues were the net declines severe. United States Steel, by far the most active stock, showed a net loss barely in excess of one point. The news that $50,000,000 more gold is to be shipped from Canada this week did a good deal to strengthen the belief that the high call money rates would soon yield to easier ones.

LONDON MARKET UNCERTAIN

Week-End News Causes Traders to Hesitate in Purchases.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Money was abundant and discount rates were quiet today.

The week end news gave dealers on the Stock Exchange more cause for thought than entering fresh commitments, and the tone of the market was uncertain. Gilt edged securities drooped, and Argentine rails again reacted, but mining and copper shares were in good demand, and the increased Peninsular and Oriental Navigation Company dividend strengthened shipping issues. Otis Steel stock was strong. American securities were steady. The low-priced shares were the most active.

Trading Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes 61 francs 10 centimes for cash. Exchange on London 27 francs 81 centimes. Five per cent. loan 87 francs 35 centimes.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

"Too Proud to Lend."

Commenting upon last week's interesting episode in international finance, The Monetary Times of Toronto ventures to predict that the Federal Reserve Board's statement will go down in financial history as a "too proud to lend" document, adding that it does not seem to have been taken very seriously in the United States. Discussing the board's "warning," The Monetary Times says: "The manifesto seems to be the result of several influences which have used the board, perhaps by the help of one or more of its members, as a medium for their fine arts. As possible factors there are the pacific characteristics of President Wilson, the sour grapes of William Jennings Bryan, and the Kaiser, the envy of bankers in the shadow but not in the sunshine of war finance; the intrigues of pro-German bankers, the desire to have the full pound of interest flesh, and the conspiracies of kultured diplomats. Some or all of these fires might make the Federal Reserve pot boil."

⁂

Central Powers' Bonds Lower.

German and Austrian exchange declined again yesterday, reichsmark checks going a shade under 66 cents to the 4 marks. This was more than a half cent under the closing price last week, and showed a depreciation for marks in this market of slightly more than 30 per cent. Readjustments in the prices of the war loan securities of the Central Powers resulted from the lower tendency of the exchanges. The German 4½ per cent. Treasury notes of the Fifth War Loan and the 4 per cent. and 3½ per cent. issues and the 5½ per cent. issues of the Austrian, as well as the 6 per cent. and 5½ per cent. Hungarian Government issues, were marked down fractionally.

⁂

The Year's Borrowings.

Borrowings by domestic railroad and industrial corporations since Jan. 1 amount to $2,073,719,900, according to the records of the Journal of Commerce, and in addition to this huge total the country's resources have been drawn upon to the extent of $1,381,000,000 for foreign loans. The capital raised for purely domestic undertakings shows an increase of $748,959,300 over the preceding year. These are tremendous figures, and the scope of capital operations and plans is emphasized by the records showing that new corporations to manufacture war material, dyes and chemicals, and to produce oil and refined oil products, and to build ships, have been formed with authorized capital of $922,486,000.

BANKERS TRUST CO., New York, Trustee

From a letter signed by Mr. E. G. Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Co., copies of which will be furnished on application, we summarize as follows:

These bonds are the direct obligation of the Bethlehem Steel Company, all of whose stock excepting directors' shares is owned by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

They are secured by a first mortgage on about 660 acres of land at Sparrows Point, Md., adjoining the lands on which the Sparrows Point steel plant and shipyard are located. They are also secured by a first mortgage on about 430 acres of land at Steelton, Pa., on which are located the bridge shop, the frog and switch shop, the Semet-Solvay coke oven plant, the general office building, and the limestone quarries from which the Steelton plant obtains its supply of this essential raw material.

These properties are all owned by the Penn Mary Steel Co., substantially all the stock of which is owned by the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Subject to $16,949,000 underlying bonds and bonds of subsidiary companies of which $9,854,000 mature in 1927 or earlier and $5,550,000 mature in 1932, the Purchase Money and Improvement Mortgage Bonds are further secured by a mortgage lien on all other plants and real estate of the Penn Mary Steel Co., including the Sparrows Point (Md.), Steelton and Lebanon (Pa.) plants and a 54.16% interest in the Cornwall Ore Banks, and by pledge of $2,644,290 capital stocks of subsidiary companies.

About $60,000,000 will be spent within the next four years in extending these plants and diversifying their products. All of these extensions will be covered by the Purchase Money and Improvement Mortgage.

The issue of additional bonds under this mortgage is carefully guarded; $16,949,000 being reserved for refunding and the balance against 75% of the cost of acquisitions, additions, improvements, betterments and extensions made after March 1st 1919.

An annual sinking fund beginning July 1st 1919 equal to 2½% of the outstanding bonds is to retire bonds at not exceeding 105 and interest.

These bonds as to legalities have been approved by our counsel, John G. Johnson, Esq., and George Wharton Pepper, Esq., copies of whose opinion will be furnished upon request.

Application will be made to list the bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Having sold the greater part of this issue we offer the balance at 100½ and Interest, to yield about 4.96%.

PREFERRED DIVIDEND NO. 41.

The regular quarterly dividend of One and Three-quarters Per Cent. upon the preferred Capital Stock of this Company has been duly declared, payable Jan. 15, 1917, to preferred stockholders of record Dec. 30, 1916. Transfer books will not be closed.

SHIPBUILDING STOCK ISSUED

60,000 of New York Corporation's 200,000 Shares to be Sold at Once.

The New York Shipbuilding Corporation, control of which was acquired recently by the American International Corporation, International Mercantile Marine Company, W. R. Grace & Co., and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company has issued 200,000 shares of stock of no par value, of which approximately 60,000 shares will be offered for sale this week by Hallgarten & Co., Charles D. Barney & Co., and Montgomery, Clothier & Tyler. The offering price will be $47.50 a share.

A large portion of the shipbuilding plant will be reserved for the construction of vessels of the owning companies, which will have first call on the capacity. Ships will be built for the controlling companies at cost, including an allowance for all overhead expenses, plus a profit of 10 per cent.

To provide space for other vessels the capacity of the yards at Camden will be increased between 25 and 50 per cent. There will be invested immediately $3,000,000 of cash in the property, of which $1,800,000 will be available for new construction.

DROP IN BUSINESS FAILURES

Both Fewer in Number and Less in Amount Than in 1915.

The country enters on the closing month of its most prosperous year, with aggregate commercial failures thus far reported to R. G. Dun & Co., 23 per cent. smaller in number and more than 36 per cent. less in amount than in 1915. Moreover, the record in both respects shows a substantial reduction from the figures of two years ago, while there were fewer defaults in November than in the same month of any year since 1912, and it is necessary to go back to 1910 to find a lighter indebtedness.

Business reverses last month numbered 1,251, an increase of eleven over October, but comparing with 1,565 in the previous year, 1,815 in 1914 and 1,377 in 1913. In 1912 there were 1,175 suspensions. The November liabilities, owing to several insolvencies of unusual size, reached $14,104,621, against $10,775,654 in October, yet in the corresponding month of 1915 the sum involved was $15,694,434; two years ago it was $25,489,458; in 1913 $24,199,485, and in 1912 about $15,600,000. Excepting the present instance, the indebtedness has not fallen below $15,000,000 in any November since 1910.

CONVERTIBLE 8% CUMULATIVE PREFERRED STOCK

Preferred both as to Assets and Dividends

Liquid assets of $105 on each share of Preferred Stock outstanding must be maintained before any disbursements may be made on the Common Stock

Redeemable at $120 per share; Dividends payable quarterly the 15th of January, April, July and October

CAPITALIZATION

		Authorized	To be presently issued.
Preferred Stock	$100 par value	20,000 shares	14,000 shares
Common Stock	10 par value	1,200,000 "	1,000,000 "

NO MORTGAGE OR FUNDED INDEBTEDNESS OUTSTANDING

One share of Preferred Stock may be exchanged for ten shares of Common Stock after June 30, 1917, and prior to January 1, 1920. A sinking fund of 5% per annum will retire the Preferred Stock at 120 per share or better, beginning January 1st, 1920.

From a letter of Mr. A. D. Smith, President of the Company, and from data contained in the audit of M. & L. W. Scudder and Touche, Niven & Co., and appraisal by Coats & Burchard Co., we summarize as follows:

The Company manufactures a truck unit which sells for $350, and which converts Ford, Dodge, Maxwell, and similar cars into one-ton trucks. There are now over 9,000 of these trucks in actual use. Among the prominent users may be mentioned:

Armour & Co.
Butler Bros.
Standard Oil Co.
Fleischmann Yeast Co.
Montgomery, Ward & Co.
U. S. Mail Service
Schlitz Brewing Co.
Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.
Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.
Sheffield Farms-Slawson-Decker Co.
Coca Cola Co.
The Texas Co.
Pabst Brewing Co.
Militia of Various States
Singer Sewing Machine Co.

The Smith Form-A-Truck is the accepted motor truck for practically every line of business using trucks of one-ton capacity, low initial and proven low maintenance cost being its important features.

Current net earnings are now running at the rate of approximately $940,000 per annum or over 8 times Preferred Stock dividend. Net earnings for 1917 estimated at about $3,000,000.

Based on orders in hand, production for 1917 should exceed 30,000 truck units. The material for 15,000 has already been purchased, and the Company is well protected for the remaining material necessary for a total production of 30,000 in 1917.

The Company will have no bonded indebtedness, nor can any be issued without the consent of three-fourths of the holders of the Preferred Stock.

Application will be made in due course to list the Preferred and Common Stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

All legal matters in connection with the incorporation of the Company, and the issuance of its securities, are under the supervision of Cravath & Henderson, New York, and O'Brien, Boardman, Harper & Fox, New York.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

Preferred Stock $100 per share with right to purchase four shares of Common Stock at $3.50 per share with each share of Preferred Stock.

The right is reserved to allot, adjust or reject subscriptions. Orders may be telegraphed at our expense.

AUTHORIZED $15,000,000 OUTSTANDING $5,870,000

Callable at 105 and interest on any interest date upon 60 days notice

Columbia Trust Co., New York, Trustee

For information concerning this issue of bonds attention is called to a letter dated September 8, 1916, from Mr. J. S. Pyeatt, President of the Company (copies of which should be obtained from the undersigned), some of the statements of which letter he has summarized as follows:

FIRST MORTGAGE: These bonds are secured by a direct first mortgage or by a first lien through collateral upon approximately 820 miles of railway, together with equipment, terminals, etc., being outstanding at the low rate of about $7,200 per mile.

EARNINGS for the 12 months ended June 30, 1916:

Total operating revenue	$5,044,295.27
Total operating income	987,852.76
Other income	61,376.58
Total income	1,049,229.34
Rentals and interest on equipment notes	513,319.03
Balance applicable to interest on First Mortgage Bonds	535,910.31
Interest on First Mortgage Bonds	352,200.00

First Mortgage Bond interest is being earned over 1.50 times, after deducting rentals and interest on equipment notes.

OTHER ASSETS about to be acquired include approximately $460,000 cash, $460,000 6% Income Mortgage bonds, and $586,000 6% Preferred Stock (Trust Certificates) of the company succeeding the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Company, and practically all of the securities of the San Benito & Rio Grande Valley Railroad Company owning 65 miles of railway.

PROPERTIES operated directly, including 101 miles under trackage rights, together with an operating connection of 93 miles covered by contract, are collectively known as the "Gulf Coast Lines," of a total length of 1,014 miles, being a main line extending from New Orleans, via Baton Rouge and Houston, to Brownsville, Texas, together with several branches.

The statement of the Company, as officially reported, covering the consolidated earnings for the four months ended October 31, 1916, shows total net income of $1,183,123; fixed interest, rentals, etc., $239,643 and a surplus of $943,480. The normal earnings are now supplemented by traffic arising from troop movements to the border.

Price 99 and accrued interest

All the above bonds having been sold, this advertisement appears as a matter of record only.

COTTON RECOVERS AFTER SHARP BREAK

Net Loss Only 3 to 5 Points, Although Lowest Level in Three Weeks Was Reached.

MARKET IN UNCERTAIN STAGE

Easy Tone of the Last Few Days Largely the Result of Readjustment of Prices.

Cotton yesterday experienced a sharp early break which carried prices down 20 to 25 points under Saturday's closing to the lowest level of the last three weeks. A rally which was stimulated by short covering, and buying for trade account, carried prices up about 20 points from the bottom and left quotations only 3 to 5 points net lower.

The market is now entering a somewhat uncertain stage where a good deal of backing and filling is to be expected. Some of the leading bulls have sold out, and there is less talk about cotton being cheap at 25 cents a pound. The easy tone of the last week has been largely the consequence of a readjustment of the price level, as the big offerings of leading bulls were taken over by buyers with more enthusiasm than financial strength, and therefore had to be "digested."

Moreover, the trade in the course of the next week will have to make up its mind regarding the size of the crop, a matter which will be officially passed upon by the Department of Agriculture at 2 o'clock on Dec. 11. The estimate of the Watkins Bureau was made public yesterday by H. F. Bachman & Co. They placed the yield at 11,136,000 bales, exclusive of linters. The bullish character of this report, however, failed to stimulate buying.

Southern spot markets continue strong. Wires were received from several parts of the belt yesterday disclaiming the suggestion of any weakness among holders.

Market closed steady.

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

WHEAT.

The sharp advance in call money proved a bearish factor in the wheat market and, after showing considerable firmness, prices eased off and at the close of the day were 3¼c lower to ½c net higher. The visible supply in the United States showed a decrease of 1,886,000 bushels for the week, compared with an increase last year of 1,976,000, while the total visible in North America decreased 818,000, compared with a decrease of 1,590,000 a year ago. In the local cash market No. 1 durum was quoted at $2.06¾; No. 2 hard Winter, $1.84¾; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.96¾; No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.96, all free on board New York.

July	1.44	1.39⅝	1.41¾	1.41¼	..

CORN.

The corn market showed a comparatively firm undertone, and, while prices eased off from the full advance, the close was ⅛ to ⅞c net higher. The visible supply showed an increase of 981,000 bushels, compared with an increase of 177,000 last year. The car shortage continues to interfere with the movement, and the railroad embargoes and scarcity of ocean tonnage check export business. In the local cash market No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at $1.03¾, ten days' shipment, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

OATS.

The oats market was steady early in the day, while the demand was poor, and at the close the undertone was easy, with final prices ⅝@¾c net lower. The visible supply decreased 386,000 bushels, compared with a decrease of 1,331,000 last year. The local cash market was steady; standard quoted at 58¾@59c; No. 2 white, 59@59½c; No. 3 white, 58¼@58¾c; No. 4 white, 57¾@58c; fancy clipped white, 62@64½c; ordinary clipped white, 60@62c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was quiet, with price changes comparatively narrow. Early in the day there was a good demand from commission houses, based on firmness in the cash position, but toward the close the market eased off in sympathy with grain. Receipts of hogs at Chicago 60,000, estimated for Tuesday, 42,000; Kansas City received 8,000 and Omaha 9,800.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market for cottonseed oil was inactive, with no very decided tendency either way. Crude was comparatively firm, and the trade at large was disposed to take a bullish view of the supply and demand situation, although buyers were cautious, owing to the action of other commodities. At the close the market was 2 points net lower to 3 points higher, and total sales for the day were 18,400 barrels. Range of prices:

COFFEE.

The coffee market was quiet yesterday, and while early advances were not fully maintained the undertone was generally steady. Offerings were light, and after opening at an advance of 1 to 4 points active months sold about 4 to 6 points above Saturday's closing figures on scattered buying, which seemed to come chiefly from Wall Street and commission house sources. The local spot market continued quiet at 9¼c for Rio 7s and 10⅝c for Santos 4s. Range of prices:

SUGAR.

There was but little feature in the sugar futures during the day and, after opening unchanged to 2 points higher, there was a little hardening of prices due to rather free support of some of the new crop positions by large Cuban interests and speculators. Considerable of the business was switching of December to the January and March positions. The market closed 2 to 6 points net higher, with sales for the day 7,700 tons. Range of prices:

The local market for refined sugar was dull and, while list prices remained unchanged at 7.50c for fine granulated, it was reported that refiners were accepting orders under this quotation. Raw sugar was quiet but steady, with but few sugars offering at the close of the day. There were sales reported of 2,000 bags Cubas and 5,000 bags molasses sugar at equal to 4⅝c, cost and freight, for Cubas, with further buyers, but no sellers. There appeared to be little or no pressure to sell new crops at the moment. Quotations follow: Centrifugal, 5.64c; molasses, 4.77c; cost and freight, 4⅝c.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 5,719 packages. Just a little more buying interest and a steady to firm feeling on the fine and fancy grades of fresh creamery. Regular trade is absorbing most of the supply. The quality of much of the stock is very defective, and probably the bulk of the offerings has to sell from 38½c downward. Some export inquiry, but no business, resulting as yet. Ladles and packing stock in buyers' favor. Creamery, higher scoring than extras, (specials,) per lb., 39½@40c; extras, (92 score,) 39c; firsts, (88 to 91 score,) 37½@38½c; seconds, (83 to 87 score,) 36@37c; thirds, 34½@35½c; creamery, unsalted, higher than extras, (specials,) 40½@41c; extras, 39½@40c; firsts, 38@39c; seconds, 36¼@37½c; creamery, held, higher than extras, (specials,) 38½@39c; extras, 37¾@38c; firsts, 36¾@37½c; seconds, 35@36½c; thirds, 34@34½c; State, dairy, tubs, finest, 38@38½c; good to prime, 36½@37½c; common to fair, 31@36c; renovated, extras, 35c; firsts, 33½@34½c; lower grades, 31@33c; imitation creamery, firsts, 33@33½c; ladles, June make, firsts, 31½@32c; current make, firsts, 31@31½c; seconds, 29½@30c; lower grades, 28½@29c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 29½@30c; No. 2, 29c; lower grades, 27½@28½c.

EGGS.—Receipts yesterday 6,269 cases. The market opened with a very irregular and unsettled tone inclining to weakness on nearly all grades. Receipts were a little larger than last Monday, including a number of lots coming in by express, and while the supply of high quality fresh gathered eggs is light, the demand is confined to small quantities and the tone is in buyers' favor. Values are not well defined. On the sales reported where prices have been definitely fixed some reduction in previous quotations is necessary on most grades. Storage eggs are lifeless; values are unsettled and uncertain, but the moderate sales reported are at a further decline. Nearby white eggs dragging heavily and prices still continue in buyers' favor. Fresh gathered, extra fine, per dozen, 48@50c; extra firsts, 46@47c; firsts, 43@45c; seconds, 40@42c; thirds and poorer, 32@39c; dirties, No. 1, 33@34c; No. 2 and poorer, 30@32c; checks, good to choice, dry, 31@32c; undergrades, 28@30c; refrigerator special marks, fancy, storage, and insurance paid, 33½@34c; firsts, 32½@33c; seconds, 31@32c; lower grades, 28@30½c; refrigerator, State whites, 34@36c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western, hennery whites, fine to fancy, 55@58c; ordinary to good, 45@54c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 45@55c; nearby pullets eggs, whites, 45@50c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 45@52c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby, hennery browns, 50@55c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 40@50c.

EXTRA DIVIDENDS DECLARED

American Car & Foundry and Chandler Motor Pay 1 Per Cent.

The American Car and Foundry Company and the Chandler Motor Car Company declared yesterday extra dividends of 1 per cent. for the quarter. Beside this the former raised the quarterly disbursement from one-half of 1 per cent. to 1 per cent., making the total to be received by stockholders on Jan. 1 2 per cent. The rate of 2 per cent. annually was maintained on the stock from 1909 until yesterday's action was taken. The usual American Car and Foundry preferred stock dividend of 1¾ per cent. was also ordered, payable Jan. 1.

The Chandler Company declared the usual 2 per cent. quarterly dividend along with the extra. These dividends make 10 per cent. declared this year. President F. C. Chandler said after the Directors' meeting that $1,000,000 had been added to the surplus account during the year.

CROWELL & THURLOW S. S. STOCK

Bought, Sold & Quoted

The price of these shares has not yet advanced to anything like their value, based on earnings reasonably certain for years after the war.

The company's fleet is capitalized for less than $36 per capacity ton of the vessels, all of which have been built since 1912, and have a present market at over $200 per ton.

Although Crowell & Thurlow stock has sold at 5 times par, which is $100 a share, American-Hawaiian Steamship stock is at $1100 or 11 times par.

Crowell & Thurlow capital of $1,000,000 is 5 times less than American-Hawaiian's; but the Crowell & Thurlow tonnage of 48,500 for seven modern steel freighters is only 4½ times less than the American-Hawaiian's tonnage.

I can offer a limited amount of Crowell & Thurlow stock.

American Telephone & Telegraph Company

THIRTY-YEAR 5% COLLATERAL TRUST GOLD BONDS

Dated December 1, 1916 Due December 1, 1946

Interest payable June 1 and December 1, at the office or agency of the Company, in the City of New York or, at the option of the holder, at the office or agency of the Company, in the City of Boston

Redeemable, in whole or in part, at the option of the Company, at 105 and interest on any interest date, upon sixty days' notice

A Sinking Fund of One Per Cent. ($800,000) is to be set aside annually for the retirement of bonds by purchase in the open market, or by call at 105 and interest

Coupon bonds in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000, registerable as to principal only. Coupon bonds exchangeable in the principal amount of $1,000 or multiples thereof for registered bonds without coupons, of authorized denominations. Coupon and registered bonds interchangeable

OLD COLONY TRUST COMPANY, BOSTON, TRUSTEE

Total authorized issue..........$80,000,000

The Company is to pledge, as security for the bonds, collateral having a value of 133⅓% of the amount of bonds issued, and is to agree to maintain such margin of 33⅓%. This collateral originally to be deposited is to consist of shares of the following companies:

New England Telephone & Telegraph Co.
New York Telephone Co.
Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co.
Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co.
Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. (preferred)

Substitutions of other securities from time to time may be made under appropriate restrictions.

For the last 15 years the American Telephone & Telegraph Company has paid dividends of at least 7½% annually upon its capital stock, the rate for the last ten years having been uniformly 8% annually. The amount of stock now outstanding is $394,110,100.

For the last five years the American Telephone & Telegraph Company has reported net income, interest charges and balance over interest charges as follows:

Year ended Dec. 31	Net Income	Interest Charges	Balance
1911	$33,301,246	$5,567,980	$27,733,266
1912	37,907,644	5,844,699	32,062,945
1913	40,576,746	7,656,656	32,920,090
1914	40,557,977	8,223,163	32,334,814
1915	41,117,487	6,498,850	34,618,637

During these five years the Company's net income averaged approximately 5¾ times its interest charges.

We are advised that the proceeds of the above bonds, together with the proceeds of about $40,000,000 stock recently offered to stockholders for subscription, will be used in part to retire existing obligations, and in part to provide for improvements, extensions, etc., during the next two or three years.

This offering is made subject to the ratification of the issue by the stockholders of the Company and to the approval of the necessary details by counsel.

WE OFFER THE ABOVE BONDS FOR SUBSCRIPTION AT 98 AND INTEREST YIELDING APPROXIMATELY 5⅛%

Subscription books will be opened at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., at 10 o'clock A.M., Tuesday, December 5th, and will be closed at 10 o'clock A.M., Wednesday, December 6th, or earlier in their discretion.

The amount due on bonds allotted upon subscriptions will be payable in New York funds at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., and the date of payment will be given in the notices of allotment.

The right is reserved to reject any and all applications, and also, in any event, to award a smaller amount than applied for.

Temporary certificates will be delivered pending the engraving of the definitive bonds.

Post Office Notice.

Postmaster Morgan requests the co-operation of the public in the effort to relieve the postal service of the burden imposed by the growing evil of incompletely and improperly addressing mail.

Complete and accurate addresses are essential to prompt mail delivery. All mail should bear a street number, or room number in the case of an office building, in addition to name of the city and State. Patrons of the service can be of material assistance in the education of the general public with respect to this requirement by having all stationery intended for transmission in the mails printed with complete street or office address.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York.—In the matter of FASS RESTAURANT CO., INC., Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.—No. 23843.

NOTICE OF CREDITORS OF PROPOSED SALE OF THE ASSETS OF FASS RESTAURANT CO., INC.

To the Creditors of the above-named Bankrupt:

Please take notice, that the undersigned, ARTHUR F. GOTTHOLD, receiver of the above-named bankrupt, has received an offer of $1,250 for all the right, title, and interest of the receiver in and to all property of every kind and nature belonging to the bankrupt, and in addition said bidder will pay to the receiver any loss that the receiver may sustain by continuing the business from December 2, 1916, to December 11, 1916; and further,

Please take notice, that in pursuance of an order of the United States District Court, creditors are directed to show cause, at a term of the United States District Court, to be held at Room 285, in the Post Office Building, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on December 11, 1916, at 10:30 o'clock A. M., why the said bid should not be accepted, and all persons are invited to make any other bid at said time and place.

Full particulars as to the terms and provisions of the said bid or any other information regarding the property of the bankrupt may be obtained from the undersigned.

ARTHUR F. GOTTHOLD, Receiver,
60 Wall Street, New York City.
BLAU, ZALKIN & COHEN, Attorneys for Receiver, 170 Broadway, New York City.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York.—At the suit of the United States demanding forfeiture thereof under the provisions of the Pure Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906, Sec. 10, I have seized and hold nine barrels of butter. Notice is hereby given that the cause is appointed for trial at the U. S. Court and Post Office Building, Manhattan, New York, on December 18, 1916, at the opening of court. All persons are notified then and there to appear and defend their interest, if any, in said goods. All not appearing will be defaulted.

Dated Dec. 2, 1916.

The Chief Justice announced the following orders of the court:

47—W. H. Berry et al., &c., appellants, v. R. Davis.—Attention is directed to the fact that the statute of Iowa of April 19, 1913, (supplement to Iowa Code, 1913, Page 1,052,) concerning which the appellee complained, and the enforcement of which by the Board of Parole he sought by his suit to enjoin, has been repealed during the pendency of the case in this court, (see Act of 1915, Supplemental Supplement to Iowa Code, 1915, Page 238.) In view of this fact permission is given the State through its Attorney General on or before Jan. 1, 1917, by printed brief, to point out the reasons, if any such exist, why the appeal in this case should not be dismissed.

90—M. Hanson, plaintiff, v. Great Northern Railway Co.—Per curiam. Judgment affirmed, with costs.

113—W. Briggs, plaintiff, v. the State of Kansas.—Per curiam. Dismissed for want of jurisdiction.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Prices declined on the Consolidated Stock Exchange under the influence of the flurry in money. In the early trading it had been a specialty market to a considerable extent. While the standard stocks were moving within a comparatively narrow range, trading attention was focused upon such issues as Corn Products, California Petroleum, American Hide & Leather preferred and Southern Railway. Some of these stocks advanced sharply for a time.

RECEIVERS' SALES.

RECEIVERS' SALE OF THE PROPERTY of THE HENRY A. SCHWEYER COMPANY, Easton, Pa.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to an order from the Court of Common Pleas of Northampton County, the Receivers will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for a sum not less than twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) on the premises now occupied by the said Henry A. Schweyer Company, at Fourteenth and Lehicton Sts., Easton, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, on the twelfth day of December, 1916, at two o'clock in the afternoon, the interior marble business of the said Henry A. Schweyer Company, a corporation for producing and manufacturing Sylvan Green Marble, with a thirty years' lease, on approximately fifteen acres of land, with quarry rights.

A quarry equipment, blacksmith shop, boiler house, and a one-and-one-half-story factory, 170 feet by 60 feet, containing the necessary machinery for sawing and finishing marble, the stock of blocks, sawed and finished marble, terrazzo and one stone crusher, barn, horse, wagon, harnesses, a 30-ton scales, the office fixtures, and accounts receivable, all to be sold as an entirety for cash, the Receivers reserving the right to reject any and all bids.

TERMS OF SALE: Upon acceptance of any bid, the purchaser shall forthwith pay to the Receivers ten per cent. (10%) of the amount of the bid in cash or by certified check, made or endorsed payable to A. E. Carr and Henry G. Siegfried, Receivers, and shall sign an agreement to pay the balance of the purchase money to the Receivers upon confirmation of the sale in compliance with such order as the Court may direct, or in default to forfeit the said ten per cent. (10%.)

The property will be open for inspection at any time up to and including the day of sale.

Dated at Easton, Pa., this fifteenth day of November, 1916.

HENRY G. SIEGFRIED,
A. E. CARR,
Receivers.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD.

Front Street Investment at Maiden Lane—$150,000 East Side Residence Deal—Second Avenue Purchase as Hospital Gift—Bronx and Suburban Sales.

Several deals of interest, including one in the lower downtown section, an east side residence, and a Second Avenue purchase as a gift to the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital, opened the realty market of the week with considerable activity yesterday.

The downtown deal involved the purchase by Joseph F. Cullman from the estate of James Morris of the five-story commercial building on the easterly block front of Front Street, from Maiden Lane to Fletcher Street. The frontage is about 52 feet on Front Street by 41 on the other two thoroughfares. The property is assessed at $55,000. The building was erected in 1851, and the property is leased to Robert F. Lister. It took nearly three months to get the deed signed, as it was necessary to obtain the individual signatures of legatees residing on the Continent, England, Canada, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Western New York. George E. Godman, attorney and executor, represented the sellers, while Goldsmith, Cohen, Cole & Weiss represented Mr. Cullman.

The Charles F. Noyes Company was the broker. The firm recently sold to Mr. Cullman the Abbot A. Low property, at 31-35 Burling Slip, in which the Low business was developed in the early shipping days. Mr. Cullman recently erected a one-story building at 159-161 Front Street, directly opposite the property just purchased.

Buys East Side House for Gift.

The fine private dwelling at 26 East Eighty-third Street, formerly the home of the late Colonel Edward M. Knox, has been sold by his niece, Mrs. Florence Cook Bronson, to a buyer who is said to have purchased it as a Christmas gift. The house covers a plot 45 feet front by 102.2 deep, between Fifth and Madison Avenues, adjoining the Schermerhorn apartments on the Madison Avenue block front. It is assessed at $127,000, and the purchase price is reported to have been close to $150,000. S. Osgood Pell & Co. were the brokers in the sale.

Gift to Cancer Hospital.

The four-story building at 338 Second Avenue, 22.1 by 90, between Nineteenth and Twentieth Streets, has been purchased by William C. Van Antwerp, and presented to the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital, whose buildings adjoin on the south.

Buyers for Private Dwelling.

Freidus & Co. sold for the Delta Holding Company (Frederick Brown, President,) 528 West 175th Street, a two-story private house on plot 18 by 95.

O'Reilly & Dahn sold for a client to William J. Norris 116 East Eighty-third Street, a three-story frame dwelling on a plot 25 by 100, located between Lexington and Park Avenues.

Bronx Sales.

Thorn & Co. sold for George Sheppard to F. M. McDonald 2,744 Creston Avenue, a three-story dwelling, on a lot 25 by 90.

G. N. Reinhardt purchased from Klein & Roth, builders and operators, two five-story apartment houses, each occupying a plot 57 by 110, on the northeast corner of Mount Hope Avenue and 176th Street. In addition to cash the buyers gave the old two-story frame mansion 1,311 Franklin Avenue, occupying a plot 57.9 by 203.8.

George Limbach purchased from F. J. Friedmann and others a four-story flat, with stores, on the southeast corner of Locust Avenue and 141st Street.

Brooklyn.

The John Pullman Real Estate Company sold 228 Sixth Avenue, on the Park Slope, a four-story single brownstone apartment house, on a lot 20 by 100, for the Crowley estate to Edmund O'Connor for investment.

Louis Gold sold the three-story brick business building on the east side of Third Avenue, sixty feet north of Thirty-third Street, to an investor.

Herbert A. Sherman has sold for Mrs. M. M. Parsons to Mrs. R. C. Ketteles the property at 632 Third Street.

The Meister Builders, Inc., have sold to Charles A. J. Springthorpe a five-room bungalow, on a lot 20 by 130, at Beach Forty-third Street, about 1,700 feet from the Boulevard.

Long Island.

Mrs. Frank Avery, owner of the Avery Hotel at Blue Point, on the Great South Bay, has bought the adjoining hotel and bathing pavilion, known as Stillman's. She now owns about 1,000 feet of shore front at Blue Point. J. A. Wood was the broker.

The Malba Estates Corporation sold to H. P. Grant a plot at Malba, Whitestone, upon which he intends to build at once.

J. A. Muerer has sold to the Wereco Realty Company, Inc., of Manhattan two plots at Bayside Park, Bayside.

Westchester County.

The Scarsdale Estates, Robert E. Farley, President, sold to George E. Hohl a plot on Colvin Place in the Greenacres section of Scarsdale. The owner plans to erect a Colonial residence at once.

The Reed, Clark & Lee Company, Inc., sold a private dwelling on Crane Avenue, White Plains, owned by Henry Muller, to John B. Hyatt of White Plains for occupancy.

Lewis B. Preston, Inc., sold for Harmon S. Graves his property consisting of about four acres with a handsome residence on Locust Avenue, adjoining the Apawamis Golf Club in Rye, N. Y., to Joseph Shattuck, who will occupy it.

Commercial Leases.

Albert B. Ashforth, Inc., leased for twenty-one years to the Bell Catering Company the store and basement, 55 by 173, in the twenty-story building, 50 Broad Street, running through to 48-50 New Street. The rental asked was $40,000.

Pease & Elliman leased for a client to Miss Frances M. Spencer the ground floor westerly store at 154 Fulton Street; at 261 Broadway, temporarily, for the Schulte Cigar Company to A. E. Winter, and, temporarily, for the Broadway-John Street Corporation to a client the store at 8-10 John Street.

George R. Read & Co. subleased for the American Steel and Wire Company the five-story building 162 Chambers Street to Alexander Posner for a term of years, to be used as a machinery warehouse.

Louis Schrag leased for the estate of Charles A. Winch the six-story garage 159-161 West Twenty-fourth Street for a term of years to the Chadick-De Lamater Company, representatives of the Continental Motor Company of Detroit.

Louis Lebewohl leased for Annie Rosenberg to Laura Cirota the store 70 Bayard Street for three years and four months, at an aggregate rental of $5,000.

Model Tenements for Harlem Negroes.

Plans for the erection of model tenements for negroes in Harlem are being considered by members of the National League on Urban Conditions Among Negroes, Officers of the City and Suburban Homes Company and members of the Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests. A public meeting is to be held shortly, at which the plans and work of the committee will be explained.

The City and Suburban Homes Company has had wide experience in community buildings, and now has about eleven thousand tenants in its model tenements located on both the east and west sides of the city. Two of the tenements owned by the company are occupied completely by negroes, and have proved a very profitable investment.

$40,000 Loan at 4 1-2 Per Cent.

The New York Title and Mortgage Company has made a loan of $40,000 at 4½ per cent. on property of Samuel T. Shaw, at the northeast corner of Seventy-third Street and West End Avenue, opposite the Charles M. Schwab mansion.

New Brooklyn Theatre.

Shampan & Shampan, architects, have filed plans for a moving picture theatre to be erected on a plot of 65 by 100, located on the south side of De Kalb Avenue, sixty feet west of Sumner Avenue, for the M. Z. Realty Company, as owners.

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Pressure remains abnormally low over Alaska, but it has risen considerably over the Western portion of the United States proper, although still much below normal. Over the Eastern portion of the country the pressure has fallen considerably, and in connection with the prevailing high temperatures has caused general thunder showers in the Ohio Valley and Tennessee, and showers with scattered thunder storms from the lake region eastward. Rains also continued in the Pacific States, and locally in the Northern Plateau region. Temperatures are abnormally high east of the Rocky Mountains, and mostly high to the westward.

Unsettled weather with showers will prevail Tuesday from the Carolinas northward to the lower lakes and northeastward into New England, followed by generally fair weather Wednesday. In the upper lake region, the Lower Ohio Valley, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, and the East Gulf States the weather will be generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday. It will be somewhat cooler Tuesday in the Lower Ohio Valley and Western Tennessee, and cooler Tuesday night or Wednesday from the Upper Mississippi Valley eastward, except in New England.

Winds along the North Atlantic Coast Tuesday and Wednesday will be moderate to fresh south, with warm and unsettled weather; Middle Atlantic Coast, fresh south, warm and unsettled; South Atlantic Coast, moderate south, except east off the Southern Florida coast; generally fair.

FORECAST TODAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York—Local rains Tuesday. Wednesday partly cloudy; cooler west portion.

Southern New England—Local rains Tuesday or Tuesday night. Wednesday cloudy.

New Jersey—Cloudy and continued warm Tuesday; probably rain. Wednesday fair; cooler at night.

Western New York—Showers Tuesday. Wednesday fair; cooler.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Showers Tuesday. Wednesday fair, somewhat cooler by night.

Northern New England—Cloudy Tuesday; rain at night or Wednesday.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 o'clock last night, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1915.	1916.		1915.	1916.
3 A. M.	31	47	4 P. M.	35	54

Education Notes

Anticipating the usual Spring examinations for licenses to teach in the high schools, the Kellie School, 125th Street and Seventh Avenue, announces review courses to prepare for the following examinations: English, commercial branches, stenography and typewriting, and clerical assistant. Classes in other subjects will be organized if the demand is sufficient. The English review will again be conducted by one of the prominent teachers of English in the high schools. There will be twenty sessions; the first lesson will be given on Dec. 16 from 2 to 4 P. M. A specially prepared booklet has been published describing the work. The booklet can be had free upon application.

The Poets' Corner and the Rhymers' Club of Hunter College will hold a joint meeting in the Auditorium this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at which Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, Mrs. A. S. Sutcliffe (Alice Crary), and Louis Ledoux will read from their poems. The public is invited.

The Geology Club of Hunter College has become a distinct organization by the vote of the Natural Science Club. The two clubs will hold a joint meeting in May. The clubs plan to lessen their expenses to encourage graduate work at Columbia or at Woods Hole.

The Barat Club has voted to change its name to "The Newman Club of Hunter College."

Professor Helen Gray Cone of Hunter College was elected one of the Executive Board of the Conference of College Teachers of English of the Central Atlantic States at its meeting in the Hotel Astor on Saturday.

The Association of Assistants to Principals will meet at 4 P. M. on Dec. 8 at the Hotel Martha Washington, 29 East Twenty-ninth Street. Associate City Supt. William McAndrew will speak on "Where Is It Coming From?" Miss Augusta Will will sing. Tea will be served. Miss Amy Dilhoff will act as hostess.

The charter provides that the Mayor shall appoint in November successors to members of the Board of Education whose terms expire on Jan. 1. The Mayor has not done so. He did not do so last year either, but made the appointments later than November.

The Regents' tests for January will be held from the 22d to the 26th of that month.

BUDGET CUT $120,400 BY THE ALDERMEN

Board Objects to Many Salary Increases and Creation of Jobs.

VETO BY MAYOR IS LIKELY

Majority Insufficient to Override Him, So Original Budget Will Probably Stand.

Approving the action of its Finance Committee, a majority of the Aldermen voted yesterday to cut $120,400 out of the 1917 city budget. The vote was 52 to 19, and the budget now goes to the Mayor. He has, and it is believed that he will exercise, the power to veto the aldermanic action, and it will require a three-fourths vote to go over his head. Considering that the Aldermen could yesterday muster only 52 votes against the budget as it stands, it is unlikely that any veto by the Mayor will be overthrown, and the full budget as passed by the Board of Estimate, amounting to $211,115,016.82, will probably remain.

The Aldermen indulged in much oratory before the vote was taken, the principal objection to the budget being in regard to salary increases and new places. The Finance Committee disallowed $34,500 salary increases of employes receiving more than $4,000. They eliminated new positions aggregating $36,570, and cut out $49,650 in reductions of the present force of employes.

One of the items reduced was that of the salary from $10,000 to $5,000, of William Wirt of Indiana, who is installing the Gary plan in the public schools. Many of the Aldermen, including Acting President Dowling, said it was not necessary to bring an outsider to tell New York how to run its schools.

The committee also disallowed the position of executive manager of the Board of Education, at $10,000, said to have been created for Leo Arnstein.

The committee disapproved an increase of $6,000 for engineers in the office of Borough President Marks on the ground that the present force is "entirely adequate to deal with all the engineering problems." Under the heading "Useless Places" the committee recommended the abolition of the Public Employment Bureau on the ground that it is "duplicating the functions now performed by the State through its Labor Department." The elimination of three new positions in the Department of Plant and Structures, an examiner at $4,140, confidential clerk at $3,500, and confidential inspector at $2,500, was also recommended. A saving of $9,150 a year in the Bureau of City Planning was also proposed. The report continued:

"The committee cannot help suggesting the elimination of two places that seem to be entirely useless. One is the Director of Public Health Education, at $5,000 a year. It is difficult to imagine of what possible benefit this place can be, when editorial work necessary to the publication of the various bulletins issued by this department may well be performed by the staff already employed."

The committee also recommended the abolition of the position of Secretary at the Tenement House Department, at $3,750 a year. The committee recommended that the increase in the salary of the President of the Board of Aldermen from $5,000 to $7,500, as fixed by the Board of Estimate, be not allowed. The Aldermen were willing to vote for the increased amount, but Acting President Dowling, who was elected to the Presidency at the recent election, said the committee took the action it did at his personal request. He said:

"My reason is that I consider that I am filling an unexpired term, which does not end until Dec. 31, 1917. The salary was fixed at $5,000 when I acceded to the position, and I believe that it is but just that it remain at that figure."

The Mayor has ten days in which to act upon the Aldermanic cuts. The Aldermen will meet again on Friday, by which time it is expected that the Mayor's answer will be forthcoming.

Mr. Sabath introduced another bill which would direct the Attorney General to investigate the causes of unreasonable advance in prices of foodstuffs, fabrics, wood pulp, paper and coal in so far as they are alleged to be affected by any combination, and to report to Congress what remedies should be advocated.

Call for Investigations.

A joint Congressional committee to investigate the whole food situation was proposed by Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota, and Representative Carter of Massachusetts sought the appointment of a special committee of nine members to investigate and report recommendations within thirty days.

A bill for free importation of wheat for seed was introduced by Representative Steenerson of Minneapolis. It is intended to supply seed for the Red River Valley, which has been drawing on Canada, Russia, Hungary, and Rumania.

Representative Meyer London of New York, Socialist, announced that he soon would introduce bills proposing a virtual food directorship by the Federal Government.

A 'FOOD TRUST' HERE, DILLON TELLS WICKS

Says System Fixes Prices, Controls Credits, and Crushes Rebellious Independents.

John J. Dillon, State Commissioner of Food and Markets, told the Wicks Committee, before which he appeared as a witness yesterday, that the cost of eggs and other foodstuffs was kept up by the machinations of a "system," which controlled the food exchanges and denied storage space to dealers who wanted to be fair with the public. The banks which finance the cold storage and wholesale foodstuffs business, he added, usually had on their directorates one or more members of exchanges, who saw that no loans were made to independent middlemen, and that cold storage houses did no business with jobbers obnoxious to the "system."

The "system," Mr. Dillon declared, was able to handle the market in such a way as to extort exorbitant profits for itself by playing tricks on shippers and producers through fictitious market reports and other devices.

"Only 10 or 12 per cent. of the egg and butter dealers in the business in New York deal on the exchange," he said. "This small number of men deal in 2 per cent. of the volume of eggs coming to the New York market. They establish the price of eggs not only for the New York trade, but for the whole United States."

Commissioner Dillon recommended a law which would subject a member of an exchange to permanent expulsion if he should be convicted of crime or dishonesty, just as a lawyer is disbarred for conviction of crime or for violation of ethics.

Another law he advocated would prohibit a commission merchant from speculating, so that he would never be under the temptation of trying to make a profit for himself to the disadvantage of his clients.

"All the exchanges in food products are a menace to the consumer and producers of foods, wherever they are operated," he said. "They are closed corporations, dealing only among themselves. The exchanges enable dealers to carry on the business of establishing prices through the agency of 'wash' sales, or fictitious sales from one member to another at artificially high or low prices for the purpose of fixing the market price."

The Commissioner urged a law making every food sale on a mercantile exchange a matter of public record and making the publication of stock quotations a State function, as in France.

Commissioner Dillon said he believed making the distribution of milk a State monopoly would solve the problem, but that he would prefer first to see the producers and distributers make an earnest effort to solve the question fairly by forming one large co-operative organization.

Frank G. Urner of the Urner-Barry Company, which publishes the market quotations, said the charges of Commissioner Dillon were absolutely false.

"We use painstaking methods to get correct figures on sales of a representative character," he said, "and we believe our market quotations to be correct. They are generally accepted as correct by the trade. We consider that Mr. Dillon has very crude ideas about the market situation."

DEALERS HOARDING EGGS.

Armour Manager Says Stock Is Held Off Market to Fight Boycott.

Eggs dropped another ½ cent yesterday, bringing the wholesale price down to 32½ cents for first-rate cold storage eggs. The total reduction has been 4 and 4½ cents a dozen since the boycott was started a week ago.

Wholesale dealers began to take the egg boycott seriously yesterday. Their general belief, however, is that the public will not follow a policy of self-denial more than a week longer and that eggs will almost immediately return to their former price as soon as the boycott is at an end and the artificial shortening of the demand ceases.

The order of State Commissioner of Food and Markets J. J. Dillon that all cold storage eggs be individually stamped was generally obeyed yesterday, according to the reports of Inspectors. Threats of injunction suits to block the Commissioner's order were not fulfilled.

The object of the boycott to reduce the price of good cold storage eggs to 35 cents at retail will not be realized unless continued more than two weeks, Commissioner of Weights and Measures Joseph Hartigan said yesterday.

W. F. Howser, manager of the Armour & Co. branch at 325 Greenwich Street, said he thought the effect of the embargo had been clearly reflected in egg prices since the boycott started, but that the boycott promoters would be disappointed in their expectation that the price of eggs would collapse and stay collapsed after the boycott had ended.

The current issue of The New York Produce Review cites Department of Commerce figures, showing that egg exports have increased nearly 60 per cent. this year over last. According to the department 17,227,135 dozen eggs were exported from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30 of this year, as against 11,623,243 during the same period last year.

W. P. Capes, Secretary of the State Conference of Mayors and other Public Officials, wired to Commissioner Hartigan yesterday that the Mayors of the following cities had proclaimed egg boycotts, beginning next Wednesday: Schenectady, Utica, Rome, Cortland, Binghampton, Hudson, White Plains, Gloversville, Glens Falls, Little Falls, Johnstown, Middletown, Oswego.

George W. Perkins of the newly appointed committee to advise Governor Whitman on food legislation said yesterday the first meeting of the committee would be held in his office on Wednesday morning.

The retail price of coal dropped again yesterday from 50 cents to $1 on the ton price, being from $7.75 to $8.75. Dealers asserted that the falling off was due to the continuance of warm weather, with the prospect that less coal would be consumed this Winter for heating purposes than in normal years.

THE WHITE
SIXTEEN VALVE "FOUR"
A NEW TYPE OF MOTOR
Combining Utmost Performance With Four-Cylinder Simplicity

STEADY concentration by White engineers upon the possibilities of four-cylinder design has developed a new type of "Four," with power and flexibility beyond anything, we believe, so far produced in any type of engine.

Performance exceeds all expectation. Power, speed, pickup, flexibility, easy hill climbing, silent operation, have all been developed to the highest degree by increasing the number of valves without multiplying cylinders. Maximum performance has been combined with the manifest advantages of a simple, rugged engine.

The new motor establishes the fact, long foreseen by White engineers, that the secret of superior performance lies in valve capacity adequate to piston displacement.

This accomplishment was foreshadowed by The White Company two years ago when announcing its determination to adhere permanently to the four-cylinder motor, and is backed by a manufacturing record whose conservatism has never deviated from a consistent path of fundamental improvement.

A complete display of new White models with custom-designed bodies will be first shown at the Automobile Salon, Hotel Astor. Deliveries begin in January.
